AGAINST PUBLIC POLICY TO ENFORCE SUCH CONTRACTS AS BENJ. J. JONES MADE

Judge Hole Instructs the Jury to for Find Defendant in Irondale Slot Machine Case.

Lisbon, October 9.—(Special.)—At the conclusion of the argument in the slot machine case in which Benjamin J. James, of Irondale, as plaintiff, against S. S. Creadon, sought to recover damages for trouble he got into through Creadon's machine, which the latter had placed in James' billiard room, Judge Hole instructed the jury to return a verdict for the defendant.

As the case touches an interesting point with reference to the farming out of slot machines regarded as gambling devices, Judge Hole's charge to the jury in the case will be of interest. It follows in full:

"In this case the plaintiff undertakes to recover from the defendant the sum of $120 which he claimed was incurred by reason of the use of a gambling machine which he placed in his place of business at the request of the defendant. His claim is that the defendant represented to him that the machine was a lawful device, but that he furthermore guaranteed to pay any expenses which might be occasioned if it should appear that it was not a lawful machine. Now, it becomes my duty under this state of the facts, and from the testimony of the plaintiff himself to say to you that it is your duty to return a verdict for the defendant. And perhaps for the benefit of jury and counsel both I might state why I feel bound to give you this instruction.

"It is against public policy for courts to enforce a contract of that kind. At the most it was a contract to pay for something which was unlawful. Admitting, as the plaintiff claims—and I think he told the truth when he testified on the stand as to what the contract was—admitting that to be true and admitting that there were representations that this was an innocent device, yet the contract was that if it should thereafter appear that it was not a legal device then the defendant should pay damages for the illegal use.

SMITH'S HORSE WON A NOTABLE VICTORY

Wood Girl a Winner At Coshocton and Has a Most Promising Future.

C. A. Smith returned from Coshocton this morning where he attended the county fair and witnessed a race won by one of his trotters, Wood Girl. He says that the fair was attended by more than 15,000 people and was one of the most successful ever held in Coshocton county.

The race in which Wood Girl landed a victory was entered by six other horses and was the interesting feature of the fair. Wood Girl won the race with a mark of 2:25¼ and had her competitors distanced in the last heat.

Local horsemen say that Wood Girl has a most promising future, and concede her to be the fastest mare of her class in this section of the country. Her limit is not known and it is expected that she will rank among the best trotters in the country in a few more seasons. This year was her first venture upon a race track and she has won steadily, getting a third race at Salem and Pulaski. She is a pretty animal and is admired by all.

BASEBALL TALK LED TO FIGHTING

ATTACKED BY FOUR MEN

Lying in a pool of blood, which had poured from numerous cuts inflicted about his face, neck and head, George Walker, employed as an engraver at McNicol's pottery, was found in a helpless condition near Walsh's hotel on Sixth street last evening by Officer Dawson at about 7:30 o'clock. The man was immediately taken to central police station in the patrol wagon.

Dr. C. B. Ogden, the city physician, was summoned to attend the injured man and upon a hasty examination pronounced him not fatally hurt, but in a rather serious condition. The physician cleansed the wounds, all of them ugly and giving to him a ghastly appearance. The most serious hurt was discovered to be on the back of his head, where a deep gash had been made. The wounds were patched and by that time he had regained his senses sufficiently to partially explain the cause of his undesirable plight.

To Chief Wyman Walker stated that he had been assaulted by four men with whom he had been arguing over the merits of the Boston and Pittsburg base ball teams. He said that he was championing Boston and the quartet was rooting for Pittsburg. The dispute ended in a general fight, in which Walker claims one of the men struck him in the head with a hand billy, and after felling him to the ground the entire bunch beat and kicked him into a state of unconsciousness. He could not remember the names of any of them and could not give a very good description of them.

Mayor Weaver also hear the man's story, and as it is unlawful for men to fight and Walker acknowledged that he was in it the mayor assessed a fine of $5 on him. Walker paid it and though weak from the loss of blood and excitement started toward his home. En route there he was met by

MR. JOHNSTON IS INDIGNANT

Declares He will Not Pay a Fine Imposed By Plasterers' Union.

CAUSE OF THE TROUBLE

Not the First Case of the Kind, Says the Councilman—He Proposes to Resist the Demand to the Bitter End.

There is trouble brewing in Local Union No. 42 of the Operative Plasterers' organization. It seems that conditions have been growing toward the outbreak which is promised for at least a year. What the result will be is not known at the present time, but one of the aggrieved parties stated this morning that unless action taken by the local is not rescinded in a very short time grave conditions will exist.

The aggrieved party is Councilman Hugh Johnston, the well known contractor. Mr. Johnston conducts an extensive business and has considerable dealings with the members of the plasterers' union. Through the mail this morning Mr. Johnston received a communication from the secretary of the union stating that he had been fined $50 for permitting Ervin Windle to serve him in the capacity of a plasterer. Windle not being a member of the local. Johnston was very much worked up over the letter and expressed himself very forcibly on the matter. He claims that the action of the local was done for spite and that it is outrageous. He says that he made application to the local for Windle's admission to it and that the request was refused.

"I will not pay the fine," said Mr. Johnston, "and the local will not dare to press the case. The members know full well what the result would be. About a year ago I was fined $25 on a similar case, and because I was in such a fix that I could not allow my work to stop I was compelled to pay it."

Mr. Johnston says he cannot escape trouble by persisting in the non-payment of the assessment. It means simply that no man belonging to the union can work for him until it is paid. He says the objection raised to admitting Windle into the union is that he is too old. "There will be something doing," continued Mr. Johnston. "I am not in a position to state what it will be right now, but within a few days everything will be settled, and I won't pay the $50 either. It is high time that my contemplated action was taken and I propose to take it."

The News Review has made arrangements to get the game by innings, and as fast they are played the results will be bulletined in front of the News Review office, Steinfeld & Viney's clothing store, the Surprise clothing store and J. J. Rose's cigar store.

NO EVIDENCE THAT HE WAS A PARTNER

A. D. Matteson Loses in His Suit for Part of Thomas Hamilton's Drug Business.

Lisbon, October 9.—(Special)—Probate Judge J. A. Martin has given his opinion in the case of the heirs of the late Thomas Hamilton, of Wellsville, and A. D. Matteson, now of Salem. Mr. Hamilton was in the drug business at Wellsville and early last April took in A. D. Matteson, either as employe or as a partner. When Mr. Hamilton died about the first of last July, Matteson claimed to own a half interest in the store, which was valued in all at about $2,600 and asked that appraisers be appoiated to appraise the property as a partnership business.

Judge Martin, in his decision, held that the evidence did not satisfy him that Matteson had a half interest in the store. The testimony was of a conflicting character, he said, and that if there was any contract between the deceased and Matteson its terms were not clearly enough defined for the court to determine such to be the case. Matteson's application was therefore overruled.

POLICE MAKING DILIGENT SEARCH

MANY HOUSES EXPLORED

Chief Wyman and the entire police force are making a decided effort to run down the thieves who broke into the cellar of Mrs. Carolina Smith, Shadyside, on Tuesday night and stole nearly 100 cans of choice fruit and other articles, the cost of which will aggregate close to $75. After having search warrants issued for three houses in the vicinity of her home, Mrs. Smith gave out information which, it is believed, will result in the capture of the thieves.

The suspicion of Mrs. Smith rested on people living close to her home. Three warrants were turned over to Officer Aufderheide yesterday afternoon and he made a thorough search of three homes, but found nothing. He reported the fruitless search and this morning Chief Wyman detailed Officer McDermott to continue the search. The officer applied at several more of the homes in the vicinity and met the same fate that crowned the efforts of Officer Aufderheide.

However, the case is not to be dropped. Suspicious looking characters were seen around the Smith home on the night of the theft, and it is thought they were from the shanty-boat districts. And it is believed that when a search is made of the boats a clue will be found. It is the intention of Chief Wyman to keep the shanty-boats under strict vigilance, so many cases having been reported to him implicating residents of that district.

There is scarcely a day that some report is not made at police headquarters of some misdemeanor being committed by people of Shantytown and many of them relate to the loss of some article of value. The latter part of last week a number of the boats were thoroughly ransacked by the officers but nothing was found. They expect to be more successful in the future and hope by centering on the boats for a time to break up some of the thieving.

HON. T. E. BURTON TO MAKE INSPECTION OF THE OHIO RIVER TO ASCERTAIN ITS NEEDS

Chairman of the Rivers and Harbors Committee Tells How Waterways Are Improved In Europe.

Washington, October 9.—Representative T. E. Burton, of Cleveland, chairman of the rivers and harbors committee, has returned to Washington after spending several months in Europe studying the systems of water way improvement. When asked if his investigations had influenced his position with regard to the improvement of the Ohio river he declined to discuss the matter further than to say that he stands now just where he did before he left Washington.

This can be construed as meaning that Mr. Burton, while not an opponent of a nine-foot channel, believes it impracticable to authorize such an immense work so long as the policy of the government remains as it is at present. The rivers and harbors bill carries appropriations aggregating from $20,000,000 to $25,000,000 annually, and so long as this sum is not increased he thinks it would not be fair to take a larger proportion of the amount each year for improving the Ohio river to the neglect of other deserving public works. If the government will double or treble the appropriation Mr. Burton would be found among the advocates of the Ohio river improvement.

It is Mr. Burton's intention to make a thorough inspection of the Ohio river before congress meets. He will start from Pittsburg and go to Cincinnati, informing himself of the needs of the river and enabling him to make comparisons of that stream with the waterways he inspected in Europe.

Mr. Burton today made very interesting observations and the most significant was that in which he says that "the situation increases the strength of the argument for imposing upon specific localities part of the expense, unless the sentiment of the country will cordially sustain a large increase in federal appropriations."

Mr. Burton said:

OFFICER BATTLED WITH A HUGE DOG

Policeman Aufderheide Has One of the Most Thrilling Encounters of His Life.

VICTOR AFTER STRUGGLE

Officer Henry Aufderheide had one of the most thrilling experiences of his life yesterday afternoon when he approached a house on Sharyside, West End, for the purpose of searching the premises to locate, if possible, the fruit stolen from the home of Mrs. Carolina Smith. He was attacked by a ferocious dog and it was only the iron nerve of the officer that saved him from terrible injuries.

The dog, one of the largest of its species, made its attack on the officer when he was least expecting it and as a result came dangerously near accomplishing its evil design. The policeman is the owner of a mastiff and was never known to fear any of the canine family, but he is changed now and in the future will watch carefully the approach of every dog, no difference what size it may be. Upon entering the yard of the Shadyside residence he plainly saw the dog, but not thinking for a moment that it intended to attack him, plodded along toward the rear of the house.

While he was walking with his back to the animal he was startled by a fierce growl and turning like a flash saw the angry brute coming at him at a furious rate. The dog had gained such momentum and was so close to him when first seen that the officer only escaped contact with it by a quick jump to one side. Hardly had the enraged brute passed him, however, until it prepared for another attack. Drawing his mace from his pocket, the officer was in better shape to receive the second attack, and when the dog lunged at him he dealt it a blow on the head that sent it reeling on its back.

The officer thought he had vanquished his foe and was congratulating himself on his escape when the animal recovered and made one more lunge. This time he met the leap of the dog with a hard blow directly on the head. Like a log the dog rolled over on the ground and was left for dead. Quite a large crowd assembled at the scene of the exciting battle and there were none who did not fear that the officer would get the worst of it when the first attack was made.

STRIKE OF GIRLS WAS INAUGURATED

A strike of about 35 girls in the biscuit ware house at the China works was inaugurated this morning, the girls refusing to go to work when they were told that lunch hour was to be abolished. Another grievance is the reduction of the stamper from $1.15 to $1 per day. The new wage agreement, which went into effect October 1, provided that lunch hour among those who work for day wages be abolished. It is claimed, however, that owing to the flint the work on china is much harder than on granite or other ware and for this reason the girls want a differential.

As no provision has been made, a meeting of the arbitration board has been called for next Monday night when it is expected a settlement will be reached.

FORAKER'S DATE FOR THIS CITY

WILL BE EITHER THE 27th OR 28th OF OCTOBER.

It Is Expected He Will Be Here At That Time—Kansas Cyclone Coming.

Lisbon, October 9.—(Special)—Senator C. C. Connell, who is secretary of the Columbiana county Republican committee, returned from Columbus yesterday, where he visited Republican headquarters to make a request that Senator J. B. Foraker be dated for an address at East Liverpool. Only two open dates, October 27 and 28, remained for Senator Foraker and he will probably be in East Liverpool on one of those days.

Hon. Frank B. Dawes, of Leavenworth, Kan., a former attorney general of Kansas, will probably be in Columbiana county for three meetings to be held October 28, 29 and 30. Mr. Dawes is known as the "Kansas Cyclone" and made a great hit when he spoke at the county seat three years ago. A rousing meeting is being arranged for, to be held here and addressed by Mr. Dawes on one of the days he has consented to give to this county.

Discharged from Prison.

Columbus, October 9.—(Special.)—Jack Reeves, four years for shooting with intent to kill, and Frank Blackburn, four years for horse stealing, both from Columbiana county, have been discharged from the penitentiary upon expiration of sentence. This was Blackburn's third term.

McConnell Chosen Treasurer.

Findlay, October 9.—(Special)—At the election of officers of the Ohio Federation of Labor held here today, Criss McConnell, of East Liverpool, was elected treasurer. The next convention will be held at Canton.

SALINEVILLE MAN OUT FOR SENATOR

A Coal Miner Receives the Nomination in the 18th-19th District.

VERY POPULAR CANDIDATE

From a Staff Correspondent.

Columbus, October 9.—You can't keep the Columbiana county man down. This axiom, events prove, applies with special directness to the Salineville man. This hustling little community has furnished many men for high places and stands ready to continue the supply whenever necessary. The latest Columbiana county man to have honor thrust upon him is Alexander Smith, now of Mineral City, Tuscarawas county, formerly of Salineville, where he dug coal. He has just been nominated by the Republicans for state senator from the Eighteenth-Nineteenth joint district, comprising Tuscarawas, Coshocton, Guernsey, Monroe counties and a part of Noble county.

Mr. Smith is 47 years old and a coal miner by occupation. He resided at Salineville many years and was known by his associates there as a man of conservative judgment, good habits and reserved demeanor. He left that village about 15 years ago and became prominent as an indefatigable worker in politics and the mine workers' union. He served as president of the organization of his district for a number of years and made a good record. He is popular and has done much to promote the spirit of good will prevailing between the miners and the operators in his part of the state.

RIGHT OF WAY IS ASKED FOR DOWN RIVER LINE

The United Power company, of this city, has presented the following petition to the county commissioners of Jefferson county:

"The undersigned corporation, organized under the laws of Ohio for the purpose of constructing and operating a street railway from the village of Empire northward to the Columbiana county line, respectfully apply for a grant to construct an electric railway and necessary poles and wires and operate street cars for conveying passengers, freight and mail over and along the Steubenville & Wellsville state road and ask for a franchise for a period of 25 years and file herewith the consents of a majority of the owners of the feet front abutting the state road for the construction of the same. The signers are:

"John Taggart, 3,080 feet; E. W. Cooper, 3,566 feet; O. G. Crawford, 1,200 feet; Nancy Jones, 1,960 feet; J. W. Vantilberg, 600 feet; W. H. Greer, 700 feet; W. W. McKee, 800 feet; G. W. Skinner, 1,200 feet; J. W. Ekey, 1,900 feet; A. J. Galloway, 320 feet; A. J. Ducker, 150 feet; A. R. Householder, Nancy Householder, 1,500 feet; A. E. Crawford, 5,000 feet; David B. Brant, 2,500 feet; Sarah O. Miller, 3,500 feet; G. L. Westeat, 1,200 feet."

The commissioners will view the route today. The road is nearly complete to the Jefferson county line from below Wellsville and the petitioners are the same parties who ask for the franchise from Empire north.

The Steubenville Traction company is going north to Empire so that the gap between Toronto and Wellsville will soon be complete.

DEMURRER IN THE WYMAN CASE BEING ARGUED TODAY

Lisbon, October 9.—(Special.)—The case of the city of East Liverpool, by George E. Davidson, solicitor, versus James H. Grafton et al, in which an injunction against Mayor Weaver and the board of public safety is asked to prevent the appointment of John W. Wyman to the office of chief of police, came up for argument on demurrer before the court today.

J. H. Brookes, of East Liverpool, and Judge N. B. Billingsley, who filed the demurrer in behalf of the defendant, appeared for their client, and Solicitor George E. Davidson, of East Liverpool, and Attorney W. F. Lones, of Wellsville, appeared for the plaintiff. Mayor Weaver, of East Liverpool, was also present.

The language of the demurrer is as follows:

"The defendants separately demur to the petition of the plaintiff herein, and take as their grounds therefor:

"First—That it appears by the petition that the plaintiff has no legal capacity to sue.

"Second—That the petition does not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause for action."

The arguments in the case consisted of lengthy dissertations with reference to the technicalities involved and numerous citations of decisions.

The demurrer raises two questions. First, the right of the solicitor to bring action is denied, the claim being made that the power of the board of safety and the mayor are not corporate powers, and the second question raised is as to the right to bring an action by injunction to test this question. The defendants' attorneys hold that the solicitor had no right to bring this kind of action at this stage of the proceedings and that he has no adequate remedy at law and not in equity.

The defendant's counsel claim that the board and mayor must be allowed to certify and appoint according to their own interpretation of the law, and then, if the person appointed is open to any legal objections, those objecting may begin a proceedings in the nature of quo warranto to eject him from the office. They hold that this proceeding of Solicitor Davidson is premature.

The plaintiff's counsel enter a general denial to the points advanced by the defendants' counsel.

Argument was still in progress at a late hour this afternoon.

GREAT PROGRESS BEING MADE BY YOUNGSTOWN & SOUTHERN

Salem, October 9.—The Youngstown & Southern company is making excellent progress in the construction of its line from Youngstown to this city. About 20 miles of grading and track have been laid, which will doubtless be a surprise to many on account of the unostentatious and quiet manner which the company has pursued in its work. In a few days more, probably by the latter part of the week, ground will be broken in Columbiana county. It is expected, according to present calculations, that the southern part of the county will be reached about the latter part of January or February.

The present rate of progress is nothing short of phenomenal. It seems only a few months since the first shovelful of earth was lifted marking the beginning of operations. Now over half of the work is completed. The shortness of the time and the wonderful advancement which has resulted are the subject of much surprise and congratulation.

The remarkable success of the company is attributed to the fact that it is sparing neither money nor expense to build the road and place it in operation as soon as possible.

Hundreds of men, together with dozens of teams, are working on the job. And the company is steadily increasing its force as the work advances. Men and teams are hired when and wherever available.

Although "onward" appears to be the slogan of the officials of the company, the work is being done well. A competent critic who has seen many railroads constructed, says that the cross-country line will be equal to the finest in the state.

WITH THE WORKMEN IN THE CLAY PLANTS

A BIG OUTPUT.

The shipments of paving brick and sewer pipe from the Ohio valley for the month of August possibly exceeded those of any previous month during the year. The matter of securing cars in which to make shipments has not been quite as serious a problem this season as it was last year, or for that matter for the last two years, which fact would, of course, have something to do with the very satisfactory month's business. Almost all the brick and sewer pipe plants in the Ohio valley are in full operation and will possibly continue so until the last of the year at least unless the threatened strike of the clay miners should materialize. It appears that an advance of two cents a ton has been granted to clay miners at one of the plants of the American Sewer Pipe company. At this particular plant the claim is made that conditions are such as to warrant the payment of a little higher wage rate for mining clay than is paid at other of the company's works. This apparent discrimination seemed to be distasteful to the miners at other of the company's works, however, who immediately made a demand for an equal advance, which, in turn, was refused. The action of the management in the matter, of course, engendered talk of a strike forthwith, and it is hard to tell as yet just how the matter will terminate. It is also intimated that in case the miners at the American company's works go out on strike, the clay miners at other plants in the vicinity will do likewise. If the strike is declared there can be but one immediate result, granting, of course, a speedy agreement can not be arranged, and that would be a general shutdown of all the plants, a condition which, coming just at this time, would doubtless be more disastrous to the workmen than to the manufacturers.

FIRMS WITHDRAWING.

There has been considerable uneasiness in pottery circles during the past month over the actions of several sanitary firms giving notice of their intention to withdraw from the Sanitary Manufacturers' association, followed by a 10 per cent cut in the selling prices of sanitary ware.

The potters are fearful lest this move was the beginning of the end of the sanitary manufacturers' association, but through the activity of those manufacturers who realize the necessity of an organization to maintain a selling price that will guarantee a fair margin of profit, there has been a reorganization of the association which will include all the leading shops of the country.

There are quite a number of reasons advanced as to the cause of the present depression in the sanitary business, the most reasonable of which is the inability of the dealers to deliver goods owing to the large number of strikes in the building trades the past summer.

In spite of the present depression manufacturers say that with the completion of buildings under way there will be a general revival of business toward the end of the year.

NEW CASTLE NOTES.

Local union No. 54 held a very interesting meeting last week. The action of the arbitration board was discussed and does not seem wholly to please the potters here, especially the two-year agreement. Four transfer cards were received from sanitary ware pressers' local No. 45 of Trenton, N. J.

The Universal pottery seems to be picking up. There is some trouble in regard to putting on another apprentice presser, and Vice President Hutchins has been sent for, and will likely settle the trouble.

Things are moving all right at the China shop, except the trouble in the gilding department. The local has sent for President Duffy to come on and settle it. He will likely be here about the same time as Vice President Hutchins.

At the Shenango things are booming. The prospects were never brighter since the plant was built.

George Wolf, who was manager for the past year, has left. Report has him going to Derry.

Thomas McKeone, who has been off sick for the last few days, is back at work again.

The famous Crip Cain was a visitor here October 7 and left for Youngstown.

Walt McKeone has started to work again. He was called to East Liverpool on account of the serious illness of his daughter, which resulted fatally. She died Sunday at 9:30 and was buried Tuesday at 2:30. The many friends of Brother McKeone sympathize with him in his sad bereavement.

THE WEATHER.

West Virginia—Fair Friday and Saturday.

CAMERON NOTES.

The second biscuit kiln is being fired.

The fire doors are being covered and put in place.

The ware room and decorating room have been cleaned up.

George Brockway, the dipper, commenced work Wednesday.

Three carloads of clay are on their way here from Liverpool, England.

Work was commenced Wednesday on placing the third biscuit kiln.

The girls employed in the biscuit ware house reported for work on Wednesday.

Will Hackney, the moulder, is working on some specialties, making moulds for fancy cake and pie plates, pickle dishes, etc.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Albright, of Sebring, were in town Tuesday inspecting the pottery. Mr. Albright was well pleased with the first kiln of ware.

The first biscuit was drawn Monday. It contained about $1,600 worth of ware. Although it was the first kiln the loss was practically nothing. The ware was in excellent shape, and the result surpassed the expectations and hopes of the officials.

POTTERY NOTES.

The Sebring pottery sent a solid car of ware to Cleveland Wednesday.

William White was called here from Salem by his mother's serious illness.

Silas Steele, formerly of the Globe, has accepted a position at Coshocton.

Mike Reynolds, of the glost crew at Salem, has resigned and returned to this city.

Byron Foutts, formerly of Peoria, is now working in the packing shed at Harker's.

HIRSUTE ORNAMENTS NOT WORN 100 YEARS AGO.

Post-Bellum Period When the Mustache Flourished Most—Smooth Faces the Style Now.

As regards whiskers, the twentieth century is beginning somewhat as the nineteenth began, though, of course, not so strictly and universally smooth, but it is doubtful if it will run parallel through all its quarters, with its predecessor. There were no mustaches, no beards, when the nineteenth century dawned.

Side whiskers began to curl and sprout before it had run far in its course, and they grew bolder after a time and encircled the throat and chin, leaving bare the upper lip. The lip was submerged about 1860, and in the later years of destruction was last to yield to the assaults of the barber.

The masculine human countenance began to exhibit itself again not long after the war, and from that time down to the very recent past, the unsupported mustache was the prevailing mode. Now fashion is changing again, so that the young men are commonly completely shaved and their fathers have covered lips.

The youth of today have the weight of civilized precedent with them. An examination of the family albums of the last four centuries will demonstrate that the unwhiskered have had by far the better of it. For nearly 260 years of that time the beard was not permitted to sprout.

A great deal of encouragement for the shaven but ambitious young man may be found in the presidency of the United States. From the beginning with Washington, down to Lincoln's time whiskers found lodgement only three times, and in every case they were of the remote variety known as sideboards, which offered no considerable obstruction of the faces to which they were linked.

John Quincy Adams presented a stubborn pair. Martin Van Buren's were amiable in their moods, and Zacharay Taylor's were evidently the unobstrusive expression of a fancy for trimmings.

Lincoln inaugurated the bearded era, which was carried on by Grant, Hayes, Garfield, Arthur (with Dundrearys) and Harrison, though Harrison yielded not a little of his expanse before he retired from office.

Cleveland was the first mustached president and Roosevelt was the second, while McKinley preserved the tradition of the smooth face.

Fourteen of the presidents have shaven completely, seven have shaven only partly, and only four have gone unshaven. Lincoln, wearing a beard but no mustache, shaved the least of those who shaved at all.

TEACHERS WANTED IN PHILIPPINES

The Government Offers Inducements and Fair Salaries to Young Men.

The civil service commission has just received a call from the Philippine government for 150 male teachers with salaries as follows: Twenty-five at $1,200; 70 at $1,000 and 55 at $900 per annum. It is desired to secure these teachers without unnecessary delay, and an examination will be held on October 19-20 in various cities.

Peace has been established in the Philippines and the conditions of living are improving every month. This examination, therefore, affords an excellent opportunity for young men to enter an attractive service which offers excellent opportunities for promotion. Teachers appointed are eligible for promotion to the higher grades in the service, the salaries ranging from $900 to $2,000 for teachers and from $1,500 to $2,500 for division superintendents.

Application blanks for this examination are on file with George H. Mounts, secretary of the local civil service commission, and any information desired can be secured from him. The examination can be taken in Ohio at Cleveland, Cincinnati, Columbus, Ironton, Toledo and Zanesville.

EAST END

C. & P. VIOLATES THE INJUNCTION

East End Citizen Claims Restraining Order Has Been Ignored.

BELLEEK STREET TRACKS

Have Been Constructed By the Company And the Crossing Is Almost Impassable as a Result—Citizens Are Surprised.

According to the statement of a prominent East End citizen, made this morning, the C. & P. railroad company has ignored the injunction secured some time ago by the city, in bulding tracks across Belleek street. Men in the employ of the company have been at work for a number of days in constructing the west bound track, but until Belleek street was reached public property had not been intruded upon. The new track came to an end a short distance east of Mulberry street, no attempt being made to lay the rails at the street intersection. None of the street from Mulberry west to Belleek extend across the railroad to the north. Belleek street did not extend across the tracks until the Midway Land company's addition was accepted by the city, the latest atlases, compiled for the county, not showing the extension.

Not only did the railroad company construct the main line track across the street intersection, but a spur for the use of the Freedom Oil company at its new supply station. The company has either entirely ignored the injunction or the contractors are in ignorance of the fact that Belleek street extends beyond the tracks to the north.

Those who have learned of the company's act are surprised rather than angry, although the street crossing has been left in an almost impassable condition. It is realized that the tracks will eventually be laid and that the company will have the legal right to act as soon as the differences with the city are adjusted. Surprise is expressed, however, at the assurance of the company in violating the injunction.

It is not likely that any objection will be made by East Enders unless the company fails to make the crossing passable. If this is not done trouble may follow and an inquiry will be made into the merit of the case.

Moving Its Supply Station.

The Freedom Oil company has commenced the work of moving its supply station from the present quarters to the property recently purchased for this purpose from the Midway Land company. Extensive improvements will be made, placing the station in first class order. The land necessary for the station was purchased some time ago from the Midway Land company and the C. & P. railroad has built a spur to acommodate the company.

Gun Club Practice.

Regular weekly practice at the Columbian park range was held yesterday afternoon by the Columbian Gun club. The members are determined to increase their skill as marksmen and realize they can do so only by hard practice. One of the members Hugh Johnson, recently won a high position at a Pittsburg shoot. Dr. F. F. Davis, who is considered one of the best in this section, is making a fine record in the practice shoots.

Harry Thomas, of North Wales, Pa., a former employe of the East Liverpool line, has written a letter to his friend, Charles Kontnier, president of No. 52, that contains a piece of information of interest to his many friends. Mr. Thomas, a short time ago, was married to a fine young lady and has gone to housekeeping in a snug little home in North Wales.

An error was made in the announcement that D. Frank White had organized a P. H. C. lodge at Smith's Ferry a few nights ago. He has been spending considerable time in that village, preparing for the event, whch is to take place tonight. The new order will begin its existence with a large membership.

BIG PURCHASES OF COAL LANDS

ALONG THE OHIO RIVER BELOW WHEELING.

Purchased By New York Parties—Territory Embraces 30,000 Acres.

During the last few years all the coal territory in Ohio and Marshall counties, W. Va., has been acquired by agents for Pittsburg parties, and a large sum of money has been distributed among the farmers and other land owners. Thousands of acres have been secured and now the Pittsburg company has sold the territory to eastern capital, as the following telegram from New York shows:

Wall street and Pennsylvania interests today completed a deal whereby control was acquired of about 30,000 acres of coal lands in Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia. The principal field is in Marshall county, W. Va., three miles from the Pennsylvania line on the Baltimore & Ohio and known to geologists as the "Pittsburg seam," which Professor I. C. White, state geologist of West Virginia, says contains 100,000,000 tons of coal.

The company, known as the Summit Coal company, has a capital of $10,000,000. The output will be 4,000 tons a day. The organization was completed at a meeting at 170 Broadway today, when George H. Proctor, a California capitalist and mine operator, wes elected president; I. C. Smith, of Connellsville, Pa., general manager; T. J. Yost, treasurer, and Henry B. Twombley, secretary.

E. E. Dilliner, of Uniontown, Pa., and Charles C. Newfan, of Loundsville, W. Va., were elected in addition to the above as directors.

NEW CONSTITUTION

Canton, October 9.—The state convention of the Women's Christian Temperance union occupied practically the whole day yesterday adopting a new constitution and by-laws. The point on which the delegates divided was the board of trustees, which heretofore controlled all finances of the association. A compromise was reached providing that the trustees shall be three state vice presidents and three state superintendents of departments, and that the board shall incur no expense.

A committee of delegates was named to present the greetings of the association to Mrs. McKinley, together with a floral greeting.

VALUABLE PROPERTY HAS BEEN LEASED

About 2,500 Acres of Mahoning County Coal Lands Taken Up and To Be Developed.

Salem, October 9.—At Youngstown Wednesday some 24 valuable coal leases, in which William Dunn, superintendent of the Salem company's coal mines near this city, is interested, were filed for record with Recorder W. H. McGinnis, of Mahoning county. The leases comprise about 2,500 acres of valuable coal territory in Mahoning county, largely in Boardman and Canfield townships, and from the filing of the leases it is inferred that extensive operations will begin in that section within a short time. Mr. Dunn could not be seen today, and communication with his son at the Salem company's mine failed to develop anything further than a confirmation of the fact that the leases had been closed.

With Mr. Dunn is associated Robert L. Walker, of Poland, Mahoning county. Inasmuch as in at least two of the leases, those on the Gabrel Kline farms, sections are incorporated giving the lessees the right to construct and operate railways on the farms, for which Mr. Dunn is to pay an annual rental of $600, gives color to the report that a big deal is under way. The leases all specify that at least ten tons of coal per acre shall be taken out each year, or its equivalent paid for. The price to be paid per ton for run of mine in most of the leases is 15 cents, though in some cases 25 cents per ton is to be paid. None of the leases specify where the entrances to mines are to be located.

The filing of these leases confirms the reports published some time ago to the effect that Mr. Dunn was operating in the vicinity of Canfield with a view of securing some extensive coal lands there. Parties interested are averse to giving out information regarding the deal.

The chances are that the surplus at the end of June next will be in the neighborhood of $25,000,000, or about half of that of the fiscal year which ended three months ago. In the work of cutting down taxation in order to decrease the congestion of money in the treasury, the country, therefore, has gone far enough. If we get the Panama canal there is a chance that the payments which we will have to make will reduce this estimated excess of $25,000,000 for the twelve months. In any case, there will be no more revenue cutting on any pretext in the next two years at least.

GRAND OPENING

Of the New Shoe Store of W. C. Davidson & Co. Attracted Crowds.

The popularity of the ex-mayor of East Liverpool again had a striking exemplification last evening, the occasion being the opening of the new and up-to-date shoe house of W. C. Davidson & Co. on East Fifth street. For hours the sidewalk and street in front of the place contained such a crowd as is seldom brought out except on extraordinary occasions. The store was thronged during all the time it remained open.

Haines' band discoursed excellent music, entertaining the crowd while people awaited their turn to get inside. Mr. Davidson gave away 3,500 souvenirs of great utility and attractiveness. The lady's shoes belong to the holder of No. 108 and the gentleman's shoes to the man who holds No. 214.

Such an auspicious opening of a mercantile establishment is seldom witnessed. So great was the attendance that the firm has decided to receive its friends again soon, in order that those who were unable to get souvenirs last night may be able to do so, and a pair of shoes will be given to one gentleman and a lady.

Arranging for Football Game.

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 9.—Every effort is being made to have the army and navy football game come off. The cadets are anxious to play, as this is the deciding game of the series which begun in 1890. The proposition of Annapolis to impose certain new conditions for this deciding game finds no favor at West Point. It was learned that high army and navy officials in Washington have been in communication with the superintendents of both academies and are working hard to arrange the game.

PROMINENT MEN HAVE A SCRIMMAGE

Lively Fight in the West End in Which a Manufacturer Is Knocked Out.

A serious fight occurred Wednesday afternoon in the vicinity of the Carroll-Porter Boiler works in the West End, between a well known West End manufacturer and a contractor who is now engaged on a contract in the West End. It came near resulting seriously for the manufacturer, the contractor giving him the worst of it.

The trouble all started over the contractor having hauled sand, so it is stated, from the river bank property of the manufacturer. These two men met and the manufacturer accused the contractor of taking the sand with the knowledge that it did not belong to the man that he was supposed to have purchased it from. The contractor finally flatly denied that he took the sand with any such knowledge, and hardly before the words were out of his mouth, the manufacturer jumped on him, intending to put him out of the business in the first round.

The contractor had something to say about this time, however, and he soon had the manufacturer flat on his back and was hammering him for dear life, when the proceedings were interfered with by a West End potter who witnessed the affair. He promptly pulled the contractor off the manufacturer and patched up the affair as well as he could. The contractor bore no marks of violence, but the manufacturer has two black optics and a swelled neck that he will not be able to turn for some time.

Games were later indulged in and music was rendered. The afternoon's enjoyment wound up with a very dainty little luncheon served by the hostess, Miss McLean. Another meeting of the club will be held some time next week.

P. H. C. Banquet.

The regular bi-monthly meeting of Fidelity Circle, No. 43, Protected Home Circle, was held last evening in the hall, Main and Ninth streets. This function was followed by a sumptuous banquet, which was a three-course affair and was thoroughly enjoyed by the large attendance of members of the order. This lodge at the present time is in a very flourishing condition, and new members are being added to its roster at nearly every meeting.

AN UNDERSTANDING MAY BE REACHED

The Chief Difficulty Is Over the First Demand—Meeting Will Be Important.

A meeting has been arranged between the committees representing the local union of engineers and the United States Potters' association that may avert the threatened trouble over the new wage agreement demanded by the latter. As a result of the ultimatum issued yesterday to all firms employing union engineers, to the effect that a strike would be inaugurated Monday if the demands were not acceded to, the potters' committee decided to hold a conference with the committee from the union and again review the situation. The outcome of this meeting will be awaited with a great deal of interest by the public, as serious danger threatens should both sides refuse to recede from their present position.

The two committees will meet tonight in the rooms of the Potters' club and the merits and demerits of the demands will be thoroughly discussed. Although it is not likely that a final settlement will be effected, it is hoped that some understanding may be reached that will avert the threatened difficulty. But little if any trouble would be experienced in reaching a settlement were it not for the first demand, which provides that none but members of local union No. 169 be employed, or that in case the union can not supply engineers competent in the opinion of the employer, such engineers who are competent shall become members of the union. This provision, the employers claim, will place their engine rooms in entire control of the union, and for this reason they are objecting. Some of the firms employ engineers who are members of the National Association of Steam Engineers, which is not concerned in the demands. The employers, under the terms of the demand, would be compelled to discharge them.

A member of the potters' committee stated this afternoon that the committee could not accede to this demand and that if the engineers insist upon it a strike will result. It was claimed that the potters are willing to accept the rate of wages and other working conditions asked for.

TWO MORE DIVORCES GRANTED BY COURT

Matrimonial Knots Untied for East Liverpool and Salem Petitioners.

Lisbon, October 9.—(Special)—A session of divorce court was held yesterday afternoon at which Judge Hole granted two more legal separations.

Divorce was granted in the case of Isaac Williams, of East Liverpool, versus Dill Williams, whose place of residence is now unknown. They were married in East Liverpool February 17, 1901, and have no children. The husband charged that in April, just two months after their marriage, his wife left home and went to live with George Sillivan in East Liverpool, continuing to live with him for some time. Mr. Williams never lived with his wife after she left him on the occasion referred to. A. E. Bowdler was the plaintiff's attorney.

Katie Miller, of Salem, was divorced from Martin Miller, to whom she was married in 1883, in Austria-Hungary, of which country they are natives. The witnesses in this case were all foreigners and the services of an interpretor were required. The plaintiff charged extreme cruelty, specifying that on June 24 last her husband cruelly beat and choked her as he had frequently done before. On the date referred to, however, Mrs. Miller left her husband and has not lived with him since. John E. Scott, of Salem, was the plaintiffs' attorney.

THE MI-O-NA TREATMENT

Flesh-Forming Food in Tablet Form That Increases Flesh—Guaranteed By Will Reed.

The discovery of Mi-o-na, the remarkable flesh-forming food that builds up good, healthy, solid flesh and makes thinness and scrawniness a thing of the past, has revolutionized medical practice in certain lines.

Its power to do all that is claimed for it was so clearly proven to Will Reed that he has sold Mi-o-na with the understanding that if it fails the purchase price will be refunded.

Will Reed certainly exhibited courage in taking up this method of selling Mi-o-na, but the results have fully proven his judgment that the Mi-o-na treatment for stomach troubles, emaciation, general weakness and run down condition is the only efficacious and reliable cure.

Mi-o-na possesses healing and soothing qualities that make it especially valuable in cases of chronic indigestion and dyspepsia. Two or three tablets taken each day in connection with the regular food prove it a true flesh-former.

All that many a woman lacks to be positively pretty is a little more flesh on her face. To look haggard or not fat is never becoming. The use of Mi-o-na will cure this defect.

With every 50 cent box of Mi-o-na that Will Reed sells, he will give a written guarantee to refund the money if it does not give an increase in flesh and restore strength. What a trifling cost this is if it makes you well; if it fails, the expense is absolutely nothing.

CALIFORNIA

This is a land of homes, but a farm in California "under the ditch," means fewer acres, and more neighbors, less isolation and more society—less work and more profit. The man who thinks, finds three desires close to his heart: To have a home, a living income, and independence. These he battles for early and late, and is only happy when he wins. In irrigated California, the stars in their course fight for him. A beneficient climate seconds all his efforts, multiplies his working days, and preserves his crops. Neither flood nor frost, blizzard or cyclone, hot winds or rainy springtime destroys his crops. Summers are long, but growth goes on wherever the water runs, and crop failures are unknown. Thus a home, an income and an independence can be secured at less cost, maintained with less effort, and enjoyed more fully in California than in lands ice-bound for months, and uncertain in the character of their growing seasons.

Colonist rates to this land of opportunity, via the Southern Pacific, are $25 from all Missouri River points, $30 from St. Louis and New Orleans, $33 from Chicago. From Bloomington, $32; from Peoria, $31. It thus becomes easy to look over the west. California books of any agent. Write G. G. Herring, general agent, 514-516 Park building, Pittsburg, Pa.

Heinie Youngman's All Professionals were treated to a clean article of ball at West End park yesterday afternoon by the locals. They were three men shy, the outfielders failing to reach the city, but their substitutes, a trio of local players, did not help them lost and considering the poor batting exhibited by them they were exceedingly lucky in pulling out under such a close margin. The score was 8 to 7.

The visitors, composed of professional players, who spent the season with amateur league teams, credit their losing, of course, to the fact that only six of the regular lineup was on the field. The fans do not agree with them. The local three, "Reddy" Miller, Ferguson and Bennett, played just as good a fielding game as any one could and their stunts with the stick would not have changed the score materially. Captain Cargo stated that his fielders missed the train, but it is thought they did so purposely, the Boston-Pittsburg game being enough to hold any lover of the sport away.

In the first inning everything looked as if there was nothing to it, the visitors landing two hard ones and three runs, while the locals went out in order. And they continued at the same pace for two more innings. However, the twisters delivered by Winters soon had them in the air and had it not been for darkness in the ninth the Pennsylvanians would have been satisfied with their first spurt.

The locals never had their batting eyes in better trim and Miller looked real sick before they let him down. During the first five innings they did not fail to score at least one single and in the third and fourth they made it two, topping it off in the fifth with a trio. With such batting against them it looks as though they could not have won had they had Pittsburg's outfield. Had the visitors been able to find Morg more often a decidedly different tale would have been told, three of their six hits being two baggers and one of them a three sacker. It was simply a case of being up against a bunch of hitters who could not be downed.

The features of the game were made by the "rookies," "Reddy" Miller and Ferguson. The former, dressed in his every day rags, was in middle for the Professionals and he sprung a genuine surprise when Heckathorn knocked a high fly to him by taking it in with ease and cutting off Brown who had strayed a little too far from first, thinking that the youth did not have wing enough to put the bug on him. Ferguson made the catch of his life in the seventh. He held on to a high fly after falling down and rolling all over himself.

James Godwin got on his ear early in the game because the crowd objected to a rank decision and quit. He was supplemented by Captain Reark. The score of the game follows:

Ohio Championship.

Cleveland, Oct. 9.—Wintry and rainy weather made it possible to play but one of the two games here between the Cleveland American league and the Cincinnati National league baseball clubs, for the state championship. The first game was a victory for Cleveland by a score of 5 to 3, and the second game, which went only three innings, was called at that point because of darkness, with the score 2 to 1 in favor of Cincinnati.

Score—									R.	H.	E.

A Prominent Operator Says It Would Pay Well to Export the American Product.

Pittsburg, October 9.—W. C. Jutte, of C. Jutte & Co., river coal shippers, has returned to Pittsburg from a trip to Europe, and believes there is a good market for American coal in the old world. He declares that the coal operator of England is just as anxious to get good prices for his product as is the American operator and believes that an excellent trade can be established by operating a line of coal vessels. This, he says, can be done with a profit by loading the vessels with coal at seaboards in this country and loading them on the other side with products made in foreign countries for shipment to the United States. He said that he was not sufficiently versed with conditions on the other side of the Atlantic to say what products could be shipped to this country at an advantage to the foreign manufacturer, but believes that there is a great future for American coal in France and England, as well as in Mexico and South America, on this side of the Atlantic.

"Coal is selling at $4.50 a ton in London," said Mr. Jutte, "and here in Pittsburg it is selling for $3 a ton. The English coal operator has a great advantage over the American operator on account of having the advantage of cheap transportation. The operators of England are so situated that they can load coal for the seaboard at their mines and place it in vessels holding 10,000 to 12,000 tons and transport it to the various seaboard markets of Europe. In Pittsburg the operator can also load coal at the mines in river vessels, but these must be transported 2,000 miles to New Orleans before the coal can reach tidewater.

"If some one would operate a line of six-masted sailing vessels, for instance, between American ports and Europe, I think a very profitable business can be established. It does not require a large amount of money to operate vessels of this class, because they do not use fuel and the vessels carry very small crews."

TAYLOR DEMANDS A NEW POLICY

THE OLD AND EASY WAY

"Gentlemen, it is high time a revolution was taking place in both the fire and police departments. When we assumed the duties of our office it was understood among us that there should be a change in the manner in which the departments are run and I don't favor the way things stand now. Everything is going along in the same old easy, don't-care way," said W. L. Taylor, of the board of public safety at its regular meeting last evening.

Continuing, he said: "The chiefs of each department are not doing their work as we directed. We passed upon a number of rules and it seems that they are being disregarded totally. One of the most important rule is not observed at all. It says that the chiefs must make a monthly report and I will insist that it is done. The shape things are in now we can never learn what is being done by the patrolmen and it is very necessary that we keep tab on their every movement.

"It looks as though the patrolmen don't consider us as their executive dictators. There must be some sort of a change at once or I will see that the entire lot is put on the carpet."

The words of Mr. Taylor did not strike a popular chord among the members of the board. They did not think hasty action should be taken in the matter, favoring the plan of waiting until the business of the board assumes conditions that will allow the members to dictate and back up any orders with records, etc.

Mr. Dawson reported to the board that he had conferred with the fire and police committee of council and the committee seemed in favor of doing all it could to assist the board in arranging permanent quarters in the city building. The committee, however, said that the room on the third floor of the city building wanted by the board was not under the jurisdiction of council, belonging to the township trustees. The question was finally settled after a conference with Mr. Randolph, of the band which occupies the north room on the third floor.

It was decided by the board that it would be impossible for it to meet in the room on the lower floor on the same evening devoted by the band to practice. Mr. Randolph was asked if the band could change its meeting night to Friday and he readily consented to do so. As a result immediate steps were taken to repair the room opposite and it is thought it will be in readiness for occupancy by the next regular meeting night. The room is to be thoroughly cleaned and fixed at any cost and if possible made suitable for the honorable body. It has been run from room to room, sidewalk to sidewalk until every member had become almost sorry that it belonged to the board.

Mr. Taylor reported that he had been visited by an agent of a fire supply firm, of Pittsburg, and that prices had been received on helmets, of which there was some talk at the last meeting. The agent had two kinds, aluminum and leather. Either can be purchased for $4.50 each. It was decided to let the matter rest with the committee for awhile, the firemen being content to wait for the needed improvement to their wearing paraphernalia.

The bill of Kerr Bros., who furnished the lumber for the erection of the curfew tower in the East End, was ordered paid. Two bills for printing were not allowed, the opinion of the solicitor being ordered.

The second day in camp his little boy was taken with cramp colic. The first dose of this remedy gave relief and the second dose effected a cure. Think of the pain and suffering this boy would have had to endure without this remedy at hand to relieve him. Such cases often result fatally. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger.

HON. T. E. BURTON TO MAKE INSPECTION OF THE OHIO RIVER

prevent the passage of a river and harbor bill at the next session of congress. I do not know what strength the movement has gained. On the other hand, there has never been a time when the pressure for river and harbor appropriations was so great. Almost every paper I have examined since my return contains an article in advocacy of some expensive project.

"The customary appropriation will not meet the increasing demands. Congress should establish a consistent policy and adhere to it. Several methods might be pursued. One way would be to engage in improvements in a manner similar to that purposed by France. This would necessitate multiplying appropriations at least three or four times.

"Another way would be to limit appropriations to even smaller sums than at present, selecting such improvements as will afford a prompt return and assure a greatly increased traffic. A third way would be to divide the expenses between the general government and the localities especially benefited. This last method has had many advocates, but it is by no means free from difficulty.

"In Europe money for harbor and waterway improvement is expended much more generously than it is here. Of course, the policy is so different that it is difficult to make comparisons. For instance, almost all the government municipalities or private companies which improve the harbors over there not only dredge channels and construct breakwaters as we do by congressional appropriation in this country, but they also construct basins to provide anchorages under all conditions of the tide, and adjacent quays and often warehouses and railway terminals, for which they receive reimbursement in tolls from the shipping using the harbors so created and maintained."

AGAINST PUBLIC POLICY

Now, as I said before, it is against public policy for court or jury to enforce that kind of a contract, because it encourages men to run the risk of violating the law.

"Mr. James, at the time he took this device into his place, had some doubt on the matter. He says: 'I don't want to use a gambling machine,' but on this man telling him, 'We will pay all damages if you go ahead and use it,' then he goes ahead and uses what all now admit was a gambling machine. If the court were to enforce that kind of contracts it would encourage people to violate the law whenever somebody said: 'We will guarantee to save you from any trouble.'

"Now, it is against public policy that such contracts should be enforced. This plaintiff admits that there was no practical misrepresentation of facts. There was a misrepresentation as to what the law was. He admits that they told him it was a machine in which the player was to put a nickel and would either get nothing or get more than he had put in. He admits that they told him there would be money to divide. That is, that he was to have half the money that was so obtained; so that when he put this machine in his place and before he put it in the place he knew that he was to get half of the money which his neighbors and customers would put in that machine for nothing. It was money put at hazard and the law does not encourage that kind of contract by enforcing it.

"Sometimes these people, I have no doubt, pay according to their guarantee. Mr. Creadon might have paid as he promised to do, and perhaps according to the code of 'honor among thieves,' he ought to have paid; but the man who runs the risk of using a gambling device runs the chance of losing and he must trust to the honor of his accomplice when a promise of that kind is made and he can not come into a court of justice and enforce it. Under all these circumstances, as I said before, it is my duty to instruct you to return a verdict for the defendant. And you may appoint one of your number foreman, without leaving your seats, and have him find the verdict that I will hand you."

This charming story of typical American village life made a really remarkable impression upon its last visit, both because of the unconventional realism of the story and character drawing. "York State Folks" takes rank as the foremost of American plays. The story of the play appeals irresistibly to all classes because of the truthfulness of human nature which it depicts. Its comedy and its pathos are absolutely true to life, and it is the sense of reality which impresses all who see it.

A statement of each amendment will be printed in a separate column at the right of the party tickets. On the line below such statement will be printed the word "Yes" and on the next line below will be printed the word "No."

In marking constitutional amendments printed on a party ticket the same rules shall apply as those prescribed for marking ballots in voting for candidates for office. If a ballot be marked with a cross mark in the circle at the head of the ticket of a political party, it should be counted for each statement of constitutional amendment and answer thereto on such party ticket. If a ballot be marked with a cross mark in the circular space at the head of the ticket of a party, and with a cross mark before the statement of the constitutional amendment and answer thereto elsewhere on the ballot different from the statement of amendment and answer thereto on such party ticket, the ballot should be counted for the statement and answer so specifically marked, and for all other amendments and answers thereto on the party ticket so marked in the circle.

A separate return of the vote for and against the amendments shall be made to the secretary of state by the election officers within ten days after the election.

HALLOWE'EN PARTIES ARE MOST ENJOYABLE

Many Hints For Making Them So Can Be Found in Burns' Poems.

Hallowe'en is but a few weeks distant and already people are wondering how to give an ideal hallowe'en party and at the same time have something different from the conventional and hackneyed way of entertaining.

Hallowe'en reminds one so forcibly of Bonnie Scotland and Robert Burns' descriptions of the carnival of hobgoblins and witches holding high carnival, that the one wishing to give an ideal hallowe'en party is advised to hunt up an old copy of Burns' poetry and read therein the charms. Try varying the custom this year and follow the Scotch one of having the hallowe'en celebration out of doors, says "What to Eat." Swing jock-o'-lanterns from the trees and light the grounds with gasoline and pine torches. Build fortune tellers' caves of leaves, and have a real (?) cabbage patch and a mysterious well guarded by an imp with pitchfork.

The bonfire is the main feature. When all the guests have arrived give each a lighted flambeau or torch and have a procession winding about the grounds. Add some fantastic characters to give zest to the procession. Have the procession circle three times around the big bonfire waiting to be lighted—packing boxes and logs sprinkled with turpentine. At a signal have all the torches thrown into the fire, starting the flames.

When the flames are at their brightest have a figure dressed as a hobgoblin appear, dragging a car surrounded by fairies carrying long spears. Have the effigy of an old witch bound to the car. The fairies encircle the fire as the hobgoblin throws the witch into the heart of the flames. This typifies the consuming of trouble. Then the company may dance and sing at pleasure. This is the sort of hallowe'en frolic loved by Princess Beatrice and arranged for her at Balmoral Castle, Scotland. On one of these occasions Queen Victoria danced the Scottish national dance with her faithful gillie "John Brown" raising a storm of criticism.

WEATHER TOO COLD FOR BASEBALL

Captain Reark Calls Off the Contests Scheduled for Today And Tomorrow.

The weather has interfered with the plans of Manager Reark for a double header tomorrow with Heinie Youngman's All-Professionals and there will be no games. When the weather turned in cold this morning Manager Reark realized that it would play havoc with the attendance at the West End park and he decided not to play either today or tomorrow. Most of the visitors and several o. the local players left town this morning for Pittsburg, where they will watch the pannant winners of the two leagues battle for the championship.

The base ball season of 1903 is now practically a thing of the past, although a field day may be arranged for next week if the weather is favorable. This event will be a benefit for the players and besides the ball games there will be foot races, throwing contests, etc.

TELEPHONE QUESTION HAS TWO SIDES

States Its Position—Reply to Tomlinson's Statement Issued By the Manager.

To the Public:—Mr. Tomlinson, president of the Salem Business association, in a statement which was published in the local papers of yesterday, makes several assertions which I, as secretary and general manager of this company, feel compelled to answer and also to ask a few questions.

The controversy of which he speaks has up to this time been very much one-sided. We have had two meetings with special committees of the association. The association voted to adopt the Bell telephone as their official telephone. This was carried by a majority of three votes, so we are informed. Against this we have no right to nor do we make complaint or question, but we do say that the association, through its committee, has extended its fight against us unjustly and unfairly in favor of the Bell Telephone company. We have a large number of subscribers re-signed and also a large number who have contracted for telephones during the past year and whose contracts have not expired. A number of these have been visited by a committee of the association who have asked them to throw out their Columbiana County telephones and, we are told, have also threatened them. The committee also offering to pay their subscriptions until their contracts with us expire.

Mr. Tomlinson also makes statements that we have made gross misrepresentations as to the number of subscribers we have at this time. We are ready to verify our statements to any person or persons desiring to look into the matter. He also says that the association believes in fair play and legitimate competition. Is coercion, boycott and intimidation fair play? Is tryng to take away by coercion and intimidation the individual right of contract of a free-born American citizen fair play? Do their actions of the past few weeks verify his statements that they are not antagonistic to the Columbiana County Telephone company or that they believe in legitimate competition?

Is not the business of the Columbiana County Telephone company legitimate and does not the service which has been rendered during the past three and one half years at a loss, merit any consideration whatever?

Do the people want to be coerced into putting out of business a company which has brought the use of the telephone from a luxury to a home comfort and which has developed the rural districts, bringing the farmer into close touch with his city friend and merchant?

The Columbiana County Telephone company has asked for nothing except to be allowed to present its schedule of rates to each individual subscriber or non-subscriber and allow him or her to be governed by his or her own individual rights and needs and has asked no association to adopt the Columbiana County telephone to the exclusion of the Bell or any other telephone company. We leave this matter to the public and feel confident that after their mature deliberation the Columbiana County Telephone company will receive the support of all fair-minded people who desire fair play and legitimate competition.

Very Respectfully,

THE COLUMBIANA COUNTY TELEPHONE COMPANY, W. F. Crossley, Secretary and General Manager.

VETO POWER FOR GOVERNOR

Double Liability Will Cease And Each County Will Hereafter Have One Representative in the Legislature. All Needed Reforms.

It is a fortunate thing for the state that the supreme court has upheld the validity of the Longworth constitutional amendment act. Almost beyond the shadow of a doubt the decision means that the constitution will be revised and modernized. It means that the governor will be given the veto power; that holders of stock in Ohio corporations will no longer be held liable in double the amount represented by their shares, and that each county hereafter will have at least one representative in the lower house of the general assembly.

The governor of Ohio ought to have the veto power, says the Ohio State Journal. The conferring of such authority upon the chief executive will act as a wholesome check upon legislation and will lessen the chance of the enactment of foolish and vicious laws. The amendment upon which the voters will pass judgment on election day wisely provides that a bill may be passed over the governor's veto by a vote of two-thirds of the members of each branch of the legislature. Thus it makes the governor directly responsible for all legislation, while it does not make him an autocrat.

The double liability provision of the constitution has done more than any other one force to drive capital out of Ohio. It was made a part of the state's organic law when corporate business was little understood and before there was any just conception of the material advantage to the state of the investment of Ohio money in Ohio enterprises. We believe there is practically no opposition to the adoption of this amendment. There should be absolutely none.

It stands to reason that a lawmaker who represents but one county in the lower house of the legislature will give that county, where he himself makes his home, more intelligent thought and attention than he could possibly give it if it were but one county of a joint district represented by him. The adoption of the county representative amendment will stimulate local pride and assure the smaller counties of better treatment at the hands of the legislature.

The veto power amendment was approved by the Republican state convention and a brief statement of its purpose will be printed in the Republican ticket on the official ballot. The leader of the Democratic party has bolted his own platform in so far as to indorse this amendment. We agree with Mayor Johnson that both parties should unite to give the governor the veto power.

The double liability and county representative amendments were indorsed by both party conventions and either a straight Republican vote or a straight Republican vote will be counted for them. Their adoption is thus made certain.

These three amendments are needed to make of the half-century-old constitution a modern instrument.

DAMAGE CASE WAS SETTLED

Longshore's Suit for $5,000 Was Fixed Up, But Terms Are Not Known.

Lisbon, October 9.—(Special.)—The $5,000 damage case of J. C. Yongshore versus the W. J. Clark company of Salem,, which was assigned for hearing in the court yesterday, was settled. The terms of settlement were not given out.

Action in this case was begun June 19, 1900, when a petition was filed in court in behalf of the plaintiff by Attorney W. S. Anderson, of Youngstown, and A. W. Taylor and L. P. Metzger, of Salem. Longshore was an employe in the defendant company's machine shop and was so bady injured, being caught in the machinery, that his right arm had to be amputated on July 18, 1898, as a result of the accident.

Consul General Skinner Sails.

New York, Oct. 9.—Robert P. Skinner, United States consul general at Marseilles, who is about to visit King Menelek, in Abysinnia, to induce his country to be represented at the St. Louis exposition, and who will afterward make a tour of Abyssinia to study its conditions and resources with a view to promoting trade with America, sailed on the steamer La Touraine for Havre.

MARRIED MAN ELOPED

Ohio Merchant Charged With Leaving With Clerk in His Store.

WAS DELEGATE TO CONFERENCE

Kissed Wife and Daughter Goodbye—Arested in Iowa—Alleged He Was Short in Lodge Accounts—Requisition Papers Not Needed.

Wooster, O., Oct. 9.—Three weeks ago A. B. Gettleman, a merchant at Smithville, Wayne county, kissed his wife and daughter goodbye, and took a train for Norwalk, where he was to attend the Methodist conference as a delegate from the local church.

He failed to return and it was then observed that Mrs. Amanda Mishler, who was a clerk in his store, was also missing, and it was at once charged that they had eloped. Nothing was heard from either for nearly a week, when it was learned that Gettleman had visited his old home, at Mansfield, O., and borrowed money from old friends.

The next word that came from Gettleman was a letter from Marion, Ia., which, it is alleged, stated that he and Mrs. Mishler had been married. Mr. Mishler at once began proceedings for divorce.

It was alleged that Gettleman was short in his accounts as treasurer of the Masonic lodge, and steps were taken to cause his arrest. Word comes that Gettleman is in custody, and that he is penitent, and willing to come back without requisition papers. Sheriff Brown took a train for Iowa.

Arrange for Bowling Congress.

Cleveland, Oct. 9.—W. V. Thompson, of Chicago; Samuel Karpf, of Dayton; W. J. Kenna of Chicago, and Frank Baumeister, of Erie, Pa., met with local bowling authorities to arrange for the holding of the American bowling congress in this city the coming winter. The committee of three which has charge of the affairs of the national congress was increased to seven by the addition of four Cleveland men. The congress will be incorporated under the title of the Cleveland Bowling Tournament Association company. The committee in charge of the national tournament will meet to fix the place for holding the congress. Central armory, with a seating capacity of probably 5,000, has the call, and will likely be chosen.

Discuss New Constitution.

Canton, O., Oct. 9.—Practically the entire day was spent by the state convention of the W. C. T. U. in adopting a new constitution. The chief contention was over the powers to be vested in the board of trustees, which has heretofore controlled all the finances of the association. A compromise was reached providing that the board shall consist of three state vice presidents and three department superintendents and that the board shall incur no expense. The convention ordered that a fraternal delegate to be selected by the general officers be sent to the national meeting of the anti-saloon league.

Hotel Beat Goes to Workhouse.

Cleveland, Oct. 9.—Orville B. Smith was sentenced to pay a fine of $200 and to serve three months in the workhouse on the charge of defrauding an innkeeper. Smith contracted a bill at the Hollenden hotel and presented a fraudulent check in payment. The police produced conclusive proof that Smith by an almost unparalleled series of impositions had secured large sums of money by fraud in many of the larger cities. It was also shown that he has been engaged in questionable work in Columbus, Chicago, Detroit and New York city.

Struthers Plant Closed.

Youngstown, O., Oct. 9. — Acting under instructions from superior officers the plant of the American Sheet Steel company, at Struthers, was closed, and the employes paid in full. The only statement made is that the volume of business is not sufficient to have the mill continue in operation. The Struthers mill is one of the finest of the American Sheet Steel company's plants and employs a large number of men. No statement was made as to when the mill might resume.

In Search of Antarctic Expedition.

Buenos Ayres, Argentine Republic, Oct. 9.—The Argentine gunboat Uruguay, of 550 tons displacement, started for the Antarctic regions to search for the Swedish expedition headed by Dr. Otto Nordenskjold. The Nordenskjold expedition left Gothenburg, Sweden, Oct. 16, 1901, on the steamer Antarctic, and was last heard from Aug. 18, when the vessel was imprisoned in the ice.

Canadian Company Organized.

Hamilton, Ont., Oct. 9.—At a meeting presided over by George Westinghouse, the Canadian Westinghouse company, limited, was organized with a capital of $2,500,000. The officers elected were: George Westinghouse, president; H. H. Westinghouse and F. H. Taylor, vice presidents; Paul J. B. Myler, general manager and treasurer, John H. Kerr, secretary.

Mrs. Johnston Denies Her Guilt.

New York, Oct. 9.—Mrs. Mary Layton Johnston, who is charged with the embezzlement of several thousands of dollars from the United States Playing Card company, of Cincinnati, entered a plea of not guilty in the court of general sessions to five indictments charging forgery and grand larceny. Her counsel gave a notice of a motion to inspect the minutes of the grand jury, alleging that the defense had had no opportunity of presenting its side of the case. The defense insisted that an officer of the company is the guilty person and had witnesses in court Wednesday to support this contention. Bail was fixed at $7,500.

Gunboat Sunk by Explosion.

Montevido, Oct. 9.—The Uruguayan gunboat General Rivera, of 300 tons, has been sunk at Santa Barbara as the result of an explosion. Her commander was burned to death and many of her crew killed. The explosion occurred in the powder magazine. The General Rivera was an iron vessel 118 feet long and had 21-foot beam. She was built in 1891. Her armament consisted of two 4.7-inch Krupp breech-loading guns and two machine guns.

REAL JOHNSON ISSUE.

State Socialism "Moving Spirit" of All He Does.

THERE'S NO DEMOCRACY ABOUT IT

The Single Land Tax Exacts Common Ownership of All Real Estate, the Weight of Taxation "Taking It by Society For Social Needs"—Increasing Indignation Over It Among Democrats.

"The whole tendency of the movement which Mr. Johnson is engineering is in the direction of state socialism, which is the absolute antipode of genuine Democracy."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

This declaration from the greatest Democratic newspaper in the state will concentrate attention upon the real issue in Johnsonism. An increasing number, as the Enquirer says, "look with hesitation and doubt upon the socialistic and new-fangled doctrine which Mr. Johnson is advocating." As the Enquirer points out in its conclusion, "Whatever else they may be, these socialistic doctrines are the widest possible departure from the sound and seasoned Democracy of the Fathers."

This must be getting serious with Mr. Johnson. Two days after the Enquirer spoke he took pains in his speech at London to say: "I am not a socialist, I am an individualist, which is the exact opposite of socialism. The socialist believes that everything should be under government control, while I believe in the fullest opportunity of the individual."

Did Mr. Johnson mean what he said? Did he say what he meant? If he is against "government control," why did he permit his party platform, made according to his personal direction by one of his hired retainers, a Chicago socialist editor, to have a plank about "municipal ownership and operation," calling for laws to provide for that? If he does not know that this is socialism, he is a very blind leader of the blind. If he does know it, and he seeks to deceive the people, he deserves to be cast into outer darkness.

Still more plainly socialistic is the underlying spirit of the entire Johnson program. When he says that "with all my heart I answer, the doctrines of Henry George are the moving spirit of whatever I do;" and that all he was doing tended in the direction of the single land tax, that theory must be considered in connection with everything that Mr. Johnson does. He must be taken at his own word, or avow himself a falsifier. If "the philosophy of Henry George is the sovereign remedy for existing evils in both state and national affairs," as Johnson declared it to be a year ago, why is it not equally "sovereign" today? Why not then talk about it? Why dodge it? That it is part of the Johnson program is believed by practically all men, even of his own party.

The Columbus Citizen, which supports the Johnson ticket, refuses to support the constitutional amendment for classifying property for taxation, for fear that it will open to door for single land tax, should Johnson elect a legislature of his own kind. The Citizen declares that this theory is socialistic and even communistic and not binding upon Democrats. This amendment was to Johnson one of the most vital things in his party convention and its endorsement he demanded from first to last.

The Cincinnati Enquirer, referring to an article in its columns, says: "The writer says nothing specifically of the single tax, probably because that doctrine has been swallowed and merged in the more general and inclusive one of the socialistic party, and HENCEFORTH THEY MUST ALL BE RESISTED TOGETHER. It would, however, doubtless be of interest to our farmers to know where Mr. Johnson stands on the question of the ownership of farm lands."

If Johnson agrees with Henry George, he will tell the farmers of Ohio that "NOTHING SHORT OF MAKING LAND COMMON PROPERTY can permanently relieve poverty." George says, and Johnson is a George man, "WE MUST SUBSTITUTE FOR THE INDIVIDUAL OWNERSHIP OF LAND, A COMMON OWNERSHIP." George tells the farmers that "there is in nature no such thing as a fee simple in land, and that land owners are robbers." He says that the people will nationalize the land, "in a more direct and easy way than by purchase. They will not trouble themselves about compensating owners of lands." Johnsonism, therefore, proposes to take the farms and homes from the owners without paying them for their property. The single land tax is to be used to do this.

In Mr. George's words: "All that is necessary to do is to abolish all other forms of taxation, until THE WEIGHT OF TAXATION RESTS UPON THE VALUE OF LAND, irrespective of improvement and take the ground rent for the public benefit." This is Johnson's "just taxation," according to Henry George. These things are to be done in the sacred name of justice, the very one that Johnson conjures with, for George says: "What can be more in accordance with Justice than that THE VALUE OF LAND SHOULD BE TAKEN BY SOCIETY FOR SOCIAL NEEDS?"

What is all this but socialism, the supremacy of society? Yet, this is Tom Johnson's "sovereign remedy."

"Home Rule" For Cincinnati Is None of Johnson's Business.

Was not 24,000 majority against his men last year in Cincinnati enough for Tom Johnson to teach him that the people there know their own business? Must they make it 30,000 or 40,000 again this year, or make it unanimous? Does he not get it through his head that he is mayor only of Cleveland, and not of the state of Ohio, nor even of Cincinnati.

"Home rule" is one of Mr. Johnson's pet fads. He has gone up and down through the state last year and this, with all the noise that could be got out of his burly frame and the red devil, declaring that every city in the state should be free to do as it please, irrespective of any act of the Ohio legislature. And yet, every time in the same speech he has made an equal clamor about the curative act, so-called, always speaking of it as if it were exclusively a Cincinnati measure. If it belongs to Cincinnati and Cincinnati is to have "home rule" according to Johnson, where does he come in?

His candidate at the head of his state ticket last year lived in Cincinnati. Johnson campaigned through that city in his behalf. This very matter was enlarged upon for all it was worth, more in fact than the people approved. The Cincinnati vote is the best evidence. Bigelow was the worst beaten candidate Hamilton county has ever had. That is the "home rule" verdict on the curative act.

IT HELPED IN RUSSIA.

"Noble and Heroic Attitude of Roosevelt and Hay."

Mr. J. B. Greenhut of Peoria, Ill., who has been abroad investigating the cause of the massacre at Kisheney and the present condition of the Jews under Russian despotism, in his official report, gives this splendid praise from all who know the facts:

"However, what impressed and gratified me most was the statement and concensus of opinion of all these men—namely, that while the relief funds which were so generously forwarded from all parts of the world were indeed welcome, as it enabled them to give material assistance to those poor creatures whose all had been destroyed and who, if the early assistance had not been received, would have starved to death, but above all they said what they prized and welcomed most was the noble and heroic attitude taken by President Roosevelt and Secretary Hay in their behalf. They said over and over again that the moral influence exerted through the action taken by our Administration could not be enforced officially, it nevertheless had immediate effect on the Russian government, and resulted in a change of the governor and the officials generally in Kisheney, who are said to be less harsh to the Jewish population than their predecessors had been."

CONFESSED TO CRIME

Bank Messenger Gets Away With Several Thousand Dollars.

MADE WEDDING TOUR TO COAST

Bonding Company Settles With Bank—Actions of Young Man Arouse Suspicions of Police—Had Less Than a Hundred When Arrested.

Milwaukee, Oct. 9.—Arthur C. Nagel, said to have absconded from Buffalo with $2,500 on June 20, and who was arrested on suspicion, has confessed. The young man worked for a Buffalo bank, and it was his duty to carry large sums of money from one bank to another.

Nagel arrived in Milwaukee shortly after leaving Buffalo, and two weeks later was married to Miss Frances McGintley, of Fond du Lac, Wis., the wedding being performed in Chicago. The young couple and a friend of the bride then left for a wedding tour on the Pacific coast, and returned to Milwaukee 11 days ago.

The actions of the young man created suspicion in police circles and he was watched. His money was evidently giving out, as he began pawning some of the valuable gems which he had purchased for his bride. Detectives then arrested him on suspicion. Only $74 of the $2,500 could be found; Nogel claimed that he had spent the balance.

Buffalo, Oct. 9.—Nagel was employed as a messenger by the Third National bank, of this city. On June 20 he was given a package containing $2,500 for delivery at the clearing house. Another bank messenger accompanied Nagel to the door of the stairway leading up to the clearing house. The money was not deposited, and an hour later, when the Third National bank was notified, the police were asked to find Nagel. A bonding company settled with the bank.

A resolution was adopted authorizing Speyer & Co., of New York, to take possession of the various plants of the company at the Soo, mortgaged to the Central Trust company, of New York, trustee, under the mortgage dated Jan. 1, 1903, which secured the Speyer loan of $5,050,000, provided that Speyer & Co. grant an extension of time for the sale of the collateral of these companies, which they hold, 60 days beyond Oct. 15. The company will give possession as soon as Speyer & Co.'s consent to the extention is obtained.

Color Line Drawn in Football.

Crawfordsville, Ind., Oct. 9.—Manager Eller, of the Wabash football league, received a letter from H. L. Dr. Kane, of Wabash college, said that the game had best be canceled and must be unless a distinct understanding that Gordon was to be allowed to play is reached. The game has been canceled.

Arrested for Wife Murder.

Cleveland, Oct. 9. — John Bennett, colored, was arrested when he arrived from Oberlin, on the charge of murdering his wife. The dead body of the woman was found in a cellar at Oberlin. A doctor found that carbolic acid had been poured down the woman's throat, which was burned out by the poison. A chunk of blood-stained coal was found near the body. Her head had been beaten in with this. Then her throat had been cut. Bennett denies the charge against him.

Opera House Burned.

Binghamton, N. Y., Oct. 9.—2 a. m.—Fire which started at 1 a. m. on the stage of Stone's opera house has completely gutted the structure, entailing a loss of $150,000. Paul Gilmore's company played "The Mummy and the Humming Bird" last night. Part of the company's scenery is said to have been destroyed. It is thought the insurance will nearly cover the loss.

NOT BY ACCIDENT

Was a Henry George Man Nominated For State Senator.

Howe of Cuyahoga Not Even a Democrat—His Single Tax Sentiments Made Public by Clarke—Howe of Franklin for House of Representatives.

It was not by accident that Tom L. Johnson put a single taxer upon the Democratic ticket in Cuyahoga county, especially so since his nominee was not known as a Democrat until a few months ago. The first name on his list for state senator is Frederic C. Howe, and that he is a single taxer has been kept completely quiet. The fact was discovered in a curious way. The statement appears as incidentally made in a legal brief filed in September, 1901, by Mr. Johnson's present running partner, John H. Clarke, as general solicitor of the Nickel Plate railroad. Something in the same secret way was the nomination by the Franklin county Democrats of a candidate for the legislature who proves to be a single taxer—Frank H. Howe, running for representative.

How many more single taxers have been secretly selected by Johnson and put upon the Democratic ticket for the legislature without the party knowing of their peculiarity is difficult to determine. It is safe to say, however, that the emissaries of the Single Tax league that Johnson has had running around the state for months past, have not been kept busy without definite purpose and some result for their toil. The single taxers are likely to undermine and capture the other Democrats in the Ohio legislature if there is any chance to accomplish anything, in the same way that the Zimmerman forces were undermined and overthrown in the Johnson state convention. This is a feature of the campaign that may acquire prominence.

It is perhaps more than a curious coincidence that Mr. Clarke's brief, showing that Mr. Howe had been a single taxer for a number of years, was one filed by him in regard to the valuation of the Nickel Plate railroad for taxation, being his argument to the state board of equalization for railroads. "Replying to the argument filed with this honorable board by Hon. Tom L. Johnson on Sept. 5th," 1901, to use Mr. Clarke's language, he proceeded to demolish every point in Johnson's position on railroad taxation, both then and now.

WORKEDTOO WELL.

$20,000000 Added to Cuyahoga County Tax Duplicate.

TOM JOHNSON JUMPED THEM

His County Commissioners Commence Their Career By an Attack on the Board of Tax Review—Diligent Devotion to Duty Did Not Protect Them or the Laws of Ohio Shield Them.

No one can help connecting Tom L. Johnson's personal tax returns in Cleveland with one of the first acts of Johnson board of commissioners of Cuyahoga county. Their raid upon the county board of review which is so effectively and vigorously revising the tax returns, particularly for personal property in Cleveland, may have been made for various reasons. One of the most apparent of these is that in the natural course of its work the board of review was getting around pretty close to Mr. Johnson himself. They might want him to tell how, as a man of millions of wealth, he reconciled that fact with his report under oath of only $13,755 of personal property subject to tax in the city where he is mayor. They might insist upon pointing out that so far as known he has no investment in any Ohio enterprises that would pay taxes direct, as is the case with Senator Hanna and Colonel Herrick, so that practically his entire personal wealth is subject to assessment and taxation under the laws of Ohio, which he has sworn to support and enforce.

This might prove awkward to the leader of a crusade of righteousness in "just taxation." Consequently a short cut would be to get rid of the board of review. They have been doing their work too well. They have called corporation after corporation before them and raised their tax returns very materially, and have been so well fortified with facts that the corporations have seen no escape from the conclusions that the board of review forced upon them. The public service corporations have had their assessments raised very considerably, and particularly so Mr. Johnson's own special pet, even the natural gas company, owned by the Standard Oil company, to which he gave a perpetual city franchise with peculiar privileges. As a result of this work, in less than two years' service, at a cost to the county of only $18,000 for the two years, the board of review has added $20,000,000 to the tax duplicate of Cuyahoga county. Its members have worked diligently zealously and with such discretion that the courts have changed none of their figures.

All of this, however, did not avail. The Johnson county commissioners went after them at the first chance. The commissioners could not legislate them out of office, because the state of Ohio put them in their present position, and fixed the term of their service. But Cuyahoga county employed them, and named the salary it would give them. If this salary were cut low enough it might drive them out of office, and make a place for three Johnson men, who would obey his orders. The present members, J. B. Molyneaux, Robert Simpson and F. A. Sarstedt, were all appointed and accepted office with the salary of $2,500 a year for each. This was little enough for men qualified to do the duties that devolved upon them. They are doing their work well according to general agreement. They are earning every cent they have been paid, but the Johnson board of commissioners have voted that they can have only $900 each per year. Cleveland men at that price won't be fit for the job. The act itself suggests sinister motives.

More than that, though, is the fact that in trying to drive this board of review out of office, one of them a Democrat of recognized party service, the Johnson commissioners deprive Cuyahoga county of the only power to revise the tax returns in that county. The state law does not give the county auditor any right to add anything to the duplicate, except when taxes have been omitted. Consequently this act is a blow at the tax duplicate of Cuyahoga county. It is in absolute defiance of all the Johnson talk about "just taxation," showing it to be a sham and a fraud.

STRAY SHOTS.

One Ohio Democratic paper observes that the farmers of Ohio "are studying the tax figures which have been constantly growing during the last decade." As the state tax has been reduced more than one-half in the past two years, following further reductions under Republican rule, this Democratic must be a Rip Van Winkle who hasn't wakened up yet.

No pressure from Bryan will sweeten the dose for the Ohio silver men, when they remember how Clarke railed at them when he was a gold bug. Nor have Cal Brice's friends forgotten the bitterness of Clarke's abuse of the leader they have lost.

A thousand employes of the natural gas company which operates in Cleveland under a perpetual franchise Tom L. Johnson got for it while mayor, with peculiar privileges, are expected to re-enforce the voting power of the Johnson machine at the November election. A man to get a job there needs to of be o. k.d by a Johnson boss. Such is Johnson "home rule" reform.

SSS THE BEST TONIC

In S. S. S. Nature has provided a tonic suited to every requirement of the system when in a debilitated, run down condition. It contains no strong minerals or drugs, but is a pleasant vegetable preparation. You can find no better remedy for toning up the nerves and bringing refreshing, restful sleep when in a low state of health, or sick and worn out with work or worry.

S. S. S. improves the appetite, aids the digestion and reinforces the system, and its good effects are seen almost from the first dose. It acts promptly in cases of chronic dyspepsia, indigestion and all stomach troubles, and does away with the uncomfortable fullness, nausea, shortness of breath, drowsiness and dizziness that so often come after eating.

I have no hesitancy in recommending your S. S. S. as the best Spring tonic on the market. I have used many other medicines, but find S. S. S. to be undoubtedly the only tonic that will build up the system. I shall take pleasure in telling all whom I think in need of a good blood tonic of your medicine.
Yours truly, LEWIS S. FIEBER.
Care Stoll, Hamilton & Co. Lexington, Ky.

S. S. S. is not only the best tonic but possesses alterative or purifying properties, and if there is any taint, humor or poison in the blood it searches it out, and removes it. Many times a low state of health is due to a bad condition of the blood and can only be remedied by a blood purifier and tonic combined, or such a remedy as S. S. S.

If you suffer from debility, insomnia, nervousness, loss of appetite, bad digestion, or any of the symptoms of a disordered blood, nothing will so soon put your blood in good condition, invigorate and tone up the system as S. S. S.

Sex Characteristics.

Have you ever noticed in a fashionable crowd how much like men the women are and how much like women the men? It is not that the men are really effeminate or the women really masculine, as a keen observer once put it, but there is, nevertheless, a curious approximation in type. It may be to some extent a matter of dress. Women affect the mannish in their costume, men in summer seek more color. But it is not dress alone. The woman's face seems stronger and the man's less sensual than it would have been even a century ago. The figure, too, has changed. The man is less gross, the woman more athletic, and both are taller.—London Tatler.

Lion Cubs as Pets.

The most attractive household pets in the entire animal kingdom are said to be very young lion cubs. They are docile, affectionate and quick to learn tricks, it is said, besides being very decorative, considered merely as an article of furniture. Persons who have adopted young lions as pets and enjoyed their society for any length of time are ever after intolerant of any animal so tame and uninteresting as a dog or a cat.

A Quaint Sort of Wedding.

When a marriage takes place among the Negritos, a people of the Philippine Islands, the whole tribe assembles, and the affianced pair climb two trees growing close together. Then the elders bend the branches that the young folks are on till their heads meet. When the heads have thus touched each other the marriage is legally accomplished, and there are great rejoicings. A fantastic dance completes the ceremony.

The Handy Boy.

"Willie, you may finish this piece of pie if you want it," said mother. "It isn't enough to save."

"Mother," said Willie when he had finished it, "a boy in the family comes in very handy when there is a little bit of pie left over, doesn't he?"—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Would Not Insure Him.

Insurance Companies would not insure the Rev. J. W. Yeisley because he had Kidney Trouble.

Mr. Yeisley was much discouraged till a friend recommended Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy and it cured him. Mr. Yeisley writes:

"My kidneys and liver were in bad condition and I was anxious for relief. I had tried many remedies without success. I bought a bottle of 'Favorite Remedy,' which effectively proved its merit. The best proof that it has completely cured me is my recent acceptance by four different life insurance companies."

The Rev. Mr. Yeisley is the pastor of the First Reformed Church of St. Paris, Ohio, and is as well the editor of the St. Paris Dispatch.

There is no question that Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is the best and surest medicine in the world for diseases of the kidneys, liver, bladder and blood, rheumatism, dyspepsia and chronic constipation, as well as the weaknesses peculiar to women. It quickly relieves and cures inability to hold urine and the necessity of getting up a number of times during the night and puts an end to that scalding pain when passing urine.

What You Ought To Know About Ohio Tax Laws

LAWYER THORNDIKE AND FARMER PERKINS

NUMBER FOUR (To Be Completed in Ten Numbers).

TAXATION OF MONEY AND CREDITS.

FARMER PERKINS—The Ohio tax list requires the value of all moneys in possession, or on deposit, on the days preceding the second Monday of April, to be returned. Is that done as required by law?

Lawyer Thorndike—It is not. Those persons who have any conscience in tax matters (and that number is growing smaller each year) pay out all their moneys before that day, but the most of them pay no attention to the matter. Some of them ease their consciences by saying to themselves they owe as much as they have money on hand, and hence make no return, but in fact very little money is returned. In the country townships and in some city districts money is returned because its presence is known and because of the return of some amount prevents an inquiry by the boards of equalization.

Farmer Perkins—Is there no way to compel or force citizens to return their money on hands on grand levy day?

Lawyer Thorndike — Practically, there is not. The laws as to penalties for non-return, or insufficient return, are a dead letter. The tax penalties are never enforced. The return of moneys for taxation is with some a matter of conscience, and with all others it is a matter of how to escape inquiry from the boards of review.

The practical working of the law since 1846, for fifty-seven years, has been that money can not be reached. The state ought not to attempt to tax that which it can not reach, as the attempt is demoralizing to the state and to the taxbearer.

Farmer Perkins—How about the return of credits under item 14 of the Ohio tax list?

Lawyer Thorndike — The average taxbearer will only return such credits as he believes the public has knowledge of. If he thinks his credits are not known to the public, he will return none.

The policy of the law is to induce the taxbearer to secrete all his business from the public, and he does it right well. The state has no method to compel the taxbearer to state his credits and return the same. Any method it might adopt would be more expensive than the amount of taxes realized, and hence the law is incapable of enforcement, except in a case here and there. These exceptional cases, where there is an attempt to enforce it, simply call attention to its injustice. It is wrong and unjust to enforce it in one instance and leave it unenforced in a thousand other cases. The citizen against whom it is enforced feels that it is spite work on the part of the taxing officers, because his neighbors escape, and he is soured for life. He determines that he will never be caught a second time and he never is. He becomes a student of the subject, "How to Escape Taxation," and as the lesson is readily and easily learned, he becomes a master in it. I give an instance: One spinster returned $5,000 credits for years. The county auditor thought she ought to have returned $10,000, and tried to make her do it. He failed and she left the state. The tax on the $5,000 which she had returned for years was purely a voluntary contribution on her part for the sake of peace. She could have escaped it from the start, but when the taxing officers sought to compel her to double her burden, she learned how to avoid taxation and practiced it. By doing it she saved $100 per year, which she learned she might have saved for years before. She despises the Ohio system, and rightfully, too. A spasmodic enforcement of the law is worse than none at all.

Farmer Perkins—What has been the effect of the attempt to tax credits in Ohio?

Lawyer Thorndike—It has kept up the rate of interest on loans nearly 2 per cent above what it would have been had there been no attempt to make credits a subject of taxation.

The state expected to obtain this excess of interest in taxes, but it never obtained it and never will. The creditor class exacts it from the debtor class for the risk of being taxed, which is really avoided. The theory of taxation of credits (for it is a theory only) increases the burdens of debtors. Were it not for the attempted taxation of credits in Ohio, money could be borrowed at from 3 to 5 per cent. The policy of the state in this respect simply keeps up the rate of interest and fails to bring in the revenue it was intended to bring.

The allowing of debts to be exempted from credits practically excuses the taxbearer from returning any credits. It is easy to create debts for taxation purposes and they are so created. I knew a citizen once who had $5,000 in credits. He had a son whom he was obliged to support. He gave that son a non-negotiable note for $5,000, and paid him the interest on it. Thus he escaped taxation on his $5,000 credits, and in a perfectly legal way. It is perhaps unnecessary to say that the son never listed the $5,000 note for taxation. The tax authorities never knew of it and never suspected the son of having any money and so he escaped.

No citizen who has any self-respect will disclose his real financial condition on a tax list, and yet if the Ohio tax list were made out as the law intended, every citizen's real financial condition would be made public to the tax assessor, to the county auditor, and to the public.

If the taxpayer is rich he desires to conceal the fact from the taxing officers to avoid the payment of taxes. He does this to the best of his ability, and wonderful ability is displayed in that direction.

If he is involved, but doing business and in fair credit, he will not disclose his condition, because it would be ruin to do so. If the state of Ohio could compel its taxbearers to disclose their actual condition, it would precipitate failures enough to bankrupt one-half the people. The law seeking to compel men to disclose their financial condition on a tax list is, therefore, a failure, and will be less respected and less observed the better it is known.

Farmer Perkins—What as to item 15, moneys invested in bonds, stocks, joint companies, etc.?

Lawyer Thorndike—If the taxbearer thinks his business is known to the public, he will return these articles, if he has them. If not, he will not return them. Shrewd business men do not allow their ownings, or holdings, known to the public and hence do not return this class of items, except sufficient to preclude inquiry.

If compelled to return them one year, they disappear the next and are reported as invested in exempt securities.

Farmer Perkins—What about the sixteenth item of the tax list, money converted into United States bonds?

Lawyer Thorndike—This is an unwarranted attempt on the part of the state to pry into the affairs of individuals. It is to keep tab on his money and the manner of its investment. In practice, the taxbearer gives or refrains from giving the information called for as he deems proper. If he thinks his transactions are public, he gives the information. If he has kept his affairs secret, he does not give it.

The same is true as to bonds exempt from taxation on the top of page 3 of the tax list. If the taxbearer once reports them, the assessor will expect to see the same amount each year, or have it accounted for.

If once the taxbearer in Ohio makes a full return of credits, bonds, etc., and then lessens the amount, he is hounded by the taxing officers year after year, to know what he has done with them, and no explanation but insolvency, or removal from the state, will be sufficient to stop the persecution.

If a citizen makes a large return and then wishes to reduce it, it would be advisable to take up his domicile in another state.

Farmer Perkins—Can you give me an instance where by official reports money and credits are shown in any particular county and then the true amount of money and credits is known?

Lawyer Thorndike—On page 272 of the state auditor's report, 1901, is a table of moneys returned from the several counties. On page 274 is the table of credits. Add the two together, then obtain the national bank deposits from the report of the comptroller of the currency, the report of the deposits of the private banks from the state auditor's report, then add the deposits of the building associations in the county, and the difference between this total and the amounts given in the reports will disclose what money in the county escapes taxation. If some enterprising newspaper in the state would work this out as to each of the 88 counties, it would be the most startling fact ever published. I worked the problem in a single county for 1902, and found that 33 per cent of the aggregate of deposits by the banks and building associations for the selected year were returned as moneys and credits. Of the aggregate of moneys and credits, moneys made 11 per cent and credits 22 per cent. If the people of the state wish to know these facts, they lie right before them.

The amount of moneys and credits in Ohio, shown by the official reports of banks and building associations in 1902 as not being returned for taxation, is over $257,000,000, and this is nearly all in moneys. A careful examination would likely develop $100,000,000 more.

PREPARING A NEW TAX LAW.

The Ohio State Board of Commerce is preparing a new tax law which it will propose to the General Assembly when the pending taxation constitutional amendment has been adopted by the people. The purpose of this board is to establish in this state the best tax system in the United States. It expects to make Ohio the best state in the Union in which to earn a living own an investment or operate a business. When this is done there will be no tax inquisitor laws.

How to Reach the Public

In the course of a recent lecture in Hartfort, Conn., on "The Making of a Newspaper," Charles Hopkins Clark of the Courant said:

"How are you going to get at the public? Mail them circulars, and the wastebaskets in 10,000 homes give each a weary yawn, and the circular disappears unread. Call upon the people and explain the merits of your wares? The sign 'Our Busy Day' hangs in business offices; in private houses you must ring the bell. Offener you are turned away.

"But put a cleverly worded advertisement of these wares in a newspaper that has an established circulation in the city's home and business houses and see what happens. You couldn't get in there yourself, but your advertisement is there on the breakfast table, in the library, in the parlor, in the sewing room, and when everybody is inquiring for the paper which can't be found it is very likely doing duty on the quiet in the kitchen.

"It is all over the house and wanted there. You are not. And, similarly, at the office it is read and reread, and part of the use of 'This Is Our Busy Day' sign is to get a chance to read the papers. And it is interesting to note the advertisement has another than a commercial use. It is printed for business purposes pure and simple, but it is often re... as news."

This paper goes into the offices and homes of the people not as an intruder, but as a welcome visitor. It will take your announcements much cheaper than you can send them to any considerable number on circulars which will be thrown away after a glance.

Good Points In Dogs.

Among the many canine qualities worthy of imitation a lover of the "four footed brothers" emphasizes their contented resignation to the circumstances of life. Dogs, he says, do not go about trying to do good to other dogs by urging them to bark in the same key and bite with the same tooth as themselves, nor, which is a merciful provision of nature, do they become bored by the people with whom their lot is cast and want to try a new master every few months. Whatever the disadvantages of their homes may be, they stand by them and make a cheerful best of it. Over and again a dog puts his heart before his outraged stomach and lets his affections dominate his indigestion rather than desert his master for a better board. Many a master, concludes the dog champion, would do well to emulate in points like these the meanest of his "little yellow curs."

How to Take Coffee.

The London Lancet commends the practice of drinking coffee after dinner, as coffee is an antidote to alcohol. Those whose digestions are disturbed by the use of hot coffee are advised to secure the advantages of its stimulating properties by taking it in the form of jelly. We are assured that a clear coffee jelly after dinner is every bit as good as the hot infusion, while it is free from some of its drawbacks. Coffee, unlike alcohol, diminishes organic waste, rouses the muscular energy without the collapse which follows alcoholic imbibition, and gelatin in the form of jelly is cooling, assuages thirst, is soothing and has a tendency to absorb any excessive acidity of the stomach.

JOHNSON'S CHIEF OFFICE-HOLDERS AS TAX-EATERS.

How the 106 Principal Members of Mayor Johnson's Political Machine Pay Into the Cuyahoga County Treasury This Year an Aggregate of Only $1,238.33 In Taxes. These Same Officials Draw Out of the City and County Treasuries the Sum of $296,756 Each Year In Salaries.

In view of the fact that Mayor Johnson, who would like to be governor of Ohio, has made "just taxation," as he understands it, one of the three issues of the present campaign, it would be interesting to know just what Mr. Johnson and his followers mean by "just taxation," says the Cleveland Leader. The great "single-taxer" has never seen fit to state what the phrase means, and how he would bring about a reform in taxation methods which would equalize the burden and be fair to every taxpayer in the state. A large number of the people of Ohio believe that Mayor Johnson's idea of taxation is a radical reform along the lines laid down by Henry George, and better known as the single tax; this not only embraces a tax upon land alone, for all purposes of revenue, but also a confiscation of property values, which would place the burden of taxation upon the small land owner and take it away from the rich man with his millions invested in invisible securities.

Whether or not Mayor Johnson contemplates as radical a reform as this, this much is sure, that the tax record of the mayor and his officeholders in Cuyahoga county proves that their cry of "just taxation" is inconsistent with their public record in the matter of tax returns. In the following table it will be seen that 106 of the Democratic officeholders of the mayor's city and county machine and candidates draw annual salaries amounting to $296,756, and return for taxation their personal property at $41,195. This record includes the salary and personal tax return of the mayor himself, and a perusal of the record will show that the mayor's reputed millions are not listed, and that one of his officeholders, City Treasurer Coffinberry, returns $4,780 more for taxation than Mayor Johnson.

The whole amount paid in personal taxes by the 106 officeholders is only $1,238.33, and when it is remembered that these same officeholders draw from the city and county treasuries salaries amounting to $296,756, it would seem that the Johnson administration was a tax-eating and not a tax-paying organization. Only a few of the Johnson officeholders are named in the table, as it must be remembered that the city payrolls contain about 3,200 Johnson followers.

The tax rate in the city before Mayor Johnson started his crusade for "just taxation" was $2.67 per $100 valuation, and for the year 1902 the tax rate was $3.05 on each $100 valuation, and this year it will be $3.01 on each $100, on an estimated duplicate of $200,000,000. This is despite the fact that over half the state tax in Cleveland has been taken off. Besides that the city's bonds were at a high premium when Johnson came in. Now, after all his agitation, the bonds of Cleveland go begging for buyers and can scarcely be sold at par.

The bonded indebtedness of the city has been increased by Mayor Johnson from about $13,000,000 to $17,000,000, and other schemes which have originated in the fertile brain of the city's chief executive will increase this bonded indebtedness $10,000,000 more if he is allowed to carry them out.

It would seem that Mayor Johnson, at least would be consistent enough to return a reasonable part of his reputed invisible millions for taxation as long as he makes his principal political play on the inequalities of the present system, and claims that the corporations and the rich are escaping their just share of the tax burden. The matter of a high tax rate is of little concern to the mayor and his followers as long as they can escape listing their own property for taxation. Following is the table compiled from the official records in the court house and the city hall Sept. 1, showing the amounts the leading Johnson officeholders consume in salaries, and the amounts they pay back to the county in personal taxes, meanwhile trying to make political capital out of their inconsistent cry of "just taxation":

Committee Appointed to Frame Constitution—Federation Will Arbitrate, Adjudicate and Conduct Trades Affairs—Prominent Workers Attend.

Indianapolis, Oct. 9.—Leading representatives of the national and international organizations of building and repairing trades met in conference for the purpose of bringing their respective organizations into an international federation, having for its object the arbitration, adjudication and conduct of building trades affairs.

Among those attending are: M. P. Carrick, secretary and treasurer of the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paper Hangers; James Hannahan, grand trustee of the International Union of Steam Engineers; P. Guggins, president of the National Union of Bricklayers and Masons; J. R. Cavanaugh and W. A. O'Keefe, president and secretary treasurer of the Operative Plasterers International association; Frank Buchanan, president of the Bridge and Structural Iron Workers' International union; Herman Lilien, president of the International Hod Carriers and Building Laborers' union; Frank Duffy, secretary, and Thomas Neale, treasurer of the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, and John Maloney and S. B. French, of the electrical workers. They represent 700,000 workmen.

A committee was appointed to frame a skeleton constitution to be submitted to the conference. It consists of M. P. Carrick, P. Larson, Joseph Carey, W. J. Spencer, J. G. Hannahan, George Gubbins and Thomas Maloney.

A committee on rules was named, consisting of W. M. R. Tilden, T. Neale, Herman Lilien, Frank Buchanan and W. O'Keefe.

There is a very general disposition among all of the delegates to have the new international federation work in perfect harmony with the American Federation of Labor and other national federations in which different ones of the building trades are represented. All of the organizations propose to remain in their present federation alliances and to pay their per capita assessments.

HELD AT BAY BY LUNATIC.

Passenger Becomes Deranged on Train and Leaps Through Window.

Crawfordsville, Ind., Oct. 9.—Wesley Hedges, traveling on a Big Four train, accompanied by his wife and three children, en route frohm Jacksonville, Va., to La Harpe, Ill., suddenly became deranged while on the train, and after arriving here held the police at bay for a long time.

While the train was running 50 miles an hour Hedges suddenly gave a wild scream, and seizing one of his children, plunged through the car window into the darkness. His wife grabbed the boy just as the man disappeared.

The trainmen stopped the train and with the assistance of the passengers a torchlight search along the track was made. The searchers soon came on Hedges lying near a telegraph pole. He was picked up for dead and placed in the baggage car and brought to this city. Shortly after arriving here he began to show signs of life. Left in the station unguarded, Hedges again became violent and sprang out of the station and ran down the streets pursued by the whole police force. Large stones which he picked up he used in keeping his pursuers at bay. He was finally overpowered and taken to jail.

During his stay in Washington he will be the guest of General and Mrs. Corbin, and will improve the opportunity to visit the battlefields of Antietam, Gettysburg and Chickamauga.

AGAINST PUBLIC POLICY TO ENFORCE SUCH CONTRACTS AS BENJ. J. JONES MADE

Judge Hole Instructs the Jury to for Find Defendant in Irondale Slot Machine Case.

Lisbon, October 9.—(Special.)—At the conclusion of the argument in the slot machine case in which Benjamin J. James, of Irondale, as plaintiff, against S. S. Creadon, sought to recover damages for trouble he got into through Creadon's machine, which the latter had placed in James' billiard room, Judge Hole instructed the jury to return a verdict for the defendant.

As the case touches an interesting point with reference to the farming out of slot machines regarded as gambling devices, Judge Hole's charge to the jury in the case will be of interest. It follows in full:

"In this case the plaintiff undertakes to recover from the defendant the sum of $120 which he claimed was incurred by reason of the use of a gambling machine which he placed in his place of business at the request of the defendant. His claim is that the defendant represented to him that the machine was a lawful device, but that he furthermore guaranteed to pay any expenses which might be occasioned if it should appear that it was not a lawful machine. Now, it becomes my duty under this state of the facts, and from the testimony of the plaintiff himself to say to you that it is your duty to return a verdict for the defendant. And perhaps for the benefit of jury and counsel both I might state why I feel bound to give you this instruction.

"It is against public policy for courts to enforce a contract of that kind. At the most it was a contract to pay for something which was unlawful. Admitting, as the plaintiff claims—and I think he told the truth when he testified on the stand as to what the contract was—admitting that to be true and admitting that there were representations that this was an innocent device, yet the contract was that if it should thereafter appear that it was not a legal device then the defendant should pay damages for the illegal use.

SMITH'S HORSE WON A NOTABLE VICTORY

Wood Girl a Winner At Coshocton and Has a Most Promising Future.

C. A. Smith returned from Coshocton this morning where he attended the county fair and witnessed a race won by one of his trotters, Wood Girl. He says that the fair was attended by more than 15,000 people and was one of the most successful ever held in Coshocton county.

The race in which Wood Girl landed a victory was entered by six other horses and was the interesting feature of the fair. Wood Girl won the race with a mark of 2:25¼ and had her competitors distanced in the last heat.

Local horsemen say that Wood Girl has a most promising future, and concede her to be the fastest mare of her class in this section of the country. Her limit is not known and it is expected that she will rank among the best trotters in the country in a few more seasons. This year was her first venture upon a race track and she has won steadily, getting a third race at Salem and Pulaski. She is a pretty animal and is admired by all.

ATTACKED BY FOUR MEN

Lying in a pool of blood, which had poured from numerous cuts inflicted about his face, neck and head, George Walker, employed as an engraver at McNicol's pottery, was found in a helpless condition near Walsh's hotel on Sixth street last evening by Officer Dawson at about 7:30 o'clock. The man was immediately taken to central police station in the patrol wagon.

Dr. C. B. Ogden, the city physician, was summoned to attend the injured man and upon a hasty examination pronounced him not fatally hurt, but in a rather serious condition. The physician cleansed the wounds, all of them ugly and giving to him a ghastly appearance. The most serious hurt was discovered to be on the back of his head, where a deep gash had been made. The wounds were patched and by that time he had regained his senses sufficiently to partially explain the cause of his undesirable plight.

To Chief Wyman Walker stated that he had been assaulted by four men with whom he had been arguing over the merits of the Boston and Pittsburg base ball teams. He said that he was championing Boston and the quartet was rooting for Pittsburg. The dispute ended in a general fight, in which Walker claims one of the men struck him in the head with a hand billy, and after felling him to the ground the entire bunch beat and kicked him into a state of unconsciousness. He could not remember the names of any of them and could not give a very good description of them.

Mayor Weaver also hear the man's story, and as it is unlawful for men to fight and Walker acknowledged that he was in it the mayor assessed a fine of $5 on him. Walker paid it and though weak from the loss of blood and excitement started toward his home. En route there he was met by

Declares He will Not Pay a Fine Imposed By Plasterers' Union.

Not the First Case of the Kind, Says the Councilman—He Proposes to Resist the Demand to the Bitter End.

There is trouble brewing in Local Union No. 42 of the Operative Plasterers' organization. It seems that conditions have been growing toward the outbreak which is promised for at least a year. What the result will be is not known at the present time, but one of the aggrieved parties stated this morning that unless action taken by the local is not rescinded in a very short time grave conditions will exist.

The aggrieved party is Councilman Hugh Johnston, the well known contractor. Mr. Johnston conducts an extensive business and has considerable dealings with the members of the plasterers' union. Through the mail this morning Mr. Johnston received a communication from the secretary of the union stating that he had been fined $50 for permitting Ervin Windle to serve him in the capacity of a plasterer. Windle not being a member of the local. Johnston was very much worked up over the letter and expressed himself very forcibly on the matter. He claims that the action of the local was done for spite and that it is outrageous. He says that he made application to the local for Windle's admission to it and that the request was refused.

"I will not pay the fine," said Mr. Johnston, "and the local will not dare to press the case. The members know full well what the result would be. About a year ago I was fined $25 on a similar case, and because I was in such a fix that I could not allow my work to stop I was compelled to pay it."

Mr. Johnston says he cannot escape trouble by persisting in the non-payment of the assessment. It means simply that no man belonging to the union can work for him until it is paid. He says the objection raised to admitting Windle into the union is that he is too old. "There will be something doing," continued Mr. Johnston. "I am not in a position to state what it will be right now, but within a few days everything will be settled, and I won't pay the $50 either. It is high time that my contemplated action was taken and I propose to take it."

NO EVIDENCE THAT HE WAS A PARTNER

A. D. Matteson Loses in His Suit for Part of Thomas Hamilton's Drug Business.

Lisbon, October 9.—(Special)—Probate Judge J. A. Martin has given his opinion in the case of the heirs of the late Thomas Hamilton, of Wellsville, and A. D. Matteson, now of Salem. Mr. Hamilton was in the drug business at Wellsville and early last April took in A. D. Matteson, either as employe or as a partner. When Mr. Hamilton died about the first of last July, Matteson claimed to own a half interest in the store, which was valued in all at about $2,600 and asked that appraisers be appointed to appraise the property as a partnership business.

Judge Martin, in his decision, held that the evidence did not satisfy him that Matteson had a half interest in the store. The testimony was of a conflicting character, he said, and that if there was any contract between the deceased and Matteson its terms were not clearly enough defined for the court to determine such to be the case. Matteson's application was therefore overruled.

POLICE MAKING DILIGENT SEARCH

MANY HOUSES EXPLORED

Chief Wyman and the entire police force are making a decided effort to run down the thieves who broke into the cellar of Mrs. Carolina Smith, Shadyside, on Tuesday night and stole nearly 100 cans of choice fruit and other articles, the cost of which will aggregate close to $75. After having search warrants issued for three houses in the vicinity of her home, Mrs. Smith gave out information which, it is believed, will result in the capture of the thieves.

The suspicion of Mrs. Smith rested on people living close to her home. Three warrants were turned over to Officer Aufderheide yesterday afternoon and he made a thorough search of three homes, but found nothing. He reported the fruitless search and this morning Chief Wyman detailed Officer McDermott to continue the search. The officer applied at several more of the homes in the vicinity and met the same fate that crowned the efforts of Officer Aufderheide.

However, the case is not to be dropped. Suspicious looking characters were seen around the Smith home on the night of the theft, and it is thought they were from the shantyboat districts. And it is believed that when a search is made of the boats a clue will be found. It is the intention of Chief Wyman to keep the shantyboats under strict vigilance, so many cases having been reported to him implicating residents of that district.

There is scarcely a day that some report is not made at police headquarters of some misdemeanor being committed by people of Shantytown and many of them relate to the loss of some article of value. The latter part of last week a number of the boats were thoroughly ransacked by the officers but nothing was found. They expect to be more successful in the future and hope by centering on the boats for a time to break up some of the thieving.

HON. T. E. BURTON TO MAKE INSPECTION OF THE OHIO RIVER TO ASCERTAIN ITS NEEDS

Chairman of the Rivers and Harbors Committee Tells How Waterways Are Improved In Europe.

Washington, October 9.—Representative T. E. Burton, of Cleveland, chairman of the rivers and harbors committee, has returned to Washington after spending several months in Europe studying the systems of water way improvement. When asked if his investigations had influenced his position with regard to the improvement of the Ohio river he declined to discuss the matter further than to say that he stands now just where he did before he left Washington.

This can be construed as meaning that Mr. Burton, while not an opponent of a nine-foot channel, believes it impracticable to authorize such an immense work so long as the policy of the government remains as it is at present. The rivers and harbors bill carries appropriations aggregating from $20,000,000 to $25,000,000 annually, and so long as this sum is not increased he thinks it would not be fair to take a larger proportion of the amount each year for improving the Ohio river to the neglect of other deserving public works. If the government will double or treble the appropriation Mr. Burton would be found among the advocates of the Ohio river improvement.

It is Mr. Burton's intention to make a thorough inspection of the Ohio river before congress meets. He will start from Pittsburg and go to Cincinnati, informing himself of the needs of the river and enabling him to make comparisons of that stream with the waterways he inspected in Europe.

Mr. Burton today made very interesting observations and the most significant was that in which he says that "the situation increases the strength of the argument for imposing upon specific localities part of the expense, unless the sentiment of the country will cordially sustain a large increase in federal appropriations."

Mr. Burton said:

OFFICER BATTLED WITH A HUGE DOG

Policeman Aufderheide Has One of the Most Thrilling Encounters of His Life.

VICTOR AFTER STRUGGLE

Officer Henry Aufderheide had one of the most thrilling experiences of his life yesterday afternoon when he approached a house on Sharyside, West End, for the purpose of searching the premises to locate, if possible, the fruit stolen from the home of Mrs. Carolina Smith. He was attacked by a ferocious dog and it was only the iron nerve of the officer that saved him from terrble injuries.

The dog, one of the largest of its species, made its attack on the officer when he was least expecting it and as a result came dangerously near accomplishing its evil design. The policeman is the owner of a mastiff and was never known to fear any of the canine family, but he is changed now and in the future will watch carefully the approach of every dog, no difference what size it may be. Upon entering the yard of the Shadyside residence he plainly saw the dog, but not thinking for a moment that it intended to attack him, plodded along toward the rear of the house.

While he was walking with his back to the animal he was startled by a fierce growl and turning like a flash saw the angry brute coming at him at a furious rate. The dog had gained such momentum and was so close to him when first seen that the officer only escaped contact with it by a quick jump to one side. Hardly had the enraged brute passed him, however, until it prepared for another attack. Drawing his mace from his pocket, the officer was in better shape to receive the second attack, and when the dog lunged at him he dealt it a blow on the head that sent it reeling on its back.

The officer thought he had vanquished his foe and was congratulating himself on his escape when the animal recovered and made one more lunge. This time he met the leap of the dog with a hard blow directly on the head. Like a log the dog rolled over on the ground and was left for dead. Quite a large crowd assembled at the scene of the exciting battle and there were none who did not fear that the officer would get the worst of it when the first attack was made.

STRIKE OF GIRLS WAS INAUGURATED

Those at the China Works Biscuit Warehouse Object to Losing Lunch Hour.

A strike of about 35 girls in the biscuit ware house at the China works was inaugurated this morning, the girls refusing to go to work when they were told that lunch hour was to be abolished. Another grievance is the reduction of the stamper from $1.15 to $1 per day. The new wage agreement, which went into effect October 1, provided that lunch hour among those who work for day wages be abolished. It is claimed, however, that owing to the flint the work on china is much harder than on granite or other ware and for this reason the girls want a differential.

As no provision has been made, a meeting of the arbitration board has been called for next Monday night when it is expected a settlement will be reached.

FORAKER'S DATE FOR THIS CITY

WILL BE EITHER THE 27th OR 28th OF OCTOBER.

It Is Expected He Will Be Here At That Time—Kansas Cyclone Coming.

Lisbon, October 9.—(Special)—Senator C. C. Connell, who is secretary of the Columbiana county Republican committee, returned from Columbus yesterday, where he visited Republican headquarters to make a request that Senator J. B. Foraker be dated for an address at East Liverpool. Only two open dates, October 27 and 28, remained for Senator Foraker and he will probably be in East Liverpool on one of those days.

Hon. Frank B. Dawes, of Leavenworth, Kan., a former attorney general of Kansas, will probably be in Columbiana county for three meetings to be held October 28, 29 and 30. Mr. Dawes is known as the "Kansas Cyclone" and made a great hit when he spoke at the county seat three years ago. A rousing meeting is being arranged for, to be held here and addressed by Mr. Dawes on one of the days he has consented to give to this county.

Discharged from Prison.

Columbus, October 9.—(Special.)—Jack Reeves, four years for shooting with intent to kill, and Frank Blackburn, four years for horse stealing, both from Columbiana county, have been discharged from the penitentiary upon expiration of sentence. This was Blackburn's third term.

McConnell Chosen Treasurer.

Findlay, October 9.—(Special)—At the election of officers of the Ohio Federation of Labor held here today, Criss McConnell, of East Liverpool, was elected treasurer. The next convention will be held at Canton.

SALINEVILLE MAN OUT FOR SENATOR

A Coal Miner Receives the Nomination in the 18th-19th District.

From a Staff Correspondent.

Columbus, October 9.—You can't keep the Columbiana county man down. This axiom, events prove, applies with special directness to the Salineville man. This hustling little community has furnished many men for high places and stands ready to continue the supply whenever necessary. The latest Columbiana county man to have honor thrust upon him is Alexander Smith, now of Mineral City, Tuscarawas county, formerly of Salineville, where he dug coal. He has just been nominated by the Republicans for state senator from the Eighteenth-Nineteenth joint district, comprising Tuscarawas, Coshocton, Guernsey, Monroe counties and a part of Noble county.

Mr. Smith is 47 years old and a coal miner by occupation. He resided at Salineville many years and was known by his associates there as a man of conservative judgment, good habits and reserved demeanor. He left that village about 15 years ago and became prominent as an indefatigable worker in politics and the mine workers' union. He served as president of the organization of his district for a number of years and made a good record. He is popular and has done much to promote the spirit of good will prevailing between the miners and the operators in his part of the state.

RIGHT OF WAY IS ASKED FOR DOWN RIVER LINE

The United Power company, of this city, has presented the following petition to the county commissioners of Jefferson county:

"The undersigned corporation, organized under the laws of Ohio for the purpose of constructing and operating a street railway from the village of Empire northward to the Columbiana county line, respectfully apply for a grant to construct an electric railway and necessary poles and wires and operate street cars for conveying passengers, freight and mail over and along the Steubenville & Wellsville state road and ask for a franchise for a period of 25 years and file herewith the consents of a majority of the owners of the feet front abutting the state road for the construction of the same. The signers are:

"John Taggart, 3,080 feet; E. W. Cooper, 3,566 feet; O. G. Crawford, 1,200 feet; Nancy Jones, 1,960 feet; J. W. Vantilberg, 600 feet; W. H. Greer, 700 feet; W. W. McKee, 800 feet; G. W. Skinner, 1,200 feet; J. W. Ekey, 1,900 feet; A. J. Galloway, 320 feet; A. J. Ducker, 150 feet; A. R. Householder, Nancy Householder, 1,500 feet; A. E. Crawford, 5,000 feet; David B. Brant, 2,500 feet; Sarah O. Miller, 3,500 feet; G. L. Westeat, 1,200 feet."

The commissioners will view the route today. The road is nearly complete to the Jefferson county line from below Wellsville and the petitioners are the same parties who ask for the franchise from Empire north.

The Steubenville Traction company is going north to Empire so that the gap between Toronto and Wellsville will soon be complete.

DEMURRER IN THE WYMAN CASE BEING ARGUED TODAY

Lisbon, October 9.—(Special.)—The case of the city of East Liverpool, by George E. Davidson, solicitor, versus James H. Grafton et al, in which an injunction against Mayor Weaver and the board of public safety is asked to prevent the appointment of John W. Wyman to the office of chief of police, came up for argument on demurrer before the court today.

J. H. Brookes, of East Liverpool, and Judge N. B. Billingsley, who filed the demurrer in behalf of the defendant, appeared for their client, and Solicitor George E. Davidson, of East Liverpool, and Attorney W. F. Lones, of Wellsville, appeared for the plaintiff. Mayor Weaver, of East Liverpool, was also present.

The language of the demurrer is as follows:

"The defendants separately demur to the petition of the plaintiff herein, and take as their grounds therefor:

"First—That it appears by the petition that the plaintiff has no legal capacity to sue.

"Second—That the petition does not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause for action."

The arguments in the case consisted of lengthy dissertations with reference to the technicalities involved and numerous citations of decisions.

The demurrer raises two questions. First, the right of the solicitor to bring action is denied, the claim being made that the power of the board of safety and the mayor are not corporate powers, and the second question raised is as to the right to bring an action by injunction to test this question. The defendants' attorneys hold that the solicitor had no right to bring this kind of action at this stage of the proceedings and that he has no adequate remedy at law and not in equity.

The defendant's counsel claim that the board and mayor must be allowed to certify and appoint according to their own interpretation of the law, and then, if the person appointed is open to any legal objections, those objecting may begin a proceedings in the nature of quo warranto to eject him from the office. They hold that this proceeding of Solicitor Davidson is premature.

The plaintiff's counsel enter a general denial to the points advanced by the defendants' counsel.

Argument was still in progress at a late hour this afternoon.

GREAT PROGRESS BEING MADE BY YOUNGSTOWN & SOUTHERN

Salem, October 9.—The Youngstown & Southern company is making excellent progress in the construction of its line from Youngstown to this city. About 20 miles of grading and track have been laid, which will doubtless be a surprise to many on account of the unostentatious and quiet manner which the company has pursued in its work. In a few days more, probably by the latter part of the week, ground will be broken in Columbiana county. It is expected, according to present calculations, that the southern part of the county will be reached about the latter part of January or February.

The present rate of progress is nothing short of phenomenal. It seems only a few months since the first shovelful of earth was lifted marking the beginning of operations. Now over half of the work is completed. The shortness of the time and the wonderful advancement which has resulted are the subject of much surprise and congratulation.

The remarkable success of the company is attributed to the fact that it is sparing neither money nor expense to build the road and place it in operation as soon as possible.

Hundreds of men, together with dozens of teams, are working on the job. And the company is steadily increasing its force as the work advances. Men and teams are hired when and wherever available.

Although "onward" appears to be the slogan of the officials of the company, the work is being done well. A competent critic who has seen many railroads constructed, says that the cross-country line will be equal to the finest in the state.

WITH THE WORKMEN IN THE CLAY PLANTS

A BIG OUTPUT.

The shipments of paving brick and sewer pipe from the Ohio valley for the month of August possibly exceeded those of any previous month during the year. The matter of securing cars in which to make shipments has not been quite as serious a problem this season as it was last year, or for that matter for the last two years, which fact would, of course, have something to do with the very satisfactory month's business. Almost all the brick and sewer pipe plants in the Ohio valley are in full operation and will possibly continue so until the last of the year at least unless the threatened strike of the clay miners should materialize. It appears that an advance of two cents a ton has been granted to clay miners at one of the plants of the American Sewer Pipe company. At this particular plant the claim is made that conditions are such as to warrant the payment of a little higher wage rate for mining clay than is paid at other of the company's works. This apparent discrimination seemed to be distasteful to the miners at other of the company's works, however, who immediately made a demand for an equal advance, which, in turn, was refused. The action of the management in the matter, of course, engendered talk of a strike forthwith, and it is hard to tell as yet just how the matter will terminate. It is also intimated that in case the miners at the American company's works go out on strike, the clay miners at other plants in the vicinity will do likewise. If the strike is declared there can be but one immediate result, granting, of course, a speedy agreement can not be arranged, and that would be a general shutdown of all the plants, a condition which, coming just at this time, would doubtless be more disastrous to the workmen than to the manufacturers.

FIRMS WITHDRAWING.

There has been considerable uneasiness in pottery circles during the past month over the actions of several sanitary firms giving notice of their intention to withdraw from the Sanitary Manufacturers' association, followed by a 10 per cent cut in the selling prices of sanitary ware.

The potters are fearful lest this move was the beginning of the end of the sanitary manufacturers' association, but through the activity of those manufacturers who realize the necessity of an organization to maintain a selling price that will guarantee a fair margin of profit, there has been a reorganization of the association which will include all the leading shops of the country.

There are quite a number of reasons advanced as to the cause of the present depression in the sanitary business, the most reasonable of which is the inability of the dealers to deliver goods owing to the large number of strikes in the building trades the past summer.

In spite of the present depression manufacturers say that with the completion of buildings under way there will be a general revival of business toward the end of the year.

NEW CASTLE NOTES.

Local union No. 54 held a very interesting meeting last week. The action of the arbitration board was discussed and does not seem wholly to please the potters here, especially the two-year agreement. Four transfer cards were received from sanitary ware pressers' local No. 45 of Trenton, N. J.

The Universal pottery seems to be picking up. There is some trouble in regard to putting on another apprentice presser, and Vice President Hutchins has been sent for, and will likely settle the trouble.

Things are moving all right at the China shop, except the trouble in the gilding department. The local has sent for President Duffy to come on and settle it. He will likely be here about the same time as Vice President Hutchins.

At the Shenango things are booming. The prospects were never brighter since the plant was built.

George Wolf, who was manager for the past year, has left. Report has him going to Derry.

Thomas McKeone, who has been off sick for the last few days, is back at work again.

Tom Brooks has started making eight-inch cover dishes. This makes three eight-inch cover dish makers and one seven-inch.

The famous Crip Cain was a visitor here October 7 and left for Youngstown.

Walt McKeone has started to work again. He was called to East Liverpool on account of the serious illness of his daughter, which resulted fatally. She died Sunday at 9:30 and was buried Tuesday at 2:30. The many friends of Brother McKeone sympathize with him in his sad bereavement.

Will Hackney, the moulder, is working on some specialties, making moulds for fancy cake and pie plates, pickle dishes, etc.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Albright, of Sebring, were in town Tuesday inspecting the pottery. Mr. Albright was well pleased with the first kiln of ware.

The first biscuit was drawn Monday. It contained about $1,600 worth of ware. Although it was the first kiln the loss was practically nothing. The ware was in excellent shape, and the result surpassed the expectations and hopes of the officials.

Settlement Out of Court.

Lisbon, October 9.—(Special.)—The damage cases in which Elizabeth Stahl and Esau Somerville were plaintiffs against the city of Salem, asking $1,000 and $600, respectively, for alleged damage to property resulting from the grading of streets, were terminated unexpectedly in court yesterday afternoon by the parties agreeing to settle. The terms were agreed upon whereby the city will pay all the costs in each case and in addition the plaintiff, Stahl, will get $300 and the plaintiff, Somerville, $100.

HIRSUTE ORNAMENTS NOT WORN 100 YEARS AGO.

Post-Bellum Period When the Mustache Flourished Most—Smooth Faces the Style Now.

As regards whiskers, the twentieth century is beginning somewhat as the nineteenth began, though, of course, not so strictly and universally smooth, but it is doubtful if it will run parallel through all its quarters, with its predecessor. There were no mustaches, no beards, when the nineteenth century dawned.

Side whiskers began to curl and sprout before it had run far in its course, and they grew bolder after a time and encircled the throat and chin, leaving bare the upper lip. The lip was submerged about 1860, and in the later years of destruction was last to yield to the assaults of the barber.

The masculine human countenance began to exhibit itself again not long after the war, and from that time down to the very recent past, the unsupported mustache was the prevailing mode. Now fashion is changing again, so that the young men are commonly completely shaved and their fathers have covered lips.

The youth of today have the weight of civilized precedent with them. An examination of the family albums of the last four centuries will demonstrate that the unwhiskered have had by far the better of it. For nearly 260 years of that time the beard was not permitted to sprout.

A great deal of encouragement for the shaven but ambitious young man may be found in the presidency of the United States. From the beginning with Washington, down to Lincoln's time whiskers found lodgement only three times, and in every case they were of the remote variety known as sideboards, which offered no considerable obstruction of the faces to which they were linked.

John Quincy Adams presented a stubborn pair. Martin Van Buren's were amiable in their moods, and Zacharay Taylor's were evidently the unobstrusive expression of a fancy for trimmings.

Lincoln inaugurated the bearded era, which was carried on by Grant, Hayes, Garfield, Arthur (with Dundrearys) and Harrison, though Harrison yielded not a little of his expanse before he retired from office.

Cleveland was the first mustached president and Roosevelt was the second, while McKinley preserved the tradition of the smooth face.

Fourteen of the presidents have shaven completely, seven have shaven only partly, and only four have gone unshaven. Lincoln, wearing a beard but no mustache, shaved the least of those who shaved at all.

TEACHERS WANTED IN PHILIPPINES

The Government Offers Inducements and Fair Salaries to Young Men.

The civil service commission has just received a call from the Philippine government for 150 male teachers with salaries as follows: Twenty-five at $1,200; 70 at $1,000 and 55 at $900 per annum. It is desired to secure these teachers without unnecessary delay, and an examination will be held on October 19-20 in various cities.

Peace has been established in the Philippines and the conditions of living are improving every month. This examination, therefore, affords an excellent opportunity for young men to enter an attractive service which offers excellent opportunities for promotion. Teachers appointed are eligible for promotion to the higher grades in the service, the salaries ranging from $900 to $2,000 for teachers and from $1,500 to $2,500 for division superintendents.

Application blanks for this examination are on file with George H. Mounts, secretary of the local civil service commission, and any information desired can be secured from him. The examination can be taken in Ohio at Cleveland, Cincinnati, Columbus, Ironton, Toledo and Zanesville.

C. & P. VIOLATES THE INJUNCTION

East End Citizen Claims Restraining Order Has Been Ignored.

BELLEEK STREET TRACKS

Have Been Constructed By the Company And the Crossing Is Almost Impassable as a Result—Citizens Are Surprised.

According to the statement of a prominent East End citizen, made this morning, the C. & P. railroad company has ignored the injunction secured some time ago by the city, in bulding tracks across Belleek street. Men in the employ of the company have been at work for a number of days in constructing the west bound track, but until Belleek street was reached public property had not been intruded upon. The new track came to an end a short distance east of Mulberry street, no attempt being made to lay the rails at the street intersection. None of the street from Mulberry west to Belleek extend across the railroad to the north. Belleek street did not extend across the tracks until the Midway Land company's addition was accepted by the city, the latest atlases, compiled for the county, not showing the extension.

Not only did the railroad company construct the main line track across the street intersection, but a spur for the use of the Freedom Oil company at its new supply station. The company has either entirely ignored the injunction or the contractors are in ignorance of the fact that Belleek street extends beyond the tracks to the north.

Those who have learned of the company's act are surprised rather than angry, although the street crossing has been left in an almost impassable condition. It is realized that the tracks will eventually be laid and that the company will have the legal right to act as soon as the differences with the city are adjusted. Surprise is expressed, however, at the assurance of the company in violating the injunction.

It is not likely that any objection will be made by East Enders unless the company fails to make the crossing passable. If this is not done trouble may follow and an inquiry will be made into the merit of the case.

Moving Its Supply Station.

The Freedom Oil company has commenced the work of moving its supply station from the present quarters to the property recently purchased for this purpose from the Midway Land company. Extensive improvements will be made, placing the station in first class order. The land necessary for the station was purchased some time ago from the Midway Land company and the C. & P. railroad has built a spur to acommodate the company.

Dr. F. F. Davis, who is considered one of the best in this section, is making a fine record in the practice shoots.

BIG PURCHASES OF COAL LANDS

ALONG THE OHIO RIVER BELOW WHEELING.

Purchased By New York Parties—Territory Embraces 30,000 Acres.

During the last few years all the coal territory in Ohio and Marshall counties, W. Va., has been acquired by agents for Pittsburg parties, and a large sum of money has been distributed among the farmers and other land owners. Thousands of acres have been secured and now the Pittsburg company has sold the territory to eastern capital, as the following telegram from New York shows:

Wall street and Pennsylvania interests today completed a deal whereby control was acquired of about 30,000 acres of coal lands in Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia. The principal field is in Marshall county, W. Va., three miles from the Pennsylvania line on the Baltimore & Ohio and known to geologists as the "Pittsburg seam," which Professor I. C. White, state geologist of West Virginia, says contains 100,000,000 tons of coal.

The company, known as the Summit Coal company, has a capital of $10,000,000. The output will be 4,000 tons a day. The organization was completed at a meeting at 170 Broadway today, when George H. Proctor, a California capitalist and mine operator, wes elected president; I. C. Smith, of Connellsville, Pa., general manager; T. J. Yost, treasurer, and Henry B. Twombley, secretary.

E. E. Dilliner, of Uniontown, Pa., and Charles C. Newfan, of Loundsville, W. Va., were elected in addition to the above as directors.

Canton, October 9.—The state convention of the Women's Christian Temperance union occupied practically the whole day yesterday adopting a new constitution and by-laws. The point on which the delegates divided was the board of trustees, which heretofore controlled all finances of the association. A compromise was reached providing that the trustees shall be three state vice presidents and three state superintendents of departments, and that the board shall incur no expense.

A committee of delegates was named to present the greetings of the association to Mrs. McKinley, together with a floral greeting.

About 2,500 Acres of Mahoning County Coal Lands Taken Up and To Be Developed.

Salem, October 9.—At Youngstown Wednesday some 24 valuable coal leases, in which William Dunn, superintendent of the Salem company's coal mines near this city, is interested, were filed for record with Recorder W. H. McGinnis, of Mahoning county. The leases comprise about 2,500 acres of valuable coal territory in Mahoning county, largely in Boardman and Canfield townships, and from the filing of the leases it is inferred that extensive operations will begin in that section within a short time. Mr. Dunn could not be seen today, and communication with his son at the Salem company's mine failed to develop anything further than a confirmation of the fact that the leases had been closed.

With Mr. Dunn is associated Robert L. Walker, of Poland, Mahoning county. Inasmuch as in at least two of the leases, those on the Gabrel Kline farms, sections are incorporated giving the lessees the right to construct and operate railways on the farms, for which Mr. Dunn is to pay an annual rental of $600, gives color to the report that a big deal is under way. The leases all specify that at least ten tons of coal per acre shall be taken out each year, or its equivalent paid for. The price to be paid per ton for run of mine in most of the leases is 15 cents, though in some cases 25 cents per ton is to be paid. None of the leases specify where the entrances to mines are to be located.

The filing of these leases confirms the reports published some time ago to the effect that Mr. Dunn was operating in the vicinity of Canfield with a view of securing some extensive coal lands there. Parties interested are averse to giving out information regarding the deal.

The chances are that the surplus at the end of June next will be in the neighborhood of $25,000,000, or about half of that of the fiscal year which ended three months ago. In the work of cutting down taxation in order to decrease the congestion of money in the treasury, the country, therefore, has gone far enough. If we get the Panama canal there is a chance that the payments which we will have to make will reduce this estimated excess of $25,000,000 for the twelve months. In any case, there will be no more revenue cutting on any pretext in the next two years at least.

GRAND OPENING

Of the New Shoe Store of W. C. Davidson & Co. Attracted Crowds.

The popularity of the ex-mayor of East Liverpool again had a striking exemplification last evening, the occasion being the opening of the new and up-to-date shoe house of W. C. Davidson & Co. on East Fifth street. For hours the sidewalk and street in front of the place contained such a crowd as is seldom brought out except on extraordinary occasions. The store was thronged during all the time it remained open.

Haines' band discoursed excellent music, entertaining the crowd while people awaited their turn to get inside. Mr. Davidson gave away 3,500 souvenirs of great utility and attractiveness. The lady's shoes belong to the holder of No. 108 and the gentleman's shoes to the man who holds No. 214.

Such an auspicious opening of a mercantile establishment is seldom witnessed. So great was the attendance that the firm has decided to receive its friends again soon, in order that those who were unable to get souvenirs last night may be able to do so, and a pair of shoes will be given to one gentleman and a lady.

Arranging for Football Game.

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 9.—Every effort is being made to have the army and navy football game come off. The cadets are anxious to play, as this is the deciding game of the series which begun in 1890. The proposition of Annapolis to impose certain new conditions for this deciding game finds no favor at West Point. It was learned that high army and navy officials in Washington have been in communication with the superintendents of both academies and are working hard to arrange the game.

PROMINENT MEN HAVE A SCRIMMAGE

Lively Fight in the West End in Which a Manufacturer Is Knocked Out.

A serious fight occurred Wednesday afternoon in the vicinity of the Carroll-Porter Boiler works in the West End, between a well known West End manufacturer and a contractor who is now engaged on a contract in the West End. It came near resulting seriously for the manufacturer, the contractor giving him the worst of it.

The trouble all started over the contractor having hauled sand, so it is stated, from the river bank property of the manufacturer. These two men met and the manufacturer accused the contractor of taking the sand with the knowledge that it did not belong to the man that he was supposed to have purchased it from. The contractor finally flatly denied that he took the sand with any such knowledge, and hardly before the words were out of his mouth, the manufacturer jumped on him, intending to put him out of the business in the first round.

The contractor had something to say about this time, however, and he soon had the manufacturer flat on his back and was hammering him for dear life, when the proceedings were interfered with by a West End potter who witnessed the affair. He promptly pulled the contractor off the manufacturer and patched up the affair as well as he could. The contractor bore no marks of violence, but the manufacturer has two black optics and a swelled neck that he will not be able to turn for some time.

An Enjoyable Meeting.

The members of the Wellsville Thimble Bee club, better known as the "Bumble Bees," were very highly entertained yesterday afternoon at the home of Miss Bessie McLean on Broadway, where the regular meeting was held and a social afternoon enjoyed. The young ladies were busily engaged with their needles during the greater part of the afternoon, during which plans for the year's entertainment of the club were discussed. Games were later indulged in and music was rendered. The afternoon's enjoyment wound up with a very dainty little luncheon served by the hostess, Miss McLean. Another meeting of the club will be held some time next week.

P. H. C. Banquet.

The regular bi-monthly meeting of Fidelity Circle, No. 43, Protected Home Circle, was held last evening in the hall, Main and Ninth streets. After the regular business was transacted a number of new members were initiated to the mysteries of the order. This function was followed by a sumptuous banquet, which was a three-course affair and was thoroughly enjoyed by the large attendance of members of the order. This lodge at the present time is in a very flourishing condition, and new members are being added to its roster at nearly every meeting.

AN UNDERSTANDING MAY BE REACHED

The Chief Difficulty Is Over the First Demand—Meeting Will Be Important.

A meeting has been arranged between the committees representing the local union of engineers and the United States Potters' association that may avert the threatened trouble over the new wage agreement demanded by the latter. As a result of the ultimatum issued yesterday to all firms employing union engineers, to the effect that a strike would be inaugurated Monday if the demands were not acceded to, the potters' committee decided to hold a conference with the committee from the union and again review the situation. The outcome of this meeting will be awaited with a great deal of interest by the public, as serious danger threatens should both sides refuse to recede from their present position.

The two committees will meet tonight in the rooms of the Potters' club and the merits and demerits of the demands will be thoroughly discussed. Although it is not likely that a final settlement will be effected, it is hoped that some understanding may be reached that will avert the threatened difficulty. But little if any trouble would be experienced in reaching a settlement were it not for the first demand, which provides that none but members of local union No. 169 be employed, or that in case the union can not supply engineers competent in the opinion of the employer, such engineers who are competent shall become members of the union. This provision, the employers claim, will place their engine rooms in entire control of the union, and for this reason they are objecting. Some of the firms employ engineers who are members of the National Association of Steam Engineers, which is not concerned in the demands. The employers, under the terms of the demand, would be compelled to discharge them.

A member of the potters' committee stated this afternoon that the committee could not accede to this demand and that if the engineers insist upon it a strike will result. It was claimed that the potters are willing to accept the rate of wages and other working conditions asked for.

TWO MORE DIVORCES GRANTED BY COURT

Matrimonial Knots Untied for East Liverpool and Salem Petitioners.

Lisbon, October 9.—(Special)—A session of divorce court was held yesterday afternoon at which Judge Hole granted two more legal separations.

Divorce was granted in the case of Isaac Williams, of East Liverpool, versus Dill Williams, whose place of residence is now unknown. They were married in East Liverpool February 17, 1901, and have no children. The husband charged that in April, just two months after their marriage, his wife left home and went to live with George Sillivan in East Liverpool, continuing to live with him for some time. Mr. Williams never lived with his wife after she left him on the occasion referred to. A. E. Bowdler was the plaintiff's attorney.

Katie Miller, of Salem, was divorced from Martin Miller, to whom she was married in 1883, in Austria-Hungary, of which country they are natives. The witnesses in this case were all foreigners and the services of an interpretor were required. The plaintiff charged extreme cruelty, specifying that on June 24 last her husband cruelly beat and choked her as he had frequently done before. On the date referred to, however, Mrs. Miller left her husband and has not lived with him since. John E. Scott, of Salem, was the plaintiffs' attorney.

THE MI-O-NA TREATMENT

Flesh-Forming Food in Tablet Form That Increases Flesh—Guaranteed By Will Reed.

The discovery of Mi-o-na, the remarkable flesh-forming food that builds up good, healthy, solid flesh and makes thinness and scrawniness a thing of the past, has revolutionized medical practice in certain lines.

Its power to do all that is claimed for it was so clearly proven to Will Reed that he has sold Mi-o-na with the understanding that if it fails the purchase price will be refunded.

Will Reed certainly exhibited courage in taking up this method of selling Mi-o-na, but the results have fully proven his judgment that the Mi-o-na treatment for stomach troubles, emaciation, general weakness and run down condition is the only efficacious and reliable cure.

Mi-o-na possesses healing and soothing qualities that make it especially valuable in cases of chronic indigestion and dyspepsia. Two or three tablets taken each day in connection with the regular food prove it a true flesh-former.

All that many a woman lacks to be positively pretty is a little more flesh on her face. To look haggard or not fat is never becoming. The use of Mi-o-na will cure this defect.

With every 50 cent box of Mi-o-na that Will Reed sells, he will give a written guarantee to refund the money if it does not give an increase in flesh and restore strength. What a trifling cost this is if it makes you well; if it fails, the expense is absolutely nothing.

CALIFORNIA

This is a land of homes, but a farm in California "under the ditch," means fewer acres, and more neighbors, less isolation and more society—less work and more profit. The man who thinks, finds three desires close to his heart: To have a home, a living income, and independence. These he battles for early and late, and is only happy when he wins. In irrigated California, the stars in their course fight for him. A beneficient climate seconds all his efforts, multiplies his working days, and preserves his crops. Neither flood nor frost, blizzard or cyclone, hot winds or rainy springtime destroys his crops. Summers are long, but growth goes on wherever the water runs, and crop failures are unknown. Thus a home, an income and an independence can be secured at less cost, maintained with less effort, and enjoyed more fully in California than in lands ice-bound for months, and uncertain in the character of their growing seasons.

Colonist rates to this land of opportunity, via the Southern Pacific, are $25 from all Missouri River points, $30 from St. Louis and New Orleans, $33 from Chicago. From Bloomington, $32; from Peoria, $31. It thus becomes easy to look over the west. California books of any agent. Write G. G. Herring, general agent, 514-516 Park building, Pittsburg, Pa.

REALM OF SPORTS

VISITING TEAM WAS DEFEATED

All Professionals Downed By the Y. M. C. A. In a Very Close Game.

PLAYERS NOT ALL HERE

And Local Talent Helped Out—Miller And Ferguson Sprang Surprises. Winters Did the Pitching And Did It Well.

Heinie Youngman's All Professionals were treated to a clean article of ball at West End park yesterday afternoon by the locals. They were three men shy, the outfielders failing to reach the city, but their substitutes, a trio of local players, did not help them lost and considering the poor batting exhibited by them they were exceedingly lucky in pulling out under such a close margin. The score was 8 to 7.

The visitors, composed of professional players, who spent the season with amateur league teams, credit their losing, of course, to the fact that only six of the regular lineup was on the field. The fans do not agree with them. The local three, "Reddy" Miller, Ferguson and Bennett, played just as good a fielding game as any one could and their stunts with the stick would not have changed the score materially. Captain Cargo stated that his fielders missed the train, but it is thought they did so purposely, the Boston-Pittsburg game being enough to hold any lover of the sport away.

In the first inning everything looked as if there was nothing to it, the visitors landing two hard ones and three runs, while the locals went out in order. And they continued at the same pace for two more innings. However, the twisters delivered by Winters soon had them in the air and had it not been for darkness in the ninth the Pennsylvanians would have been satisfied with their first spurt.

The locals never had their batting eyes in better trim and Miller looked real sick before they let him down. During the first five innings they did not fail to score at least one single and in the third and fourth they made it two, topping it off in the fifth with a trio. With such batting against them it looks as though they could not have won had they had Pittsburg's outfield. Had the visitors been able to find Morg more often a decidedly different tale would have been told, three of their six hits being two baggers and one of them a three sacker. It was simply a case of being up against a bunch of hitters who could not be downed.

The features of the game were made by the "rookies," "Reddy" Miller and Ferguson. The former, dressed in his every day rags, was in middle for the Professionals and he sprung a genuine surprise when Heckathorn knocked a high fly to him by taking it in with ease and cutting off Brown who had strayed a little too far from first, thinking that the youth did not have wing enough to put the bug on him. Ferguson made the catch of his life in the seventh. He held on to a high fly after falling down and rolling all over himself.

Y. M. C. A.	AB.	R.	H.	P.	A.	E.

Ohio Championship.

Cleveland, Oct. 9.—Wintry and rainy weather made it possible to play but one of the two games here between the Cleveland American league and the Cincinnati National league baseball clubs, for the state championship. The first game was a victory for Cleveland by a score of 5 to 3, and the second game, which went only three innings, was called at that point because of darkness, with the score 2 to 1 in favor of Cincinnati.

Score—									R.	H.	E.

A Prominent Operator Says It Would Pay Well to Export the American Product.

Pittsburg, October 9.—W. C. Jutte, of C. Jutte & Co., river coal shippers, has returned to Pittsburg from a trip to Europe, and believes there is a good market for American coal in the old world. He declares that the coal operator of England is just as anxious to get good prices for his product as is the American operator and believes that an excellent trade can be established by operating a line of coal vessels. This, he says, can be done with a profit by loading the vessels with coal at seaboards in this country and loading them on the other side with products made in foreign countries for shipment to the United States. He said that he was not sufficiently versed with conditions on the other side of the Atlantic to say what products could be shipped to this country at an advantage to the foreign manufacturer, but believes that there is a great future for American coal in France and England, as well as in Mexico and South America, on this side of the Atlantic.

"Coal is selling at $4.50 a ton in London," said Mr. Jutte, "and here in Pittsburg it is selling for $3 a ton. The English coal operator has a great advantage over the American operator on account of having the advantage of cheap transportation. The operators of England are so situated that they can load coal for the seaboard at their mines and place it in vessels holding 10,000 to 12,000 tons and transport it to the various seaboard markets of Europe. In Pittsburg the operator can also load coal at the mines in river vessels, but these must be transported 2,000 miles to New Orleans before the coal can reach tidewater.

"If some one would operate a line of six-masted sailing vessels, for instance, between American ports and Europe, I think a very profitable business can be established. It does not require a large amount of money to operate vessels of this class, because they do not use fuel and the vessels carry very small crews."

TAYLOR DEMANDS A NEW POLICY

THE OLD AND EASY WAY

"Gentlemen, it is high time a revolution was taking place in both the fire and police departments. When we assumed the duties of our office it was understood among us that there should be a change in the manner in which the departments are run and I don't favor the way things stand now. Everything is going along in the same old, easy, don't-care way," said W. L. Taylor, of the board of public safety at its regular meeting last evening.

Continuing, he said: "The chiefs of each department are not doing their work as we directed. We passed upon a number of rules and it seems that they are being disregarded totally. One of the most important rule is not observed at all. It says that the chiefs must make a monthly report and I will insist that it is done. The shape things are in now we can never learn what is being done by the patrolmen and it is very necessary that we keep tab on their every movement.

"It looks as though the patrolmen don't consider us as their executive dictators. There must be some sort of a change at once or I will see that the entire lot is put on the carpet."

The words of Mr. Taylor did not strike a popular chord among the members of the board. They did not think hasty action should be taken in the matter, favoring the plan of waiting until the business of the board assumes conditions that will allow the members to dictate and back up any orders with records, etc.

Mr. Dawson reported to the board that he had conferred with the fire and police committee of council and the committee seemed in favor of doing all it could to assist the board in arranging permanent quarters in the city building. The committee, however, said that the room on the third floor of the city building wanted by the board was not under the jurisdiction of council, belonging to the township trustees. The question was finally settled after a conference with Mr. Randolph, of the band which occupies the north room on the third floor.

It was decided by the board that it would be impossible for it to meet in the room on the lower floor on the same evening devoted by the band to practice. Mr. Randolph was asked if the band could change its meeting night to Friday and he readily consented to do so. As a result immediate steps were taken to repair the room opposite and it is thought it will be in readiness for occupancy by the next regular meeting night. The room is to be thoroughly cleaned and fixed at any cost and if possible made suitable for the honorable body. It has been run from room to room, sidewalk to sidewalk until every member had become almost sorry that it belonged to the board.

Mr. Taylor reported that he had been visited by an agent of a fire supply firm, of Pittsburg, and that prices had been received on helmets, of which there was some talk at the last meeting. The agent had two kinds, aluminum and leather. Either can be purchased for $4.50 each. It was decided to let the matter rest with the committee for awhile, the firemen being content to wait for the needed improvement to their wearing paraphernalia.

The bill of Kerr Bros., who furnished the lumber for the erection of the curfew tower in the East End, was ordered paid. Two bills for printing were not allowed, the opinion of the solicitor being ordered.

Go Prepared.

In preparing for your summer outing a little forethought may save you no end of trouble. Mr. John H. Manly, a dry goods merchant, of Bellville, R. I., while packing an outfit for camping a few weeks on Narragansett Bay, put in a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for emergency use. The second day in camp his little boy was taken with cramp colic. The first dose of this remedy gave relief and the second dose effected a cure. Think of the pain and suffering this boy would have had to endure without this remedy at hand to relieve him. Such cases often result fatally. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger.

prevent the passage of a river and harbor bill at the next session of congress. I do not know what strength the movement has gained. On the other hand, there has never been a time when the pressure for river and harbor appropriations was so great. Almost every paper I have examined since my return contains an article in advocacy of some expensive project.

"The customary appropriation will not meet the increasing demands. Congress should establish a consistent policy and adhere to it. Several methods might be pursued. One way would be to engage in improvements in a manner similar to that purposed by France. This would necessitate multiplying appropriations at least three or four times.

"Another way would be to limit appropriations to even smaller sums than at present, selecting such improvements as will afford a prompt return and assure a greatly increased traffic. A third way would be to divide the expenses between the general government and the localities especially benefited. This last method has had many advocates, but it is by no means free from difficulty.

"In Europe money for harbor and waterway improvement is expended much more generously than it is here. Of course, the policy is so different that it is difficult to make comparisons. For instance, almost all the government municipalities or private companies which improve the harbors over there not only dredge channels and construct breakwaters as we do by congressional appropriation in this country, but they also construct basins to provide anchorages under all conditions of the tide, and adjacent quays and often warehouses and railway terminals, for which they receive reimbursement in tolls from the shipping using the harbors so created and maintained."

Now, as I said before, it is against public policy for court or jury to enforce that kind of a contract, because it encourages men to run the risk of violating the law.

"Mr. James, at the time he took this device into his place, had some doubt on the matter. He says: 'I don't want to use a gambling machine,' but on this man telling him, 'We will pay all damages if you go ahead and use it,' then he goes ahead and uses what all now admit was a gambling machine. If the court were to enforce that kind of contracts it would encourage people to violate the law whenever somebody said: 'We will guarantee to save you from any trouble.'

"Now, it is against public policy that such contracts should be enforced. This plaintiff admits that there was no practical misrepresentation of facts. There was a misrepresentation as to what the law was. He admits that they told him it was a machine in which the player was to put a nickel and would either get nothing or get more than he had put in. He admits that they told him there would be money to divide. That is, that he was to have half the money that was so obtained; so that when he put this machine in his place and before he put it in the place he knew that he was to get half of the money which his neighbors and customers would put in that machine for nothing. It was money put at hazard and the law does not encourage that kind of contract by enforcing it.

"Sometimes these people, I have, no doubt, pay according to their guarantee. Mr. Creadon might have paid as he promised to do, and perhaps according to the code of 'honor among thieves,' he ought to have paid; but the man who runs the risk of using a gambling device runs the chance of losing and he must trust to the honor of his accomplice when a promise of that kind is made and he can not come into a court of justice and enforce it. Under all these circumstances, as I said before, it is my duty to instruct you to return a verdict for the defendant. And you may appoint one of your number foreman, without leaving your seats, and have him find the verdict that I will hand you."

This charming story of typical American village life made a really remarkable impression upon its last visit, both because of the unconventional realism of the story and character drawing. "York State Folks" takes rank as the foremost of American plays. The story of the play appeals irresistibly to all classes because of the truthfulness of human nature which it depicts. Its comedy and its pathos are absolutely true to life, and it is the sense of reality which impresses all who see it.

Columbus, October 9.—(Special)—Secretary of State Laylin today will send copies of a circular letter giving instructions as to the manner of voting on the constitutional amendments to the election officers of the state. By the provisions of the Longworth law these amendments will appear on the regular official ballot. A statement of each amendment will be printed in a separate column at the right of the party tickets. On the line below such statement will be printed the word "Yes" and on the next line below will be printed the word "No."

A separate return of the vote for and against the amendments shall be made to the secretary of state by the election officers within ten days after the election.

Many Hints For Making Them So Can Be Found in Burns' Poems.

Hallowe'en is but a few weeks distant and already people are wondering how to give an ideal hallowe'en party and at the same time have something different from the conventional and hackneyed way of entertaining.

Hallowe'en reminds one so forcibly of Bonnie Scotland and Robert Burns' descriptions of the carnival of hobgoblins and witches holding high carnival, that the one wishing to give an ideal hallowe'en party is advised to hunt up an old copy of Burns' poetry and read therein the charms. Try varying the custom this year and follow the Scotch one of having the hallowe'en celebration out of doors, says "What to Eat." Swing jock-o'-lanterns from the trees and light the grounds with gasoline and pine torches. Build fortune tellers' caves of leaves, and have a real (?) cabbage patch and a mysterious well guarded by an imp with pitchfork.

The bonfire is the main feature. When all the guests have arrived give each a lighted flambeau or torch and have a procession winding about the grounds. Add some fantastic characters to give zest to the procession. Have the procession circle three times around the big bonfire waiting to be lighted—packing boxes and logs sprinkled with turpentine. At a signal have all the torches thrown into the fire, starting the flames.

When the flames are at their brightest have a figure dressed as a hobgoblin appear, dragging a car surrounded by fairies carrying long spears. Have the effigy of an old witch bound to the car. The fairies encircle the fire as the hobgoblin throws the witch into the heart of the flames. This typifies the consuming of trouble. Then the company may dance and sing at pleasure. This is the sort of hallowe'en frolic loved by Princess Beatrice and arranged for her at Balmoral Castle, Scotland. On one of these occasions Queen Victoria danced the Scottish national dance with her faithful gillie "John Brown" raising a storm of criticism.

WEATHER TOO COLD FOR BASEBALL

The weather has interfered with the plans of Manager Reark for a double-header tomorrow with Heinie Youngman's All-Professionals and there will be no games. When the weather turned in cold this morning Manager Reark realized that it would play havoc with the attendance at the West End park and he decided not to play either today or tomorrow. Most of the visitors and several o. the local players left town this morning for Pittsburg, where they will watch the pannant winners of the two leagues battle for the championship.

The base ball season of 1903 is now practically a thing of the past, although a field day may be arranged for next week if the weather is favorable. This event will be a benefit for the players and besides the ball games there will be foot races, throwing contests, etc.

TELEPHONE QUESTION HAS TWO SIDES

States Its Position—Reply to Tomlinson's Statement Issued By the Manager.

To the Public:—Mr. Tomlinson, president of the Salem Business association, in a statement which was published in the local papers of yesterday, makes several assertions which I, as secretary and general manager of this company, feel compelled to answer and also to ask a few questions.

The controversy of which he speaks has up to this time been very much one-sided. We have had two meetings with special committees of the association. The association voted to adopt the Bell telephone as their official telephone. This was carried by a majority of three votes, so we are informed. Against this we have no right to nor do we make complaint or question, but we do say that the association, through its committee, has extended its fight against us unjustly and unfairly in favor of the Bell Telephone company. We have a large number of subscribers re-signed and also a large number who have contracted for telephones during the past year and whose contracts have not expired. A number of these have been visited by a committee of the association who have asked them to throw out their Columbiana County telephones and, we are told, have also threatened them. The committee also offering to pay their subscriptions until their contracts with us expire.

Mr. Tomlinson also makes statements that we have made gross misrepresentations as to the number of subscribers we have at this time. We are ready to verify our statements to any person or persons desiring to look into the matter. He also says that the association believes in fair play and legitimate competition. Is coercion, boycott and intimidation fair play? Is tryng to take away by coercion and intimidation the individual right of contract of a free-born American citizen fair play? Do their actions of the past few weeks verify his statements that they are not antagonistic to the Columbiana County Telephone company or that they believe in legitimate competition?

Is not the business of the Columbiana County Telephone company legitimate and does not the service which has been rendered during the past three and one half years at a loss, merit any consideration whatever?

Do the people want to be coerced into putting out of business a company which has brought the use of the telephone from a luxury to a home comfort and which has developed the rural districts, bringing the farmer into close touch with his city friend and merchant?

The Columbiana County Telephone company has asked for nothing except to be allowed to present its schedule of rates to each individual subscriber or non-subscriber and allow him or her to be governed by his or her own individual rights and needs and has asked no association to adopt the Columbiana County telephone to the exclusion of the Bell or any other telephone company. We leave this matter to the public and feel confident that after their mature deliberation the Columbiana County Telephone company will receive the support of all fair-minded people who desire fair play and legitimate competition.

Very Respectfully,

THE COLUMBIANA COUNTY TELEPHONE COMPANY, W. F. Crossley, Secretary and General Manager.

VETO POWER FOR COVERNOR

Double Liability Will Cease And Each County Will Hereafter Have One Representative in the Legislature. All Needed Reforms.

It is a fortunate thing for the state that the supreme court has upheld the validity of the Longworth constitutional amendment act. Almost beyond the shadow of a doubt the decision means that the constitution will be revised and modernized. It means that the governor will be given the veto power; that holders of stock in Ohio corporations will no longer be held liable in double the amount represented by their shares, and that each county hereafter will have at least one representative in the lower house of the general assembly.

The governor of Ohio ought to have the veto power, says the Ohio State Journal. The conferring of such authority upon the chief executive will act as a wholesome check upon legislation and will lessen the chance of the enactment of foolish and vicious laws. The amendment upon which the voters will pass judgment on election day wisely provides that a bill may be passed over the governor's veto by a vote of two-thirds of the members of each branch of the legislature. Thus it makes the governor directly responsible for all legislation, while it does not make him an autocrat.

The double liability provision of the constitution has done more than any other one force to drive capital out of Ohio. It was made a part of the state's organic law when corporate business was little understood and before there was any just conception of the material advantage to the state of the investment of Ohio money in Ohio enterprises. We believe there is practically no opposition to the adoption of this amendment. There should be absolutely none.

It stands to reason that a lawmaker who represents but one county in the lower house of the legislature will give that county, where he himself makes his home, more intelligent thought and attention than he could possibly give it if it were but one county of a joint district represented by him. The adoption of the county representative amendment will stimulate local pride and assure the smaller counties of better treatment at the hands of the legislature.

The veto power amendment was approved by the Republican state convention and a brief statement of its purpose will be printed in the Republican ticket on the official ballot. The leader of the Democratic party has bolted his own platform in so far as to indorse this amendment. We agree with Mayor Johnson that both parties should unite to give the governor the veto power.

The double liability and county representative amendments were indorsed by both party conventions and either a straight Republican vote or a straight Republican vote will be counted for them. Their adoption is thus made certain.

These three amendments are needed to make of the half-century-old constitution a modern instrument.

DAMAGE CASE WAS SETTLED

Longshore's Suit for $5,000 Was Fixed Up, But Terms Are Not Known.

Lisbon, October 9. — (Special.) — The $5,000 damage case of J. C. Yongshore versus the W. J. Clark company of Salem,, which was assigned for hearing in the court yesterday, was settled. The terms of settlement were not given out.

Action in this case was begun June 19, 1900, when a petition was filed in court in behalf or the plaintiff by Attorney W. S. Anderson, of Youngstown, and A. W. Taylor and L. P. Metzger, of Salem. Longshore was an employe in the defendant company's machine shop and was so bady injured, being caught in the machinery, that his right arm had to be amputated on July 18, 1898, as a result of the accident.

Consul General Skinner Sails.

New York, Oct. 9.—Robert P. Skinner, United States consul general at Marseilles, who is about to visit King Menelek, in Abysinnia, to induce his country to be represented at the St. Louis exposition, and who will afterward make a tour of Abyssinia to study its conditions and resources with a view to promoting trade with America, sailed on the steamer La Touraine for Havre.

MARRIED MAN ELOPED

Ohio Merchant Charged With Leaving With Clerk in His Store.

WAS DELEGATE TO CONFERENCE

Kissed Wife and Daughter Goodbye—Arested in Iowa—Alleged He Was Short in Lodge Accounts—Requisition Papers Not Needed.

Wooster, O., Oct. 9.—Three weeks ago A. B. Gettleman, a merchant at Smithville, Wayne county, kissed his wife and daughter goodbye, and took a train for Norwalk, where he was to attend the Methodist conference as a delegate from the local church.

He failed to return and it was then observed that Mrs. Amanda Mishler, who was a clerk in his store, was also missing, and it was at once charged that they had eloped. Nothing was heard from either for nearly a week, when it was learned that Gettleman had visited his old home, at Mansfield, O., and borrowed money from old friends.

The next word that came from Gettleman was a letter from Marion, Ia., which, it is alleged, stated that he and Mrs. Mishler had been married. Mr. Mishler at once began proceedings for divorce.

It was alleged that Gettleman was short in his accounts as treasurer of the Masonic lodge, and steps were taken to cause his arrest. Word comes that Gettleman is in custody, and that he is penitent, and willing to come back without requisition papers. Sheriff Brown took a train for Iowa.

Arrange for Bowling Congress.

Cleveland, Oct. 9.—W. V. Thompson, of Chicago; Samuel Karpf, of Dayton; W. J. Kenna of Chicago, and Frank Baumeister, of Erie, Pa., met with local bowling authorities to arrange for the holding of the American bowling congress in this city the coming winter. The committee of three which has charge of the affairs of the national congress was increased to seven by the addition of four Cleveland men. The congress will be incorporated under the title of the Cleveland Bowling Tournament Association company. The committee in charge of the national tournament will meet to fix the place for holding the congress. Central armory, with a seating capacity of probably 5,000, has the call, and will likely be chosen.

Discuss New Constitution.

Canton, O., Oct. 9.—Practically the entire day was spent by the state convention of the W. C. T. U. in adopting a new constitution. The chief contention was over the powers to be vested in the board of trustees, which has heretofore controlled all the finances of the association. A compromise was reached providing that the board shall consist of three state vice presidents and three department superintendents and that the board shall incur no expense. The convention ordered that a fraternal delegate to be selected by the general officers be sent to the national meeting of the anti-saloon league.

Hotel Beat Goes to Workhouse.

Cleveland, Oct. 9.—Orville B. Smith was sentenced to pay a fine of $200 and to serve three months in the workhouse on the charge of defrauding an innkeeper. Smith contracted a bill at the Hollenden hotel and presented a fraudulent check in payment. The police produced conclusive proof that Smith by an almost unparalleled series of impositions had secured large sums of money by fraud in many of the larger cities. It was also shown that he has been engaged in questionable work in Columbus, Chicago, Detroit and New York city.

Struthers Plant Closed.

Youngstown, O., Oct. 9. — Acting under instructions from superior officers the plant of the American Sheet Steel company, at Struthers, was closed, and the employes paid in full. The only statement made is that the volume of business is not sufficient to have the mill continue in operation. The Struthers mill is one of the finest of the American Sheet Steel company's plants and employs a large number of men. No statement was made as to when the mill might resume.

In Search of Antarctic Expedition.

Buenos Ayres, Argentine Republic, Oct. 9.—The Argentine gunboat Uruguay, of 550 tons displacement, started for the Antarctic regions to search for the Swedish expedition headed by Dr. Otto Nordenskjold. The Nordenskjold expedition left Gothenburg, Sweden, Oct. 16, 1901, on the steamer Antarctic, and was last heard from Aug. 18, when the vessel was imprisoned in the ice.

Canadian Company Organized.

Hamilton, Ont., Oct. 9.—At a meeting presided over by George Westinghouse, the Canadian Westinghouse company, limited, was organized with a capital of $2,500,000. The officers elected were: George Westinghouse, president; H. H. Westinghouse and F. H. Taylor, vice presidents; Paul J. B. Myler, general manager and treasurer, John H. Kerr, secretary.

New York, Oct. 9.—Mrs. Mary Layton Johnston, who is charged with the embezzlement of several thousands of dollars from the United States Playing Card company, of Cincinnati, entered a plea of not guilty in the court of general sessions to five indictments charging forgery and grand larceny. Her counsel gave a notice of a motion to inspect the minutes of the grand jury, alleging that the defense had had no opportunity of presenting its side of the case. The defense insisted that an officer of the company is the guilty person and had witnesses in court Wednesday to support this contention. Bail was fixed at $7,500.

Mrs. Dixon says: "I was completely run down and could not sleep. I became nervous, had trembling spells and wanted to avoid society. I tried various remedies, but without apparently benefiting me. Recently I have been taking Paine's Celery Compound and I feel that my former good health has been restored by means of this wonderful remedy. I have taken but two bottles and my friends tell me I am myself again. It is a marvelous remedy.

REAL JOHNSON ISSUE.

State Socialism "Moving Spirit" of All He Does.

THERE'S NO DEMOCRACY ABOUT IT

The Single Land Tax Exacts Common Ownership of All Real Estate, the Weight of Taxation "Taking It by Society For Social Needs"—Increasing Indignation Over It Among Democrats.

"The whole tendency of the movement which Mr. Johnson is engineering is in the direction of state socialism, which is the absolute antipode of genuine Democracy."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

This declaration from the greatest Democratic newspaper in the state will concentrate attention upon the real issue in Johnsonism. An increasing number, as the Enquirer says, "look with hesitation and doubt upon the socialistic and new-fangled doctrine which Mr. Johnson is advocating." As the Enquirer points out in its conclusion, "Whatever else they may be, these socialistic doctrines are the widest possible departure from the sound and seasoned Democracy of the Fathers."

This must be getting serious with Mr. Johnson. Two days after the Enquirer spoke he took pains in his speech at London to say: "I am not a socialist, I am an individualist, which is the exact opposite of socialism. The socialist believes that everything should be under government control, while I believe in the fullest opportunity of the individual."

Did Mr. Johnson mean what he said? Did he say what he meant? If he is against "government control," why did he permit his party platform, made according to his personal direction by one of his hired retainers, a Chicago socialist editor, to have a plank about "municipal ownership and operation," calling for laws to provide for that? If he does not know that this is socialism, he is a very blind leader of the blind. If he does know it, and he seeks to deceive the people, he deserves to be cast into outer darkness.

Still more plainly socialistic is the underlying spirit of the entire Johnson program. When he said that "with all my heart I answer, the doctrines of Henry George are the moving spirit of whatever I do;" and that all he was doing tended in the direction of the single land tax, that theory must be considered in connection with everything that Mr. Johnson does. He must be taken at his own word, or avow himself a falsifier. If "the philosophy of Henry George is the sovereign remedy for existing evils in both state and national affairs," as Johnson declared it to be a year ago, why is it not equally "sovereign" today? Why not then talk about it? Why dodge it? That it is part of the Johnson program is believed by practically all men, even of his own party.

The Columbus Citizen, which supports the Johnson ticket, refuses to support the constitutional amendment for classifying property for taxation, for fear that it will open te door for single land tax, should Johnson elect a legislature of his own kind. The Citizen declares that this theory is socialistic and even communistic and not binding upon Democrats. This amendment was to Johnson one of the most vital things in his party convention and its endorsement he demanded from first to last.

The Cincinnati Enquirer, referring to an article in its columns, says: "The writer says nothing specifically of the single tax, probably because that doctrine has been swallowed and merged in the more general and inclusive one of the socialistic party, and HENCEFORTH THEY MUST ALL BE RESISTED TOGETHER. It would, however, doubtless be of interest to our farmers to know where Mr. Johnson stands on the question of the ownership of farm lands."

If Johnson agrees with Henry George, he will tell the farmers of Ohio that "NOTHING SHORT OF MAKING LAND COMMON PROPERTY can permanently relieve poverty." George says, and Johnson is a George man, "WE MUST SUBSTITUTE FOR THE INDIVIDUAL OWNERSHIP OF LAND, A COMMON OWNERSHIP." George tells the farmers that "there is in nature no such thing as a fee simple in land, and that land owners are robbers." He says that the people will nationalize the land, "in a more direct and easy way than by purchase. They will not trouble themselves about compensating owners of lands." Johnsonism, therefore, proposes to take the farms and homes from the owners without paying them for their property. The single land tax is to be used to do this.

In Mr. George's words: "All that is necessary to do is to abolish all other forms of taxation, until THE WEIGHT OF TAXATION RESTS UPON THE VALUE OF LAND, irrespective of improvement and take the ground rent for the public benefit." This is Johnson's "just taxation," according to Henry George. These things are to be done in the sacred name of justice, the very one that Johnson conjures with, for George says: "What can be more in accordance with Justice than that THE VALUE OF LAND SHOULD BE TAKEN BY SOCIETY FOR SOCIAL NEEDS?"

"Home Rule" For Cincinnati Is None of Johnson's Business.

Was not 24,000 majority against his men last year in Cincinnati enough for Tom Johnson to teach him that the people there know their own business? Must they make it 30,000 or 40,000 again this year, or make it unanimous? Does he not get it through his head that he is mayor only of Cleveland, and not of the state of Ohio, nor even of Cincinnati.

"Home rule" is one of Mr. Johnson's pet fads. He has gone up and down through the state last year and this, with all the noise that could be got out of his burly frame and the red devil, declaring that every city in the state should be free to do as it please, irrespective of any act of the Ohio legislature. And yet, every time in the same speech he has made an equal clamor about the curative act, so-called, always speaking of it as if it were exclusively a Cincinnati measure. If it belongs to Cincinnati and Cincinnati is to have "home rule" according to Johnson, where does he come in?

His candidate at the head of his state ticket last year lived in Cincinnati. Johnson campaigned through that city in his behalf. This very matter was enlarged upon for all it was worth, more in fact than the people approved. The Cincinnati vote is the best evidence. Bigelow was the worst beaten candidate Hamilton county has ever had. That is the "home rule" verdict on the curative act.

IT HELPED IN RUSSIA.

"Noble and Heroic Attitude of Roosevelt and Hay."

Mr. J. B. Greenhut of Peoria, Ill., who has been abroad investigating the cause of the massacre at Kishenev and the present condition of the Jews under Russian despotism, in his official report, gives this splendid praise from all who know the facts:

"However, what impressed and gratified me most was the statement and concensus of opinion of all these men—namely, that while the relief funds which were so generously forwarded from all parts of the world were indeed welcome, as it enabled them to give material assistance to those poor creatures whose all had been destroyed and who, if the early assistance had not been received, would have starved to death, but above all they said what they prized and welcomed most was the noble and heroic attitude taken by President Roosevelt and Secretary Hay in their behalf. They said over and over again that the moral influence exerted through the action taken by our Administration could not be enforced officially, it nevertheless had immediate effect on the Russian government, and resulted in a change of the governor and the officials generally in Kishenev, who are said to be less harsh to the Jewish population than their predecessors had been."

Bank Messenger Gets Away With Several Thousand Dollars.

Bonding Company Settles With Bank—Actions of Young Man Arouse Suspicions of Police—Had Lose Than a Hundred When Arrested.

Milwaukee, Oct. 9.—Arthur C. Nagel, said to have absconded from Buffalo with $2,500 on June 20, and who was arrested on suspicion, has confessed. The young man worked for a Buffalo bank, and it was his duty to carry large sums of money from one bank to another.

Nagel arrived in Milwaukee shortly after leaving Buffalo, and two weeks later was married to Miss Frances McGintley, of Fond du Lac, Wis., the wedding being performed in Chicago. The young couple and a friend of the bride then left for a wedding tour on the Pacific coast, and returned to Milwaukee 11 days ago.

The actions of the young man created suspicion in police circles and he was watched. His money was evidently giving out, as he began pawning some of the valuable gems which he had purchased for his bride. Detectives then arrested him on suspicion. Only $74 of the $2,500 could be found; Nogel claimed that he had spent the balance.

Buffalo, Oct. 9.—Nagel was employed as a messenger by the Third National bank, of this city. On June 20 he was given a package containing $2,500 for delivery at the clearing house. Another bank messenger accompanied Nagel to the door of the stairway leading up to the clearing house. The money was not deposited, and an hour later, when the Third National bank was notified, the police were asked to find Nagel. A bonding company settled with the bank.

Directors Authorize Speyer & Co. to Take Possession of Soo Plants.

Philadelphia, Oct. 9.—The directors of the subsidiary companies of the Consolidated Lake Superior company held a long conference, at which the present situation was thoroughly discussed.

A resolution was adopted authorizing Speyer & Co., of New York, to take possession of the various plants of the company at the Soo, mortgaged to the Central Trust company, of New York, trustee, under the mortgage dated Jan. 1, 1903, which secured the Speyer loan of $5,050,000, provided that Speyer & Co. grant an extension of time for the sale of the collateral of these companies, which they hold, 60 days beyond Oct. 15. The company will give possession as soon as Speyer & Co.'s consent to the extention is obtained.

Color Line Drawn in Football.

Crawfordsville, Ind., Oct. 9.—Manager Eller, of the Wabash football league, received a letter from H. L. Watson, manager of the Rose Polytechnic team, stating that they consider football a social game, and as a matter of principle would not play if Gordon, a colored player, was allowed to participate. Dr. Kane, of Wabash college, said that the game had best be canceled and must be unless a distinct understanding that Gordon was to be allowed to play is reached. The game has been canceled.

Arrested for Wife Murder.

Cleveland, Oct. 9. — John Bennett, colored, was arrested when he arrived from Oberlin, on the charge of murdering his wife. The dead body of the woman was found in a cellar at Oberlin. A doctor found that carbolic acid had been poured down the woman's throat, which was burned out by the poison. A chunk of blood-stained coal was found near the body. Her head had been beaten in with this. Then her throat had been cut. Bennett denies the charge against him.

Opera House Burned.

Binghamton, N. Y., Oct. 9.—2 a. m.—Fire which started at 1 a. m. on the stage of Stone's opera house has completely gutted the structure, entailing a loss of $150,000. NOT BY ACCIDENT

Was a Henry George Man Nominated For State Senator.

Howe of Cuyahoga Not Even a Democrat—His Single-Tax Sentiments Made Public by Clarke—Howe of Franklin for House of Representatives.

It was not by accident that Tom L. Johnson put a single taxer upon the Democratic ticket in Cuyahoga county, especially so since his nominee was not known as a Democrat until a few months ago. The first name on his list for state senator is Frederic C. Howe, and that he is a single taxer has been kept completely quiet. The fact was discovered in a curious way. The statement appears as incidentally made in a legal brief filed in September, 1901, by Mr. Johnson's present running partner, John H. Clarke, as general solicitor of the Nickel Plate railroad. Something in the same secret way was the nomination by the Franklin county Democrats of a candidate for the legislature who proves to be a single taxer—Frank H. Howe, running for representative.

How many more single taxers have been secretly selected by Johnson and put upon the Democratic ticket for the legislature without the party knowing of their peculiarity is difficult to determine. It is safe to say, however, that the emissaries of the Single Tax league that Johnson has had running around the state for months past, have not been kept busy without definite purpose and some result for their toil. The single taxers are likely to undermine and capture the other Democrats in the Ohio legislature if there is any chance to accomplish anything, in the same way that the Zimmerman forces were undermined and overthrown in the Johnson state convention. This is a feature of the campaign that may acquire prominence.

It is perhaps more than a curious coincidence that Mr. Clarke's brief, showing that Mr. Howe had been a single taxer for a number of years, was one filed by him in regard to the valuation of the Nickel Plate railroad for taxation, being his argument to the state board of equalization for railroads. "Replying to the argument filed with this honorable board by Hon. Tom L. Johnson on Sept. 5th," 1901, to use Mr. Clarke's language, he proceeded to demolish every point in Johnson's position on railroad taxation, both then and now.

WORKEDTOO WELL.

TOM JOHNSON JUMPED THEM

His County Commissioners Commence Their Career By an Attack on the Board of Tax Review—Diligent Devotion to Duty Did Not Protect Them or the Laws of Ohio Shield Them.

No one can help connecting Tom L. Johnson's personal tax returns in Cleveland with one of the first acts of Johnson board of commissioners of Cuyahoga county. Their raid upon the county board of review which is so effectively and vigorously revising the tax returns, particularly for personal property in Cleveland, may have been made for various reasons. One of the most apparent of these is that in the natural course of its work the board of review was getting around pretty close to Mr. Johnson himself. They might want him to tell how, as a man of millions of wealth, he reconciled that fact with his report under oath of only $13,755 of personal property subject to tax in the city where he is mayor. They might insist upon pointing out that so far as known he has no investment in any Ohio enterprises that would pay taxes direct, as is the case with Senator Hanna and Colonel Herrick, so that practically his entire personal wealth is subject to assessment and taxation under the laws of Ohio, which he has sworn to support and enforce.

This might prove awkward to the leader of a crusade of righteousness in "just taxation." Consequently a short cut would be to get rid of the board of review. They have been doing their work too well. They have called corporation after corporation before them and raised their tax returns very materially, and have been so well fortified with facts that the corporations have seen no escape from the conclusions that the board of review forced upon them. The public service corporations have had their assessments raised very considerably, and particularly so Mr. Johnson's own special pet, even the natural gas company, owned by the Standard Oil company, to which he gave a perpetual city franchise with peculiar privileges. As a result of this work, in less than two years' service, at a cost to the county of only $18,000 for the two years, the board of review has added $20,000,000 to the tax duplicate of Cuyahoga county. Its members have worked diligently zealously and with such discretion that the courts have changed none of their figures.

All of this, however, did not avail. The Johnson county commissioners went after them at the first chance. The commissioners could not legislate them out of office, because the state of Ohio put them in their present position, and fixed the term of their service. But Cuyahoga county employed them, and named the salary it would give them. If this salary were cut low enough it might drive them out of office, and make a place for three Johnson men, who would obey his orders. The present members, J. B. Molyneaux, Robert Simpson and F. A. Sarstedt, were all appointed and accepted office with the salary of $2,500 a year for each. This was little enough for men qualified to do the duties that devolved upon them. They are doing their work well according to general agreement. They are earning every cent they have been paid, but the Johnson board of commissioners have voted that they can have only $900 each per year. Cleveland men at that price won't be fit for the job. The act itself suggests sinister motives.

More than that, though, is the fact that in trying to drive this board of review out of office, one of them a Democrat of recognized party service, the Johnson commissioners deprive Cuyahoga county of the only power to revise the tax returns in that county. The state law does not give the county auditor any right to add anything to the duplicate, except when taxes have been omitted. Consequently this act is a blow at the tax duplicate of Cuyahoga county. It is in absolute defiance of all the Johnson talk about "just taxation," showing it to be a sham and a fraud.

STRAY SHOTS.

One Ohio Democratic paper observes that the farmers of Ohio "are studying the tax figures which have been constantly growing during the last decade." As the state tax has been reduced more than one-half in the past two years, following further reductions under Republican rule, this Democratic must be a Rip Van Winkle who hasn't wakened up yet.

No pressure from Bryan will sweeten the dose for the Ohio silver men, when they remember how Clarke railed at them when he was a gold bug. Nor have Cal Brice's friends forgotten the bitterness of Clarke's abuse of the leader they have lost.

A thousand employes of the natural gas company which operates in Cleveland under a perpetual franchise Tom L. Johnson got for it while mayor, with peculiar privileges, are expected to re-enforce the voting power of the Johnson machine at the November election. A man to get a job there needs to of be o. k.d by a Johnson boss. Such is Johnson "home rule" reform.

SSS THE BEST TONIC

In S. S. S. Nature has provided a tonic suited to every requirement of the system when in a debilitated, run down condition. It contains no strong minerals or drugs, but is a pleasant vegetable preparation. You can find no better remedy for toning up the nerves and bringing refreshing, restful sleep when in a low state of health, or sick and worn out with work or worry.

S. S. S. improves the appetite, aids the digestion and reinforces the system, and its good effects are seen almost from the first dose. It acts promptly in cases of chronic dyspepsia, indigestion and all stomach troubles, and does away with the uncomfortable fullness, nausea, shortness of breath, drowsiness and dizziness that so often come after eating.

I have no hesitancy in recommending your S. S. S. as the best Spring tonic on the market. I have used many other medicines, but find S. S. S. to be undoubtedly the only tonic that will build up the system. I shall take pleasure in telling all whom I think in need of a good blood tonic of your medicine.
Yours truly, LEWIS S. FIEBER,
Care Stoll, Hamilton & Co. Lexington, Ky.

S. S. S. is not only the best tonic but possesses alterative or purifying properties, and if there is any taint, humor or poison in the blood it searches it out, and removes it. Many times a low state of health is due to a bad condition of the blood and can only be remedied by a blood purifier and tonic combined, or such a remedy as S. S. S.

If you suffer from debility, insomnia, nervousness, loss of appetite, bad digestion, or any of the symptoms of a disordered blood, nothing will so soon put your blood in good condition, invigorate and tone up the system as S. S. S.

Sex Characteristics.

Have you ever noticed in a fashionable crowd how much like men the women are and how much like women the men? It is not that the men are really effeminate or the women really masculine, as a keen observer once put it, but there is, nevertheless, a curious approximation in type. It may be to some extent a matter of dress. Women affect the mannish in their costume, men in summer seek more color. But it is not dress alone. The woman's face seems stronger and the man's less sensual than it would have been even a century ago. The figure, too, has changed. The man is less gross, the woman more athletic, and both are taller.—London Tatler.

Lion Cubs as Pets.

The most attractive household pets in the entire animal kingdom are said to be very young lion cubs. They are docile, affectionate and quick to learn tricks, it is said, besides being very decorative, considered merely as an article of furniture. Persons who have adopted young lions as pets and enjoyed their society for any length of time are ever after intolerant of any animal so tame and uninteresting as a dog or a cat.

A Quaint Sort of Wedding.

When a marriage takes place among the Negritos, a people of the Philippine Islands, the whole tribe assembles, and the affianced pair climb two trees growing close together. Then the elders bend the branches that the young folks are on till their heads meet. When the heads have thus touched each other the marriage is legally accomplished, and there are great rejoicings. A fantastic dance completes the ceremony.

Would Not Insure Him.

Insurance Companies would not insure the Rev. J. W. Yeisley because he had Kidney Trouble.

Mr. Yeisley was much discouraged till a friend recommended Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy and it cured him.

Mr. Yeisley writes:

"My kidneys and liver were in bad condition and I was anxious for relief. I had tried many remedies without success. I bought a bottle of 'Favorite Remedy,' which effectively proved its merit. The best proof that it has completely cured me is my recent acceptance by four different life insurance companies."

The Rev. Mr. Yeisley is the pastor of the First Reformed Church of St. Paris, Ohio, and is as well the editor of the St. Paris Dispatch.

There is no question that Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is the best and surest medicine in the world for diseases of the kidneys, liver, bladder and blood, rheumatism, dyspepsia and chronic constipation, as well as the weaknesses peculiar to women. It quickly relieves and cures inability to hold urine and the necessity of getting up a number of times during the night and puts an end to that scalding pain when passing urine.

What You Ought To Know About Ohio Tax Laws

TAXATION OF MONEY AND CREDITS.

FARMER PERKINS—The Ohio tax list requires the value of all moneys in possession, or on deposit, on the days preceding the second Monday of April, to be returned. Is that done as required by law?

Lawyer Thorndike—It is not. Those persons who have any conscience in tax matters (and that number is growing smaller each year) pay out all their moneys before that day, but the most of them pay no attention to the matter. Some of them ease their consciences by saying to themselves they owe as much as they have money on hand, and hence make no return, but in fact very little money is returned. In the country townships and in some city districts money is returned because its presence is known and because of the return of some amount prevents an inquiry by the boards of equalization.

Farmer Perkins—Is there no way to compel or force citizens to return their money on hands on grand levy day?

Lawyer Thorndike — Practically, there is not. The laws as to penalties for non-return, or insufficient return, are a dead letter. The tax penalties are never enforced. The return of moneys for taxation is with some a matter of conscience, and with all others it is a matter of how to escape inquiry from the boards of review.

The practical working of the law since 1846, for fifty-seven years, has been that money can not be reached. The state ought not to attempt to tax that which it can not reach, as the attempt is demoralizing to the state and to the taxbearer.

Farmer Perkins—How about the return of credits under item 14 of the Ohio tax list?

Lawyer Thorndike — The average taxbearer will only return such credits as he believes the public has knowledge of. If he thinks his credits are not known to the public, he will return none.

The policy of the law is to induce the taxbearer to secrete all his business from the public, and he does it right well. The state has no method to compel the taxbearer to state his credits and return the same. Any method it might adopt would be more expensive than the amount of taxes realized, and hence the law is incapable of enforcement, except in a case here and there. These exceptional cases, where there is an attempt to enforce it, simply call attention to its injustice. It is wrong and unjust to enforce it in one instance and leave it unenforced in a thousand other cases. The citizen against whom it is enforced feels that it is spite work on the part of the taxing officers, because his neighbors escape, and he is soured for life. He determines that he will never be caught a second time and he never is. He becomes a student of the subject, "How to Escape Taxation," and as the lesson is readily and easily learned, he becomes a master in it. I give an instance: One spinster returned $5,000 credits for years. The county auditor thought she ought to have returned $10,000, and tried to make her do it. He failed and she left the state. The tax on the $5,000 which she had returned for years was purely a voluntary contribution on her part for the sake of peace. She could have escaped it from the start, but when the taxing officers sought to compel her to double her burden, she learned how to avoid taxation and practiced it. By doing it she saved $100 per year, which she learned she might have saved for years before. She despises the Ohio system, and rightfully, too. A spasmodic enforcement of the law is worse than none at all.

Farmer Perkins—What has been the effect of the attempt to tax credits in Ohio?

Lawyer Thorndike—It has kept up the rate of interest on loans nearly 2 per cent above what it would have been had there been no attempt to make credits a subject of taxation.

The state expected to obtain this excess of interest in taxes, but it never obtained it and never will. The creditor class exacts it from the debtor class for the risk of being taxed, which is really avoided. The theory of taxation of credits (for it is a theory only) increases the burdens of debtors. Were it not for the attempted taxation of credits in Ohio, money could be borrowed at from 3 to 5 per cent. The policy of the state in this respect simply keeps up the rate of interest and fails to bring in the revenue it was intended to bring.

The allowing of debts to be exempted from credits practically excuses the taxbearer from returning any credits. It is easy to create debts for taxation purposes, and they are so created. I knew a citizen once who had $5,000 in credits. He had a son whom he felt obliged to support. He gave that son a non-negotiable note for $5,000, and paid him the interest on it. Thus he escaped taxation on his $5,000 credits, and in a perfectly legal way. It is perhaps unnecessary to say that the son never listed the $5,000 note for taxation. The tax authorities never knew of it and never suspected the son of having any money and so he escaped.

No citizen who has any self-respect will disclose his real financial condition on a tax list, and yet if the Ohio tax list were made out as the law intended, every citizen's real financial condition would be made public to the tax assessor, to the county auditor, and to the public.

If the taxpayer is rich he desires to conceal the fact from the taxing officers to avoid the payment of taxes. He does this to the best of his ability, and wonderful ability is displayed in that direction.

If he is involved, but doing business and in fair credit, he will not disclose his condition, because it would be ruin to do so. If the state of Ohio could compel its taxbearers to disclose their actual condition, it would precipitate failures enough to bankrupt one-half the people. The law seeking to compel men to disclose their financial condition on a tax list is, therefore, a failure, and will be less respected and less observed the better it is known.

Farmer Perkins—What as to item 15, moneys invested in bonds, stocks, joint companies, etc.?

Lawyer Thorndike—If the taxbearer thinks his business is known to the public, he will return these articles, if he has them. If not, he will not return them. Shrewd business men do not allow their ownings, or holdings, known to the public and hence do not return this class of items, except sufficient to preclude inquiry.

If compelled to return them one year, they disappear the next and are reported as invested in exempt securities.

Farmer Perkins—What about the sixteenth item of the tax list, money converted into United States bonds?

Lawyer Thorndike—This is an unwarranted attempt on the part of the state to pry into the affairs of individuals. It is to keep tab on his money and the manner of its investment. In practice, the taxbearer gives or refrains from giving the information called for as he deems proper. If he thinks his transactions are public, he gives the information. If he has kept his affairs secret, he does not give it.

The same is true as to bonds exempt from taxation on the top of page 3 of the tax list. If the taxbearer once reports them, the assessor will expect to see the same amount each year, or have it accounted for.

If once the taxbearer in Ohio makes a full return of credits, bonds, etc., and then lessens the amount, he is hounded by the taxing officers year after year, to know what he has done with them, and no explanation but insolvency, or removal from the state, will be sufficient to stop the persecution.

If a citizen makes a large return and then wishes to reduce it, it would be advisable to take up his domicile in another state.

Farmer Perkins—Can you give me an instance where by official reports money and credits are shown in any particular county and then the true amount of money and credits is known?

Lawyer Thorndike—On page 272 of the state auditor's report, 1901, is a table of moneys returned from the several counties. On page 274 is the table of credits. Add the two together, then obtain the national bank deposits from the report of the comptroller of the currency, the report of the deposits of the private banks from the state auditor's report, then add the deposits of the building associations in the county, and the difference between this total and the amounts given in the reports will disclose what money in the county escapes taxation. If some enterprising newspaper in the state would work this out as to each of the 88 counties, it would be the most startling fact ever published. I worked the problem in a single county for 1902, and found that 33 per cent of the aggregate of deposits by the banks and building associations for the selected year were returned as moneys and credits. Of the aggregate of moneys and credits, moneys made 11 per cent and credits 22 per cent. If the people of the state wish to know these facts, they lie right before them.

The amount of moneys and credits in Ohio, shown by the official reports of banks and building associations in 1902 as not being returned for taxation, is over $257,000,000, and this is nearly all in moneys. A careful examination would likely develop $100,000,000 more.

PREPARING A NEW TAX LAW.

The Ohio State Board of Commerce is preparing a new tax law which it will propose to the General Assembly when the pending taxation constitutional amendment has been adopted by the people. The purpose of this board is to establish in this state the best tax system in the United States. It expects to make Ohio the best state in the Union in which to earn a living, own an investment or operate a business. When this is done there will be no tax inquisitor laws.

In the course of a recent lecture in Hartford, Conn., on "The Making of a Newspaper," Charles Hopkins Clark of the Courant said:

"How are you going to get at the public? Mail them circulars, and the wastebaskets in 10,000 homes give each a weary yawn, and the circular disappears unread. Call upon the people and explain the merits of your wares? The sign 'Our Busy Day' hangs in business offices; in private houses you must ring the bell. Offener you are turned away.

"But put a cleverly worded advertisement of these wares in a newspaper that has an established circulation in the city's home and business houses and see what happens. You couldn't get in there yourself, but your advertisement is there on the breakfast table, in the library, in the parlor, in the sewing room, and when everybody is inquiring for the paper which can't be found it is very likely doing duty on the quiet in the kitchen.

"It is all over the house and wanted there. You are not. And, similarly, at the office it is read and reread, and part of the use of 'This Is Our Busy Day' sign is to get a chance to read the papers. And it is interesting to note the advertisement has another than a commercial use. It is printed for business purposes pure and simple, but it is often re... as news."

This paper goes into the offices and homes of the people not as an intruder, but as a welcome visitor. It will take your announcements much cheaper than you can send them to any considerable number on circulars which will be thrown away after a glance.

Good Points In Dogs.

Among the many canine qualities worthy of imitation a lover of the "four footed brothers" emphasizes their contented resignation to the circumstances of life. Dogs, he says, do not go about trying to do good to other dogs by urging them to bark in the same key and bite with the same tooth as themselves, nor, which is a merciful provision of nature, do they become bored by the people with whom their lot is cast and want to try a new master every few months. Whatever the disadvantages of their homes may be, they stand by them and make a cheerful best of it. Over and again a dog puts his heart before his outraged stomach and lets his affections dominate his indigestion rather than desert his master for a better board. Many a master, concludes the dog champion, would do well to emulate in points like these the meanest of his "little yellow curs."

How to Take Coffee.

The London Lancet commends the practice of drinking coffee after dinner, as coffee is an antidote to alcohol. Those whose digestions are disturbed by the use of hot coffee are advised to secure the advantages of its stimulating properties by taking it in the form of jelly. We are assured that a clear coffee jelly after dinner is every bit as good as the hot infusion, while it is free from some of its drawbacks. Coffee, unlike alcohol, diminishes organic waste, rouses the muscular energy without the collapse which follows alcoholic inhibition, and gelatin in the form of jelly is cooling, assuages thirst, is soothing and has a tendency to absorb any excessive acidity of the stomach.

JOHNSON'S CHIEF OFFICE-HOLDERS AS TAX-EATERS.

How the 106 Principal Members of Mayor Johnson's Political Machine Pay Into the Cuyahoga County Treasury This Year an Aggregate of Only $1,238.33 In Taxes. These Same Officials Draw Out of the City and County Treasuries the Sum of $296,756 Each Year In Salaries.

In view of the fact that Mayor Johnson, who would like to be governor of Ohio, has made "just taxation," as he understands it, one of the three issues of the present campaign, it would be interesting to know just what Mr. Johnson and his followers mean by "just taxation," says the Cleveland Leader: The great "single-taxer" has never seen fit to state what the phrase means, and how he would bring about a reform in taxation methods which would equalize the burden and be fair to every taxpayer in the state. A large number of the people of Ohio believe that Mayor Johnson's idea of taxation is a radical reform along the lines laid down by Henry George, and better known as the single tax; this not only embraces a tax upon land alone, for all purposes of revenue, but also a confiscation of property values, which would place the burden of taxation upon the small land owner and take it away from the rich man with his millions invested in invisible securities.

Whether or not Mayor Johnson contemplates as radical a reform as this, this much is sure, that the tax record of the mayor and his officeholders in Cuyahoga county proves that their cry of "just taxation" is inconsistent with their public record in the matter of tax returns. In the following table it will be seen that 106 of the Democratic officeholders of the mayor's city and county machine and candidates draw annual salaries amounting to $296,756, and return for taxation their personal property at $41,195. This record includes the salary and personal tax return of the mayor himself, and a perusal of the record will show that the mayor's reputed millions are not listed, and that one of his officeholders, City Treasurer Coffinberry, returns $4,780 more for taxation than Mayor Johnson.

The whole amount paid in personal taxes by the 106 officeholders is only $1,238.33, and when it is remembered that these same officeholders draw from the city and county treasuries salaries amounting to $296,756, it would seem that the Johnson administration was a tax-eating and not a tax-paying organization. Only a few of the Johnson officeholders are named in the table, as it must be remembered that the city payrolls contain about 3,200 Johnson followers.

The tax rate in the city before Mayor Johnson started his crusade for "just taxation" was $2.67 per $100 valuation, and for the year 1902 the tax rate was $3.05 on each $100 valuation, and this year it will be $3.01 on each $100, on an estimated duplicate of $200,000,000. This is despite the fact that over half the state tax in Cleveland has been taken off. Besides that the city's bonds were at a high premium when Johnson came in. Now, after all his agitation, the bonds of Cleveland go begging for buyers and can scarcely be sold at par.

The bonded indebtedness of the city has been increased by Mayor Johnson from about $13,000,000 to $17,000,000, and other schemes which have originated in the fertile brain of the city's chief executive will increase this bonded indebtedness $10,000,000 more if he is allowed to carry them out.

It would seem that Mayor Johnson, at least would be consistent enough to return a reasonable part of his reputed invisible millions for taxation as long as he makes his principal political play on the inequalities of the present system, and claims that the corporations and the rich are escaping their just share of the tax burden. The matter of a high tax rate is of little concern to the mayor and his followers as long as they can escape listing their own property for taxation. Following is the table compiled from the official records in the court house and the city hall Sept. 1, showing the amounts the leading Johnson officeholders consume in salaries, and the amounts they pay back to the county in personal taxes, meanwhile trying to make political capital out of their inconsistent cry of "just taxation":

REPRESENT MILLION WORKMEN

Indianapolis, Oct. 9.—Leading representatives of the national and international organizations of building and repairing trades met in conference for the purpose of bringing their respective organizations into an international federation, having for its object the arbitration, adjudication and conduct of building trades affairs.

Among those attending are: M. P. Carrick, secretary and treasurer of the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paper Hangers; James Hannahan, grand trustee of the International Union of Steam Engineers; P. Guggins, president of the National Union of Bricklayers and Masons; J. R. Cavanaugh and W. A. O'Keefe, president and secretary treasurer of the Operative Plasterers International association; Frank Buchanan, president of the Bridge and Structural Iron Workers' International union; Herman Lilien, president of the International Hod Carriers and Building Laborers' union; Frank Duffy, secretary, and Thomas Neale, treasurer of the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, and John Maloney and S. B. French, of the electrical workers. They represent 700,000 workmen.

A committee was appointed to frame a skeleton constitution to be submitted to the conference. It consists of M. P. Carrick, P. Larson, Joseph Carey, W. J. Spencer, J. G. Hannahan, George Gubbins and Thomas Maloney.

There is a very general disposition among all of the delegates to have the new international federation work in perfect harmony with the American Federation of Labor and other national federations in which different ones of the building trades are represented. All of the organizations propose to remain in their present federation alliances and to pay their per capita assessments.

HELD AT BAY BY LUNATIC

Passenger Becomes Deranged on Train and Leaps Through Window.

Crawfordsville, Ind., Oct. 9.—Wesley Hedges, traveling on a Big Four train, accompanied by his wife and three children, en route frohm Jacksonville, Va., to La Harpe, Ill., suddenly became deranged while on the train, and after arriving here held the police at bay for a long time.

While the train was running 50 miles an hour Hedges suddenly gave a wild scream, and seizing one of his children, plunged through the car window into the darkness. His wife grabbed the boy just as the man disappeared.

The trainmen stopped the train and with the assistance of the passengers a torchlight search along the track was made. The searchers soon came on Hedges lying near a telegraph pole. He was picked up for dead and placed in the baggage car and brought to this city. Shortly after arriving here he began to show signs of life. Left in the station unguarded, Hedges again became violent and sprang out of the station and ran down the streets pursued by the whole police force. Large stones which he picked up he used in keeping his pursuers at bay. He was finally overpowered and taken to jail.

General Hamilton is one of the heroes of the Boer war, and is in this country on a 5-weeks' leave of absence. His business here is mainly in the nature of a pleasure trip which he was incited to take mainly by the cordial invitation he got from Generals Corbin and Young during the maneuvers of the German army.

During his stay in Washington he will be the guest of General and Mrs. Corbin, and will improve the opportunity to visit the battlefields of Antietam, Gettysburg and Chickamauga.

Judge Hole Instructs the Jury to for Find Defendant in Irondale Slot Machine Case.

Lisbon, October 9.—(Special.)—At the conclusion of the argument in the slot machine case in which Benjamin J. James, of Irondale, as plaintiff, against S. S. Creadon, sought to recover damages for trouble he got into through Creadon's machine, which the latter had placed in James' billiard room, Judge Hole instructed the jury to return a verdict for the defendant.

As the case touches an interesting point with reference to the farming out of slot machines regarded as gambling devices, Judge Hole's charge to the jury in the case will be of interest. It follows in full:

"In this case the plaintiff undertakes to recover from the defendant the sum of $120 which he claimed was incurred by reason of the use of a gambling machine which he placed in his place of business at the request of the defendant. His claim is that the defendant represented to him that the machine was a lawful device, but that he furthermore guaranteed to pay any expenses which might be occasioned if it should appear that it was not a lawful machine. Now, it becomes my duty under this state of the facts, and from the testimony of the plaintiff himself to say to you that it is your duty to return a verdict for the defendant. And perhaps for the benefit of jury and counsel both I might state why I feel bound to give you this instruction.

"It is against public policy for courts to enforce a contract of that kind. At the most it was a contract to pay for something which was unlawful. Admitting, as the plaintiff claims—and I think he told the truth when he testified on the stand as to what the contract was—admitting that to be true and admitting that there were representations that this was an innocent device, yet the contract was that if it should thereafter appear that it was not a legal device then the defendant should pay damages for the illegal use.

Wood Girl a Winner At Coshocton and Has a Most Promising Future.

C. A. Smith returned from Coshocton this morning where he attended the county fair and witnessed a race won by one of his trotters, Wood Girl. He says that the fair was attended by more than 15,000 people and was one of the most successful ever held in Coshocton county.

The race in which Wood Girl landed a victory was entered by six other horses and was the interesting feature of the fair. Wood Girl won the race with a mark of 2:25¼ and had her competitors distanced in the last heat.

Local horsemen say that Wood Girl has a most promising future, and concede her to be the fastest mare of her class in this section of the country. Her limit is not known and it is expected that she will rank among the best trotters in the country in a few more seasons. This year was her first venture upon a race track and she has won steadily, getting a third race at Salem and Pulaski. She is a pretty animal and is admired by all.

MR. JOHNSTON IS INDIGNANT

Declares He will Not Pay a Fine Imposed By Plasterers' Union.

Not the First Case of the Kind, Says the Councilman—He Proposes to Resist the Demand to the Bitter End.

There is trouble brewing in Local Union No. 42 of the Operative Plasterers' organization. It seems that conditions have been growing toward the outbreak which is promised for at least a year. What the result will be is not known at the present time, but one of the aggrieved parties stated this morning that unless action taken by the local is not rescinded in a very short time grave conditions will exist.

The aggrieved party is Councilman Hugh Johnston, the well known contractor. Mr. Johnston conducts an extensive business and has considerable dealings with the members of the plasterers' union. Through the mail this morning Mr. Johnston received a communication from the secretary of the union stating that he had been fined $50 for permitting Ervin Windle to serve him in the capacity of a plasterer. Windle not being a member of the local. Johnston was very much worked up over the letter and expressed himself very forcibly on the matter. He claims that the action of the local was done for spite and that it is outrageous. He says that he made application to the local for Windle's admission to it and that the request was refused.

"I will not pay the fine," said Mr. Johnston, "and the local will not dare to press the case. The members know full well what the result would be. About a year ago I was fined $25 on a similar case, and because I was in such a fix that I could not allow my work to stop I was compelled to pay it."

Mr. Johnston says he cannot escape trouble by persisting in the non-payment of the assessment. It means simply that no man belonging to the union can work for him until it is paid. He says the objection raised to admitting Windle into the union is that he is too old. "There will be something doing," continued Mr. Johnston. "I am not in a position to state what it will be right now, but within a few days everything will be settled, and I won't pay the $50 either. It is high time that my contemplated action was taken and I propose to take it."

NO EVIDENCE THAT HE WAS A PARTNER

A. D. Matteson Loses in His Suit for Part of Thomas Hamilton's Drug Business.

Lisbon, October 9.—(Special)—Probate Judge J. A. Martin has given his opinion in the case of the heirs of the late Thomas Hamilton, of Wellsville, and A. D. Matteson, now of Salem. Mr. Hamilton was in the drug business at Wellsville and early last April took in A. D. Matteson, either as employe or as a partner. When Mr. Hamilton died about the first of last July, Matteson claimed to own a half interest in the store, which was valued in all at about $2,600 and asked that appraisers be appointed to appraise the property as a partnership business.

Judge Martin, in his decision, held that the evidence did not satisfy him that Matteson had a half interest in the store. The testimony was of a conflicting character, he said, and that if there was any contract between the deceased and Matteson its terms were not clearly enough defined for the court to determine such to be the case. Matteson's application was therefore overruled.

HON. T. E. BURTON TO MAKE INSPECTION OF THE OHIO RIVER TO ASCERTAIN ITS NEEDS

Washington, October 9.—Representative T. E. Burton, of Cleveland, chairman of the rivers and harbors committee, has returned to Washington after spending several months in Europe studying the systems of water way improvement. When asked if his investigations had influenced his position with regard to the improvement of the Ohio river he declined to discuss the matter further than to say that he stands now just where he did before he left Washington.

This can be construed as meaning that Mr. Burton, while not an opponent of a nine-foot channel, believes it impracticable to authorize such an immense work so long as the policy of the government remains as it is at present. The rivers and harbors bill carries appropriations aggregating from $20,000,000 to $25,000,000 annually, and so long as this sum is not increased he thinks it would not be fair to take a larger proportion of the amount each year for improving the Ohio river to the neglect of other deserving public works. If the government will double or treble the appropriation Mr. Burton would be found among the advocates of the Ohio river improvement.

It is Mr. Burton's intention to make a thorough inspection of the Ohio river before congress meets. He will start from Pittsburg and go to Cincinnati, informing himself of the needs of the river and enabling him to make comparisons of that stream with the waterways he inspected in Europe.

Mr. Burton today made very interesting observations and the most significant was that in which he says that "the situation increases the strength of the argument for imposing upon specific localities part of the expense, unless the sentiment of the country will cordially sustain a large increase in federal appropriations."

Mr. Burton said:

ATTACKED BY FOUR MEN

Lying in a pool of blood, which had poured from numerous cuts inflicted about his face, neck and head, George Walker, employed as an engraver at McNicol's pottery, was found in a helpless condition near Walsh's hotel on Sixth street last evening by Officer Dawson at about 7:30 o'clock. The man was immediately taken to central police station in the patrol wagon.

Dr. C. B. Ogden, the city physician, was summoned to attend the injured man and upon a hasty examination pronounced him not fatally hurt, but in a rather serious condition. The physician cleansed the wounds, all of them ugly and giving to him a ghastly appearance. The most serious hurt was discovered to be on the back of his head, where a deep gash had been made. The wounds were patched and by that time he had regained his senses sufficiently to partially explain the cause of his undesirable plight.

To Chief Wyman Walker stated that he had been assaulted by four men with whom he had been arguing over the merits of the Boston and Pittsburg base ball teams. He said that he was championing Boston and the quartet was rooting for Pittsburg. The dispute ended in a general fight, in which Walker claims one of the men struck him in the head with a hand billy, and after felling him to the ground the entire bunch beat and kicked him into a state of unconsciousness. He could not remember the names of any of them and could not give a very good description of them.

Mayor Weaver also hear the man's story, and as it is unlawful for men to fight and Walker acknowledged that he was in it the mayor assessed a fine of $5 on him. Walker paid it and though weak from the loss of blood and excitement started toward his home. En route there he was met by

MANY HOUSES EXPLORED

Chief Wyman and the entire police force are making a decided effort to run down the thieves who broke into the cellar of Mrs. Carolina Smith, Shadyside, on Tuesday night and stole nearly 100 cans of choice fruit and other articles, the cost of which will aggregate close to $75. After having search warrants issued for three houses in the vicinity of her home, Mrs. Smith gave out information which, it is believed, will result in the capture of the thieves.

The suspicion of Mrs. Smith rested on people living close to her home. Three warrants were turned over to Officer Aufderheide yesterday afternoon and he made a thorough search of three homes, but found nothing. He reported the fruitless search ind this morning Chief Wyman detailed Officer McDermott to continue the search. The officer applied at several more of the homes in the vicinity and met the same fate that crowned the efforts of Officer Aufderheide.

However, the case is not to be dropped. Suspicious looking characters were seen around the Smith home on the night of the theft, and it is thought they were from the shantyboat districts. And it is believed that when a search is made of the boats a clue will be found. It is the intention of Chief Wyman to keep the shantyboats under strict vigilance, so many cases having been reported to him implicating residents of that district.

There is scarcely a day that some report is not made at police headquarters of some misdemeanor being committed by people of Shantytown and many of them relate to the loss of some article of value. The latter part of last week a number of the boats were thoroughly ransacked by the officers but nothing was found. They expect to be more successful in the future and hope by centering on the boats for a time to break up some of the thieving.

WILL BE EITHER THE 27th OR 28th OF OCTOBER.

It Is Expected He Will Be Here At That Time—Kansas Cyclone Coming.

Lisbon, October 9.—(Special)—Senator C. C. Connell, who is secretary of the Columbiana county Republican committee, returned from Columbus yesterday, where he visited Republican headquarters to make a request that Senator J. B. Foraker be dated for an address at East Liverpool. Only two open dates, October 27 and 28, remained for Senator Foraker and he will probably be in East Liverpool on one of those days.

Hon. Frank B. Dawes, of Leavenworth, Kan., a former attorney general of Kansas, will probably be in Columbiana county for three meetings to be held October 28, 29 and 30. Mr. Dawes is known as the "Kansas Cyclone" and made a great hit when he spoke at the county seat three years ago. A rousing meeting is being arranged for, to be held here and addressed by Mr. Dawes on one of the days he has consented to give to this county.

Discharged from Prison.

Columbus, October 9.—(Special.)—Jack Reeves, four years for shooting with intent to kill, and Frank Blackburn, four years for horse stealing, both from Columbiana county, have been discharged from the penitentiary upon expiration of sentence. This was Blackburn's third term.

McConnell Chosen Treasurer.

Findlay, October 9.—(Special)—At the election of officers of the Ohio Federation of Labor held here today, Criss McConnell, of East Liverpool, was elected treasurer. The next convention will be held at Canton.

SALINEVILLE MAN OUT FOR SENATOR

A Coal Miner Receives the Nomination in the 18th-19th District.

From a Staff Correspondent.

Columbus, October 9.—You can't keep the Columbiana county man down. This axiom, events prove, applies with special directness to the Salineville man. This hustling little community has furnished many men for high places and stands ready to continue the supply whenever necessary. The latest Columbiana county man to have honor thrust upon him is Alexander Smith, now of Mineral City, Tuscarawas county, formerly of Salineville, where he dug coal. He has just been nominated by the Republicans for state senator from the Eighteenth-Nineteenth joint district, comprising Tuscarawas, Coshocton, Guernsey, Monroe counties and a part of Noble county.

Mr. Smith is 47 years old and a coal miner by occupation. He resided at Salineville many years and was known by his associates there as a man of conservative judgment, good habits and reserved demeanor. He left that village about 15 years ago and became prominent as an indefatigable worker in politics and the mine workers' union. He served as president of the organization of his district for a number of years and made a good record. He is popular and has done much to promote the spirit of good will prevailing between the miners and the operators in his part of the state.

OFFICER BATTLED WITH A HUGE DOG

Policeman Aufderheide Has One of the Most Thrilling Encounters of His Life.

VICTOR AFTER STRUGGLE

Officer Henry Aufderheide had one of the most thrilling experiences of his life yesterday afternoon when he approached a house on Sharyside, West End, for the purpose of searching the premises to locate, if possible, the fruit stolen from the home of Mrs. Carolina Smith. He was attacked by a ferocious dog and it was only the iron nerve of the officer that saved him from terrble injuries.

The dog, one of the largest of its species, made its attack on the officer when he was least expecting it and as a result came dangerously near accomplishing its evil design. The policeman is the owner of a mastiff and was never known to fear any of the canine family, but he is changed now and in the future will watch carefully the approach of every dog, no difference what size it may be. Upon entering the yard of the Shadyside residence he plainly saw the dog, but not thinking for a moment that it intended to attack him, plodded along toward the rear of the house.

While he was walking with his back to the animal he was startled by a fierce growl and turning like a flash saw the angry brute coming at him at a furious rate. The dog had gained such momentum and was so close to him when first seen that the officer only escaped contact with it by a quick jump to one side. Hardly had the enraged brute passed him, however, until it prepared for another attack. Drawing his mace from his pocket, the officer was in better shape to receive the second attack, and when the dog lunged at him he dealt it a blow on the head that sent it reeling on its back.

The officer thought he had vanquished his foe and was congratulating himself on his escape when the animal recovered and made one more lunge. This time he met the leap of the dog with a hard blow directly on the head. Like a log the dog rolled over on the ground and was left for dead. Quite a large crowd assembled at the scene of the exciting battle and there were none who did not fear that the officer would get the worst of it when the first attack was made.

STRIKE OF GIRLS WAS INAUGURATED

A strike of about 35 girls in the biscuit ware house at the China works was inaugurated this morning, the girls refusing to go to work when they were told that lunch hour was to be abolished. Another grievance is the reduction of the stamper from $1.15 to $1 per day. The new wage agreement, which went into effect October 1, provided that lunch hour among those who work for day wages be abolished. It is claimed, however, that owing to the flint the work on china is much harder than on granite or other ware and for this reason the girls want a differential.

As no provision has been made, a meeting of the arbitration board has been called for next Monday night when it is expected a settlement will be reached.

RIGHT OF WAY IS ASKED FOR DOWN RIVER LINE

The United Power company, of this city, has presented the following petition to the county commissioners of Jefferson county:

"The undersigned corporation, organized under the laws of Ohio for the purpose of constructing and operating a street railway from the village of Empire northward to the Columbiana county line, respectfully apply for a grant to construct an electric railway and necessary poles and wires and operate street cars for conveying passengers, freight and mail over and along the Steubenville & Wellsville state road and ask for a franchise for a period of 25 years and file herewith the consents of a majority of the owners of the feet front abutting on state road for the construction of the same. The signers are:

"John Taggart, 3,080 feet; E. W. Cooper, 3,566 feet; O. G. Crawford, 1,200 feet; Nancy Jones, 1,960 feet; J. W. Vantilberg, 600 feet; W. H. Greer, 700 feet; W. W. McKee, 800 feet; G. W. Skinner, 1,200 feet; J. W. Ekey, 1,900 feet; A. J. Galloway, 320 feet; A. J. Ducker, 150 feet; A. R. Householder, Nancy Householder, 1,500 feet; A. E. Crawford, 5,000 feet; David B. Brant, 2,500 feet; Sarah O. Miller, 3,500 feet; G. L. Westeat, 1,200 feet."

The commissioners will view the route today. The road is nearly complete to the Jefferson county line from below Wellsville and the petitioners are the same parties who ask for the franchise from Empire north.

The Steubenville Traction company is going north to Empire so that the gap between Toronto and Wellsville will soon be complete.

DEMURRER IN THE WYMAN CASE BEING ARGUED TODAY

Lisbon, October 9.—(Special.)—The case of the city of East Liverpool, by George E. Davidson, solicitor, versus James H. Grafton et al, in which an injunction against Mayor Weaver and the board of public safety is asked to prevent the appointment of John W. Wyman to the office of chief of police, came up for argument on demurrer before the court today.

J. H. Brookes, of East Liverpool, and Judge N. B. Billingsley, who filed the demurrer in behalf of the defendant, appeared for their client, and Solicitor George E. Davidson, of East Liverpool, and Attorney W. F. Lones, of Wellsville, appeared for the plaintiff. Mayor Weaver, of East Liverpool, was also present.

The language of the demurrer is as follows:

"The defendants separately demur to the petition of the plaintiff herein, and take as their grounds therefor:

"First—That it appears by the petition that the plaintiff has no legal capacity to sue.

"Second—That the petition does not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause for action."

The arguments in the case consisted of lengthy dissertations with reference to the technicalities involved and numerous citations of decisions.

The demurrer raises two questions. First, the right of the solicitor to bring action is denied, the claim being made that the power of the board of safety and the mayor are not corporate powers, and the second question raised is as to the right to bring an action by injunction to test this question. The defendants' attorneys hold that the solicitor had no right to bring this kind of action at this stage of the proceedings and that he has no adequate remedy at law and not in equity.

The defendant's counsel claim that the board and mayor must be allowed to certify and appoint according to their own interpretation of the law, and then, if the person appointed is open to any legal objections, those objecting may begin a proceedings in the nature of quo warranto to eject him from the office. They hold that this proceeding of Solicitor Davidson is premature.

The plaintiff's counsel enter a general denial to the points advanced by the defendants' counsel.

GREAT PROGRESS BEING MADE BY YOUNGSTOWN & SOUTHERN

Salem, October 9.—The Youngstown & Southern company is making excellent progress in the construction of its line from Youngstown to this city. About 20 miles of grading and track have been laid, which will doubtless be a surprise to many on account of the unostentatious and quiet manner which the company has pursued in its work. In a few days more, probably by the latter part of the week, ground will be broken in Columbiana county. It is expected, according to present calculations, that the southern part of the county will be reached about the latter part of January or February.

The present rate of progress is nothing short of phenomenal. It seems only a few months since the first shovelful of earth was lifted marking the beginning of operations. Now over half of the work is completed. The shortness of the time and the wonderful advancement which has resulted are the subject of much surprise and congratulation.

The remarkable success of the company is attributed to the fact that it is sparing neither money nor expense to build the road and place it in operation as soon as possible.

Hundreds of men, together with dozens of teams, are working on the job. And the company is steadily increasing its force as the work advances. Men and teams are hired when and wherever available.

Although "onward" appears to be the slogan of the officials of the company, the work is being done well. A competent critic who has seen many railroads constructed, says that the cross-country line will be equal to the finest in the state.

WITH THE WORKMEN IN THE CLAY PLANTS

A BIG OUTPUT.

The shipments of paving brick and sewer pipe from the Ohio valley for the month of August possibly exceeded those of any previous month during the year. The matter of securing cars in which to make shipments has not been quite as serious a problem this season as it was last year, or for that matter for the last two years, which fact would, of course, have something to do with the very satisfactory month's business. Almost all the brick and sewer pipe plants in the Ohio valley are in full operation and will possibly continue so until the last of the year at least unless the threatened strike of the clay miners should materialize. It appears that an advance of two cents a ton has been granted to clay miners at one of the plants of the American Sewer Pipe company. At this particular plant the claim is made that conditions are such as to warrant the payment of a little higher wage rate for mining clay than is paid at other of the company's works. This apparent discrimination seemed to be distasteful to the miners at other of the company's works, however, who immediately made a demand for an equal advance, which, in turn, was refused. The action of the management in the matter, of course, engendered talk of a strike forthwith, and it is hard to tell as yet just how the matter will terminate. It is also intimated that in case the miners at the American company's works go out on strike, the clay miners at other plants in the vicinity will do likewise. If the strike is declared there can be but one immediate result, granting, of course, a speedy agreement can not be arranged, and that would be a general shutdown of all the plants, a condition which, coming just at this time, would doubtless be more disastrous to the workmen than to the manufacturers.

FIRMS WITHDRAWING.

There has been considerable uneasiness in pottery circles during the past month over the actions of several sanitary firms giving notice of their intention to withdraw from the Sanitary Manufacturers' association, followed by a 10 per cent cut in the selling prices of sanitary ware.

The potters are fearful lest this move was the beginning of the end of the sanitary manufacturers' association, but through the activity of those manufacturers who realize the necessity of an organization to maintain a selling price that will guarantee a fair margin of profit, there has been a reorganization of the association which will include all the leading shops of the country.

There are quite a number of reasons advanced as to the cause of the present depression in the sanitary business, the most reasonable of which is the inability of the dealers to deliver goods owing to the large number of strikes in the building trades the past summer.

In spite of the present depression manufacturers say that with the completion of buildings under way there will be a general revival of business toward the end of the year.

NEW CASTLE NOTES.

Local union No. 54 held a very interesting meeting last week. The action of the arbitration board was discussed and does not seem wholly to please the potters here, especially the two-year agreement. Four transfer cards were received from sanitary ware pressers' local No. 45 of Trenton, N. J.

The Universal pottery seems to be picking up. There is some trouble in regard to putting on another apprentice presser, and Vice President Hutchins has been sent for, and will likely settle the trouble.

Things are moving all right at the China shop, except the trouble in the gilding department. The local has sent for President Duffy to come on and settle it. He will likely be here about the same time as Vice President Hutchins.

At the Shenango things are booming. The prospects were never brighter since the plant was built.

George Wolf, who was manager for the past year, has left. Report has him going to Derry.

Thomas McKeone, who has been off sick for the last few days, is back at work again.

The famous Crip Cain was a visitor here October 7 and left for Youngstown.

Walt McKeone has started to work again. He was called to East Liverpool on account of the serious illness of his daughter, which resulted fatally. She died Sunday at 9:30 and was buried Tuesday at 2:30. The many friends of Brother McKeone sympathize with him in his sad bereavement.

THE WEATHER.

Ohio—Fair Friday and Saturday; light to fresh west winds, becoming variable.

Western Pennsylvania—Fair Friday and Saturday; fresh northwest winds.

The fire doors are being covered and put in place.

George Brockway, the dipper, commenced work Wednesday.

Three carloads of clay are on their way here from Liverpool, England.

Work was commenced Wednesday on placing the third biscuit kiln.

The girls employed in the biscuit ware house reported for work on Wednesday.

Will Hackney, the moulder, is working on some specialties, making moulds for fancy cake and pie plates, pickle dishes, etc.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Albright, of Sebring, were in town Tuesday inspecting the pottery. Mr. Albright was well pleased with the first kiln of ware.

The first biscuit was drawn Monday. It contained about $1,600 worth of ware. Although it was the first kiln the loss was practically nothing. The ware was in excellent shape, and the result surpassed the expectations and hopes of the officials.

POTTERY NOTES.

The Sebring pottery sent a solid car of ware to Cleveland Wednesday.

William White was called here from Salem by his mother's serious illness.

Silas Steele, formerly of the Globe, has accepted a position at Coshocton.

George Smurthwaite, the big jiggerman at McNicol's, has been off duty for several days, owing to a bealed finger.

The French China company at Sebring is building a large addition to its plant upon the north side of the main building.

Settlement Out of Court.

Lisbon, October 9.—(Special.)—The damage cases in which Elizabeth Stahl and Esau Somerville were plaintiffs against the city of Salem, asking $1,000 and $600, respectively, for alleged damage to property resulting from the grading of streets, were terminated unexpectedly in court yesterday afternoon by the parties agreeing to settle. The terms were agreed upon whereby the city will pay all the costs in each case and in addition the plaintiff, Stahl, will get $300 and the plaintiff, Somerville, $100.

HIRSUTE ORNAMENTS NOT WORN 100 YEARS AGO.

Post-Bellum Period When the Mustache Flourished Most—Smooth Faces the Style Now.

As regards whiskers, the twentieth century is beginning somewhat as the nineteenth began, though, of course, not so strictly and universally smooth, but it is doubtful if it will run parallel through all its quarters, with its predecessor. There were no mustaches, no beards, when the nineteenth century dawned.

Side whiskers began to curl and sprout before it had run far in its course, and they grew bolder after a time and encircled the throat and chin, leaving bare the upper lip. The lip was submerged about 1860, and in the later years of destruction was last to yield to the assaults of the barber.

The masculine human countenance began to exhibit itself again not long after the war, and from that time down to the very recent past, the unsupported mustache was the prevailing mode. Now fashion is changing again, so that the young men are commonly completely shaved and their fathers have covered lips.

The youth of today have the weight of civilized precedent with them. An examination of the family albums of the last four centuries will demonstrate that the unwhiskered have had by far the better of it. For nearly 260 years of that time the beard was not permitted to sprout.

A great deal of encouragement for the shaven but ambitious young man may be found in the presidency of the United States. From the beginning with Washington, down to Lincoln's time whiskers found lodgement only three times, and in every case they were of the remote variety known as sideboards, which offered no considerable obstruction of the faces to which they were linked.

Cleveland was the first mustached president and Roosevelt was the second, while McKinley preserved the tradition of the smooth face.

Fourteen of the presidents have shaven completely, seven have shaven only partly, and only four have gone unshaven. Lincoln, wearing a beard but no mustache, shaved the least of those who shaved at all.

TEACHERS WANTED IN PHILIPPINES

The Government Offers Inducements and Fair Salaries to Young Men.

The civil service commission has just received a call from the Philippine government for 150 male teachers with salaries as follows: Twenty-five at $1,200; 70 at $1,000 and 55 at $900 per annum. It is desired to secure these teachers without unnecessary delay, and an examination will be held on October 19-20 in various cities.

Peace has been established in the Philippines and the conditions of living are improving every month. This examination, therefore, affords an excellent opportunity for young men to enter an attractive service which offers excellent opportunities for promotion. Teachers appointed are eligible for promotion to the higher grades in the service, the salaries ranging from $900 to $2,000 for teachers and from $1,500 to $2,500 for division superintendents.

Application blanks for this examination are on file with George H. Mounts, secretary of the local civil service commission, and any information desired can be secured from him. The examination can be taken in Ohio at Cleveland, Cincinnati, Columbus, Ironton, Toledo and Zanesville.

C. & P. VIOLATES THE INJUNCTION

East End Citizen Claims Restraining Order Has Been Ignored.

BELLEEK STREET TRACKS

Have Been Constructed By the Company And the Crossing Is Almost Impassable as a Result—Citizens Are Surprised.

According to the statement of a prominent East End citizen, made this morning, the C. & P. railroad company has ignored the injunction secured some time ago by the city, in bulding tracks across Belleek street. Men in the employ of the company have been at work for a number of days in constructing the west bound track, but until Belleek street was reached public property had not been intruded upon. The new track came to an end a short distance east of Mulberry street, no attempt being made to lay the rails at the street intersection. None of the street from Mulberry west to Belleek extend across the railroad to the north. Belleek street did not extend across the tracks until the Midway Land company's addition was accepted by the city, the latest atlases, compiled for the county, not showing the extension.

Not only did the railroad company construct the main line track across the street intersection, but a spur for the use of the Freedom Oil company at its new supply station. The company has either entirely ignored the injunction or the contractors are in ignorance of the fact that Belleek street extends beyond the tracks to the north.

Those who have learned of the company's act are surprised rather than angry, although the street crossing has been left in an almost impassable condition. It is realized that the tracks will eventually be laid and that the company will have the legal right to act as soon as the differences with the city are adjusted. Surprise is expressed, however, at the assurance of the company in violating the injunction.

It is not likely that any objection will be made by East Enders unless the company fails to make the crossing passable. If this is not done trouble may follow and an inquiry will be made into the merit of the case.

Moving Its Supply Station.

The Freedom Oil company has commenced the work of moving its supply station from the present quarters to the property recently purchased for this purpose from the Midway Land company. Extensive improvements will be made, placing the station in first class order. The land necessary for the station was purchased some time ago from the Midway Land company and the C. & P. railroad has built a spur to acommodate the company.

Gun Club Practice.

BIG PURCHASES OF COAL LANDS

ALONG THE OHIO RIVER BELOW WHEELING.

Purchased By New York Parties—Territory Embraces 30,000 Acres.

During the last few years all the coal territory in Ohio and Marshall counties, W. Va., has been acquired by agents for Pittsburg parties, and a large sum of money has been distributed among the farmers and other land owners. Thousands of acres have been secured and now the Pittsburg company has sold the territory to eastern capital, as the following telegram from New York shows:

Wall street and Pennsylvania interests today completed a deal whereby control was acquired of about 30,000 acres of coal lands in Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia. The principal field is in Marshall county, W. Va., three miles from the Pennsylvania line on the Baltimore & Ohio and known to geologists as the "Pittsburg seam," which Professor I. C. White, state geologist of West Virginia, says contains 100,000,000 tons of coal.

The company, known as the Summit Coal company, has a capital of $10,000,000. The output will be 4,000 tons a day. The organization was completed at a meeting at 170 Broadway today, when George H. Proctor, a California capitalist and mine operator, wes elected president; I. C. Smith, of Connellsville, Pa., general manager; T. J. Yost, treasurer, and Henry B. Twombley, secretary.

E. E. Dilliner, of Uniontown, Pa., and Charles C. Newfan, of Loundsville, W. Va., were elected in addition to the above as directors.

Canton, October 9.—The state convention of the Women's Christian Temperance union occupied practically the whole day yesterday adopting a new constitution and by-laws. The point on which the delegates divided was the board of trustees, which heretofore controlled all finances of the association. A compromise was reached providing that the trustees shall be three state vice presidents and three state superintendents of departments, and that the board shall incur no expense.

A committee of delegates was named to present the greetings of the association to Mrs. McKinley, together with a floral greeting.

About 2,500 Acres of Mahoning County Coal Lands Taken Up and To Be Developed.

Salem, October 9.—At Youngstown Wednesday some 24 valuable coal leases, in which William Dunn, superintendent of the Salem company's coal mines near this city, is interested, were filed for record with Recorder W. H. McGinnis, of Mahoning county. The leases comprise about 2,500 acres of valuable coal territory in Mahoning county, largely in Boardman and Canfield townships, and from the filing of the leases it is inferred that extensive operations will begin in that section within a short time. Mr. Dunn could not be seen today, and communication with his son at the Salem company's mine failed to develop anything further than a confirmation of the fact that the leases had been closed.

With Mr. Dunn is associated Robert L. Walker, of Poland, Mahoning county. Inasmuch as in at least two of the leases, those on the Gabrel Kline farms, sections are incorporated giving the lessees the right to construct and operate railways on the farms, for which Mr. Dunn is to pay an annual rental of $600, gives color to the report that a big deal is under way. The leases all specify that at least ten tons of coal per acre shall be taken out each year, or its equivalent paid for. The price to be paid per ton for run of mine in most of the leases is 15 cents, though in some cases 25 cents per ton is to be paid. None of the leases specify where the entrances to mines are to be located.

The filing of these leases confirms the reports published some time ago to the effect that Mr. Dunn was operating in the vicinity of Canfield with a view of securing some extensive coal lands there. Parties interested are averse to giving out information regarding the deal.

The chances are that the surplus at the end of June next will be in the neighborhood of $25,000,000, or about half of that of the fiscal year which ended three months ago. In the work of cutting down taxation in order to decrease the congestion of money in the treasury, the country, therefore, has gone far enough. If we get the Panama canal there is a chance that the payments which we will have to make will reduce this estimated excess of $25,000,000 for the twelve months. In any case, there will be no more revenue cutting on any pretext in the next two years at least.

Canada's attorneys in the Alaskan boundary case claim to have found some grammatical faults in the language of old treaties. Nothing has been shown thus far to indicate that the parties to the treaties had any doubt as to their purpose. The dominion is hard run, even for pretexts.

GRAND OPENING

Of the New Shoe Store of W. C. Davidson & Co. Attracted Crowds.

The popularity of the ex-mayor of East Liverpool again had a striking exemplification last evening, the occasion being the opening of the new and up-to-date shoe house of W. C. Davidson & Co. on East Fifth street. For hours the sidewalk and street in front of the place contained such a crowd as is seldom brought out except on extraordinary occasions. The store was thronged during all the time it remained open.

Haines' band discoursed excellent music, entertaining the crowd while people awaited their turn to get inside. Mr. Davidson gave away 3,500 souvenirs of great utility and attractiveness. The lady's shoes belong to the holder of No. 108 and the gentleman's shoes to the man who holds No. 214.

Such an auspicious opening of a mercantile establishment is seldom witnessed. So great was the attendance that the firm has decided to receive its friends again soon, in order that those who were unable to get souvenirs last night may be able to do so, and a pair of shoes will be given to one gentleman and a lady.

A good suit for $12 and $15.

Arranging for Football Game.

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 9.—Every effort is being made to have the army and navy football game come off. The cadets are anxious to play, as this is the deciding game of the series which begun in 1890. The proposition of Annapolis to impose certain new conditions for this deciding game finds no favor at West Point. It was learned that high army and navy officials in Washington have been in communication with the superintendents of both academies and are working hard to arrange the game.

PROMINENT MEN HAVE A SCRIMMAGE

A serious fight occurred Wednesday afternoon in the vicinity of the Carroll-Porter Boiler works in the West End, between a well known West End manufacturer and a contractor who is now engaged on a contract in the West End. It came near resulting seriously for the manufacturer, the contractor giving him the worst of it.

The trouble all started over the contractor having hauled sand, so it is stated, from the river bank property of the manufacturer. These two men met and the manufacturer accused the contractor of taking the sand with the knowledge that it did not belong to the man that he was supposed to have purchased it from. The contractor finally flatly denied that he took the sand with any such knowledge, and hardly before the words were out of his mouth, the manufacturer jumped on him, intending to put him out of the business in the first round.

The contractor had something to say about this time, however, and he soon had the manufacturer flat on his back and was hammering him for dear life, when the proceedings were interfered with by a West End potter who witnessed the affair. He promptly pulled the contractor off the manufacturer and patched up the affair as well as he could. The contractor bore no marks of violence, but the manufacturer has two black optics and a swelled neck that he will not be able to turn for some time.

Receiver's Sale Held.

A receiver's sale of the Buckeye Brick works in the West End was held yesterday afternoon and nearly all of the land owned by the defunct company was disposed of. Part of the property was sold off in lots. A small sized farm, formerly owned by the company, was sold to Mayor W. L. Fogo.

Called on Gen. Reilly.

About 50 of the members of the 104th O. V. I. who were here attending the 34th annual reunion and who were not in a hurry about leaving the city, called at the home of Gen. J. W. Reilly, in a body yesterday afternoon, where an informal reception was held. The soldiers enjoyed the afternoon thoroughly with the commander who led them through many a hard battle. The remaining soldiers departed for their homes on the early evening trains.

An Enjoyable Meeting.

The members of the Wellsville Thimble Bee club, better known as the "Bumble Bees," were very highly entertained yesterday afternoon at the home of Miss Bessie McLean on Broadway, where the regular meeting was held and a social afternoon enjoyed. The young ladies were busily engaged with their needles during the greater part of the afternoon, during which plans for the year's entertainment of the club were discussed. Games were later indulged in and music was rendered. The afternoon's enjoyment wound up with a very dainty little luncheon served by the hostess, Miss McLean. Another meeting of the club will be held some time next week.

P. H. C. Banquet.

The regular bi-monthly meeting of Fidelity Circle, No. 43, Protected Home Circle, was held last evening in the hall, Main and Ninth streets. After the regular business was transacted a number of new members were initiated to the mysteries of the order. This function was followed by a sumptuous banquet, which was a three-course affair and was thoroughly enjoyed by the large attendance of members of the order. This lodge at the present time is in a very flourishing condition, and new members are being added to its roster at nearly every meeting.

Brakeman's Body Shipped.

Undertaker R. M. Haugh received orders last evening from Mahanoy City, Pa., to ship the body of John H. ENGINEERS AND MANUFACTURERS TO CONFER TONIGHT.

The Chief Difficulty Is Over the First Demand—Meeting Will Be Important.

A meeting has been arranged between the committees representing the local union of engineers and the United States Potters' association that may avert the threatened trouble over the new wage agreement demanded by the latter. As a result of the ultimatum issued yesterday to all firms employing union engineers, to the effect that a strike would be inaugurated Monday if the demands were not acceded to, the potters' committee decided to hold a conference with the committee from the union and again review the situation. The outcome of this meeting will be awaited with a great deal of interest by the public, as serious danger threatens should both sides refuse to recede from their present position.

The two committees will meet tonight in the rooms of the Potters' club and the merits and demerits of the demands will be thoroughly discussed. Although it is not likely that a final settlement will be effected, it is hoped that some understanding may be reached that will avert the threatened difficulty. But little if any trouble would be experienced in reaching a settlement were it not for the first demand, which provides that none but members of local union No. 169 be employed, or that in case the union can not supply engineers competent in the opinion of the employer, such engineers who are competent shall become members of the union. This provision, the employers claim, will place their engine rooms in entire control of the union, and for this reason they are objecting. Some of the firms employ engineers who are members of the National Association of Steam Engineers, which is not concerned in the demands. The employers, under the terms of the demand, would be compelled to discharge them.

A member of the potters' committee stated this afternoon that the committee could not accede to this demand and that if the engineers insist upon it a strike will result. It was claimed that the potters are willing to accept the rate of wages and other working conditions asked for.

Lisbon, October 9.—(Special)—A session of divorce court was held yesterday afternoon at which Judge Hole granted two more legal separations.

Divorce was granted in the case of Isaac Williams, of East Liverpool, versus Dill Williams, whose place of residence is now unknown. They were married in East Liverpool February 17, 1901, and have no children. The husband charged that in April, just two months after their marriage, his wife left home and went to live with George Sillivan in East Liverpool, continuing to live with him for some time. Mr. Williams never lived with his wife after she left him on the occasion referred to. A. E. Bowdler was the plaintiff's attorney.

Katie Miller, of Salem, was divorced from Martin Miller, to whom she was married in 1883, in Austria-Hungary, of which country they are natives. The witnesses in this case were all foreigners and the services of an interpretor were required. The plaintiff charged extreme cruelty, specifying that on June 24 last her husband cruelly beat and choked her as he had frequently done before. On the date referred to, however, Mrs. Miller left her husband and has not lived with him since. John E. Scott, of Salem, was the plaintiffs' attorney.

The discovery of Mi-o-na, the remarkable flesh-forming food that builds up good, healthy, solid flesh and makes thinness and scrawniness a thing of the past, has revolutionized medical practice in certain lines.

Its power to do all that is claimed for it was so clearly proven to Will Reed that he has sold Mi-o-na with the understanding that if it fails the purchase price will be refunded.

Will Reed certainly exhibited courage in taking up this method of selling Mi-o-na, but the results have fully proven his judgment that the Mi-o-na treatment for stomach troubles, emaciation, general weakness and run down condition is the only efficacious and reliable cure.

Mi-o-na possesses healing and soothing qualities that make it especially valuable in cases of chronic indigestion and dyspepsia. Two or three tablets taken each day in connection with the regular food prove it a true flesh-former.

All that many a woman lacks to be positively pretty is a little more flesh on her face. To look haggard or not fat is never becoming. The use of Mi-o-na will cure this defect.

With every 50 cent box of Mi-o-na that Will Reed sells, he will give a written guarantee to refund the money if it does not give an increase in flesh and restore strength. What a trifling cost this is if it makes you well; if it fails, the expense is absolutely nothing.

CALIFORNIA

This is a land of homes, but a farm in California "under the ditch," means fewer acres, and more neighbors, less isolation and more society—less work and more profit. The man who thinks, finds three desires close to his heart: To have a home, a living income, and independence. These he battles for early and late, and is only happy when he wins. In irrigated California, the stars in their course fight for him. A beneficient climate seconds all his efforts, multiplies his working days, and preserves his crops. Neither flood nor frost, blizzard or cyclone, hot winds or rainy springtime destroys his crops. Summers are long, but growth goes on wherever the water runs, and crop failures are unknown. Thus a home, an income and an independence can be secured at less cost, maintained with less effort, and enjoyed more fully in California than in lands ice-bound for months, and uncertain in the character of their growing seasons.

Colonist rates to this land of opportunity, via the Southern Pacific, are $25 from all Missouri River points, $30 from St. Louis and New Orleans, $33 from Chicago. From Bloomington, $32; from Peoria, $31. It thus becomes easy to look over the west. California books of any agent. Write G. G. Herring, general agent, 514-516 Park building, Pittsburg, Pa.

VISITING TEAM WAS DEFEATED

PLAYERS NOT ALL HERE

And Local Talent Helped Out—Miller And Ferguson Sprang Surprises. Winters Did the Pitching And Did It Well.

Heinie Youngman's All Professionals were treated to a clean article of ball at West End park yesterday afternoon by the locals. They were three men shy, the outfielders failing to reach the city, but their substitutes, a trio of local players, did not help them lost and considering the poor batting exhibited by them they were exceedingly lucky in pulling out under such a close margin. The score was 8 to 7.

The visitors, composed of professional players, who spent the season with amateur league teams, credit their losing, of course, to the fact that only six of the regular lineup was on the field. The fans do not agree with them. The local three, "Reddy" Miller, Ferguson and Bennett, played just as good a fielding game as any one could and their stunts with the stick would not have changed the score materially. Captain Cargo stated that his fielders missed the train, but it is thought they did so purposely, the Boston-Pittsburg game being enough to hold any lover of the sport away.

In the first inning everything looked as if there was nothing to it, the visitors landing two hard ones and three runs, while the locals went out in order. And they continued at the same pace for two more innings. However, the twisters delivered by Winters soon had them in the air and had it not been for darkness in the ninth the Pennsylvanians would have been satisfied with their first spurt.

The locals never had their batting eyes in better trim and Miller looked real sick before they let him down. During the first five innings they did not fail to score at least one single and in the third and fourth they made it two, topping it off in the fifth with a trio. With such batting against them it looks as though they could not have won had they had Pittsburg's outfield. Had the visitors been able to find Morg more often a decidedly different tale would have been told, three of their six hits being two baggers and one of them a three sacker. It was simply a case of being up against a bunch of hitters who could not be downed.

The features of the game were made by the "rookies," "Reddy" Miller and Ferguson. The former, dressed in his every day rags, was in middle for the Professionals and he sprung a genuine surprise when Heckathorn knocked a high fly to him by taking it in with ease and cutting off Brown who had strayed a little too far from first, thinking that the youth did not have wing enough to put the bug on him. Ferguson made the catch of his life in the seventh. He held on to a high fly after falling down and rolling all over himself.

Ohio Championship.

Cleveland, Oct. 9.—Wintry and rainy weather made it possible to play but one of the two games here between the Cleveland American league and the Cincinnati National league baseball clubs, for the state championship. The first game was a victory for Cleveland by a score of 5 to 3, and the second game, which went only three innings, was called at that point because of darkness, with the score 2 to 1 in favor of Cincinnati.

Score—									R.	H.	E.

In the second game there was no change in the makeup of the teams except in the pitcher's box, Moore going in for Cleveland and Ewing for Cincinnati. Cleveland made one run, one hit and one error; Cincinnati two runs, two hits and two errors.

Will Play at Empire.

GOOD COAL MARKET FOUND IN EUROPE

Pittsburg, October 9.—W. C. Jutte, of C. Jutte & Co., river coal shippers, has returned to Pittsburg from a trip to Europe, and believes there is a good market for American coal in the old world. He declares that the coal operator of England is just as anxious to get good prices for his product as is the American operator and believes that an excellent trade can be established by operating a line of coal vessels. This, he says, can be done with a profit by loading the vessels with coal at seaboards in this country and loading them on the other side with products made in foreign countries for shipment to the United States. He said that he was not sufficiently versed with conditions on the other side of the Atlantic to say what products could be shipped to this country at an advantage to the foreign manufacturer, but believes that there is a great future for American coal in France and England, as well as in Mexico and South America, on this side of the Atlantic.

"Coal is selling at $4.50 a ton in London," said Mr. Jutte, "and here in Pittsburg it is selling for $3 a ton. The English coal operator has a great advantage over the American operator on account of having the advantage of cheap transportation. The operators of England are so situated that they can load coal for the seaboard at their mines and place it in vessels holding 10,000 to 12,000 tons and transport it to the various seaboard markets of Europe. In Pittsburg the operator can also load coal at the mines in river vessels, but these must be transported 2,000 miles to New Orleans before the coal can reach tidewater.

"If some one would operate a line of six-masted sailing vessels, for instance, between American ports and Europe, I think a very profitable business can be established. It does not require a large amount of money to operate vessels of this class, because they do not use fuel and the vessels carry very small crews."

THE OLD AND EASY WAY

"Gentlemen, it is high time a revolution was taking place in both the fire and police departments. When we assumed the duties of our office it was understood among us that there should be a change in the manner in which the departments are run and I don't favor the way things stand now. Everything is going along in the same old easy, don't-care way," said W. L. Taylor, of the board of public safety at its regular meeting last evening.

Continuing, he said: "The chiefs of each department are not doing their work as we directed. We passed upon a number of rules and it seems that they are being disregarded totally. One of the most important rule is not observed at all. It says that the chiefs must make a monthly report and I will insist that it is done. The shape things are in now we can never learn what is being done by the patrolmen and it is very necessary that we keep tab on their every movement.

"It looks as though the patrolmen don't consider us as their executive dictators. There must be some sort of a change at once or I will see that the entire lot is put on the carpet."

The words of Mr. Taylor did not strike a popular chord among the members of the board. They did not think hasty action should be taken in the matter, favoring the plan of waiting until the business of the board assumes conditions that will allow the members to dictate and back up any orders with records, etc.

Mr. Dawson reported to the board that he had conferred with the fire and police committee of council and the committee seemed in favor of doing all it could to assist the board in arranging permanent quarters in the city building. The committee, however, said that the room on the third floor of the city building wanted by the board was not under the jurisdiction of council, belonging to the township trustees. The question was finally settled after a conference with Mr. Randolph, of the band which occupies the north room on the third floor.

It was decided by the board that it would be impossible for it to meet in the room on the lower floor on the same evening devoted by the band to practice. Mr. Randolph was asked if the band could change its meeting night to Friday and he readily consented to do so. As a result immediate steps were taken to repair the room opposite and it is thought it will be in readiness for occupancy by the next regular meeting night. The room is to be thoroughly cleaned and fixed at any cost and if possible made suitable for the honorable body. It has been run from room to room, sidewalk to sidewalk until every member had become almost sorry that it belonged to the board.

Mr. Taylor reported that he had been visited by an agent of a fire supply firm, of Pittsburg, and that prices had been received on helmets, of which there was some talk at the last meeting. The agent had two kinds, aluminum and leather. Either can be purchased for $4.50 each. It was decided to let the matter rest with the committee for awhile, the firemen being content to wait for the needed improvement to their wearing paraphernalia.

The bill of Kerr Bros., who furnished the lumber for the erection of the curfew tower in the East End, was ordered paid. Two bills for printing were not allowed, the opinion of the solicitor being ordered.

Go Prepared.

In preparing for your summer outing a little forethought may save you no end of trouble. Mr. John H. Manly, a dry goods merchant, of Bellville, R. I., while packing an outfit for camping a few weeks on Narragansett Bay, put in a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for emergency use. The second day in camp his little boy was taken with cramp colic. The first dose of this remedy gave relief and the second dose effected a cure. Think of the pain and suffering this boy would have had to endure without this remedy at hand to relieve him. Such cases often result fatally. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger.

prevent the passage of a river and harbor bill at the next session of congress. I do not know what strength the movement has gained. On the other hand, there has never been a time when the pressure for river and harbor appropriations was so great. Almost every paper I have examined since my return contains an article in advocacy of some expensive project.

"The customary appropriation will not meet the increasing demands. Congress should establish a consistent policy and adhere to it. Several methods might be pursued. One way would be to engage in improvements in a manner similar to that purposed by France. This would necessitate multiplying appropriations at least three or four times.

"Another way would be to limit appropriations to even smaller sums than at present, selecting such improvements as will afford a prompt return and assure a greatly increased traffic. A third way would be to divide the expenses between the general government and the localities especially benefited. This last method has had many advocates, but it is by no means free from difficulty.

"In Europe money for harbor and waterway improvement is expended much more generously than it is here. Of course, the policy is so different that it is difficult to make comparisons. For instance, almost all the government municipalities or private companies which improve the harbors over there not only dredge channels and construct breakwaters as we do by congressional appropriation in this country, but they also construct basins to provide anchorages under all conditions of the tide, and adjacent quays and often warehouses and railway terminals, for which they receive reimbursement in tolls from the shipping using the harbors so created and maintained."

Now, as I said before, it is against public policy for court or jury to enforce that kind of a contract, because it encourages men to run the risk of violating the law.

"Mr. James, at the time he took this device into his place, had some doubt on the matter. He says: 'I don't want to use a gambling machine,' but on this man telling him, 'We will pay all damages if you go ahead and use it,' then he goes ahead and uses what all now admit was a gambling machine. If the court were to enforce that kind of contracts it would encourage people to violate the law whenever somebody said: 'We will guarantee to save you from any trouble.'

"Now, it is against public policy that such contracts should be enforced. This plaintiff admits that there was no practical misrepresentation of facts. There was a misrepresentation as to what the law was. He admits that they told him it was a machine in which the player was to put a nickel and would either get nothing or get more than he had put in. He admits that they told him there would be money to divide. That is, that he was to have half the money that was so obtained; so that when he put this machine in his place and before he put it in the place he knew that he was to get half of the money which his neighbors and customers would put in that machine for nothing. It was money put at hazard and the law does not encourage that kind of contract by enforcing it.

"Sometimes these people, I have no doubt, pay according to their guarantee. Mr. Creadon might have paid as he promised to do, and perhaps according to the code of 'honor among thieves,' he ought to have paid; but the man who runs the risk of using a gambling device runs the chance of losing and he must trust to the honor of his accomplice when a promise of that kind is made and he can not come into a court of justice and enforce it. Under all these circumstances, as I said before, it is my duty to instruct you to return a verdict for the defendant. And you may appoint one of your number foreman, without leaving your seats, and have him find the verdict that I will hand you."

Addresses by Charles Pavey, grand master, of Columbus, and Miss Ethel Ritchey, state president, of Delaware, and a paper on "The Work of Our Order for the Past Year," by Mrs. Clara Grown, of Leetonia, were the principal features of the session yesterday afternoon, which was private. AT THE THEATER

Prettiest of all rural plays, "York State Folks." This charming story of typical American village life made a really remarkable impression upon its last visit, both because of the unconventional realism of the story and character drawing. "York State Folks" takes rank as the foremost of American plays. The story of the play appeals irresistibly to all classes because of the truthfulness of human nature which it depicts. Its comedy and its pathos are absolutely true to life, and it is the sense of reality which impresses all who see it.

INSTRUCTIONS TO VOTERS BY STATE SECRETARY LAYLIN.

Rules For Marking the Ballots as Regards Proposed Changes in Constitution.

Columbus, October 9.—(Special)—Secretary of State Laylin today will send copies of a circular letter giving instructions as to the manner of voting on the constitutional amendments to the election officers of the state. By the provisions of the Longworth law these amendments will appear on the regular official ballot. A statement of each amendment will be printed in a separate column at the right of the party tickets. On the line below such statement will be printed the word "Yes" and on the next line below will be printed the word "No."

In marking constitutional amendments printed on a party ticket the same rules shall apply as those prescribed for marking ballots in voting for candidates for office. If a ballot be marked with a cross mark in the circular space at the head of the ticket of a party, and with a cross mark before the statement of the constitutional amendment and answer thereto elsewhere on the ballot different from the statement of amendment and answer thereto on such party ticket, the ballot should be counted for the statement and answer so specifically marked, and for all other amendments and answers thereto on the party ticket so marked in the circle.

A separate return of the vote for and against the amendments shall be made to the secretary of state by the election officers within ten days after the election.

Many Hints For Making Them So Can Be Found in Burns' Poems.

Hallowe'en is but a few weeks distant and already people are wondering how to give an ideal hallowe'en party and at the same time have something different from the conventional and hackneyed way of entertaining.

Hallowe'en reminds one so forcibly of Bonnie Scotland and Robert Burns' descriptions of the carnival of hobgoblins and witches holding high carnival, that the one wishing to give an ideal hallowe'en party is advised to hunt up an old copy of Burns' poetry and read therein the charms. Try varying the custom this year and follow the Scotch one of having the hallowe'en celebration out of doors, says "What to Eat." Swing jock-o'-lanterns from the trees and light the grounds with gasoline and pine torches. Build fortune tellers' caves of leaves, and have a real (?) cabbage patch and a mysterious well guarded by an imp with pitchfork.

The bonfire is the main feature. When all the guests have arrived give each a lighted flambeau or torch and have a procession winding about the grounds. Add some fantastic characters to give zest to the procession. Have the procession circle three times around the big bonfire waiting to be lighted—packing boxes and logs sprinkled with turpentine. At a signal have all the torches thrown into the fire, starting the flames.

When the flames are at their brightest have a figure dressed as a hobgoblin appear, dragging a car surrounded by fairies carrying long spears. Have the effigy of an old witch bound to the car. The fairies encircle the fire as the hobgoblin throws the witch into the heart of the flames. This typifies the consuming of trouble. Then the company may dance and sing at pleasure. This is the sort of hallowe'en frolic loved by Princess Beatrice and arranged for her at Balmoral Castle, Scotland. On one of these occasions Queen Victoria danced the Scottish national dance with her faithful gillie "John Brown" raising a storm of criticism.

WEATHER TOO COLD FOR BASEBALL

The weather has interfered with the plans of Manager Reark for a double-header tomorrow with Heinie Youngman's All-Professionals and there will be no games. When the weather turned in cold this morning Manager Reark realized that it would play havoc with the attendance at the West End park and he decided not to play either today or tomorrow. Most of the visitors and several o. the local players left town this morning for Pittsburg, where they will watch the pannant winners of the two leagues battle for the championship.

The base ball season of 1903 is now practically a thing of the past, although a field day may be arranged for next week if the weather is favorable. This event will be a benefit for the players and besides the ball games there will be foot races, throwing contests, etc.

States Its Position—Reply to Tomlinson's Statement Issued By the Manager.

To the Public:—Mr. Tomlinson, president of the Salem Business association, in a statement which was published in the local papers of yesterday, makes several assertions which I, as secretary and general manager of this company, feel compelled to answer and also to ask a few questions.

The controversy of which he speaks has up to this time been very much one-sided. We have had two meetings with special committees of the association. The association voted to adopt the Bell telephone as their official telephone. This was carried by a majority of three votes, so we are informed. Against this we have no right to nor do we make complaint or question, but we do say that the association, through its committee, has extended its fight against us unjustly and unfairly in favor of the Bell Telephone company. We have a large number of subscribers resigned and also a large number who have contracted for telephones during the past year and whose contracts have not expired. A number of these have been visited by a committee of the association who have asked them to throw out their Columbiana County telephones and, we are told, have also threatened them. The committee also offering to pay their subscriptions until their contracts with us expire.

Mr. Tomlinson also makes statements that we have made gross misrepresentations as to the number of subscribers we have at this time. We are ready to verify our statements to any person or persons desiring to look into the matter. He also says that the association believes in fair play and legitimate competition. Is coercion, boycott and intimidation fair play? Is tryng to take away by coercion and intimidation the individual right of contract of a free-born American citizen fair play? Do their actions of the past few weeks verify his statements that they are not antagonistic to the Columbiana County Telephone company or that they believe in legitimate competition?

Is not the business of the Columbiana County Telephone company legitimate and does not the service which has been rendered during the past three and one half years at a loss, merit any consideration whatever?

Do the people want to be coerced into putting out of business a company which has brought the use of the telephone from a luxury to a home comfort and which has developed the rural districts, bringing the farmer into close touch with his city friend and merchant?

The Columbiana County Telephone company has asked for nothing except to be allowed to present its schedule of rates to each individual subscriber or non-subscriber and allow him or her to be governed by his or her own individual rights and needs and has asked no association to adopt the Columbiana County telephone to the exclusion of the Bell or any other telephone company. We leave this matter to the public and feel confident that after their mature deliberation the Columbiana County Telephone company will receive the support of all fair-minded people who desire fair play and legitimate competition.

Very Respectfully,
THE COLUMBIANA COUNTY TELEPHONE COMPANY, W. F. Crossley, Secretary and General Manager.

Teamsters and Engineers Not Likely to Divide the $25 Prize.

William Dickey, president of the Teamsters' local No. 488, stated today that his organization did not agree to accept half of the $25 prize to be awarded for the best appearance and attendance in the Labor day parade. The matter was submitted to the teamsters, but they decided not to agree to a division. If they won the prize they are entitled to it and expect to get it, was the statement.

It is understood that the engineers took the same stand in the matter.

Double Liability Will Cease And Each County Will Hereafter Have One Representative in the Legislature. All Needed Reforms.

It is a fortunate thing for the state that the supreme court has upheld the validity of the Longworth constitutional amendment act. Almost beyond the shadow of a doubt the decision means that the constitution will be revised and modernized. It means that the governor will be given the veto power; that holders of stock in Ohio corporations will no longer be held liable in double the amount represented by their shares, and that each county hereafter will have at least one representative in the lower house of the general assembly.

The governor of Ohio ought to have the veto power, says the Ohio State Journal. The conferring of such authority upon the chief executive will act as a wholesome check upon legislation and will lessen the chance of the enactment of foolish and vicious laws. The amendment upon which the voters will pass judgment on election day wisely provides that a bill may be passed over the governor's veto by a vote of two-thirds of the members of each branch of the legislature. Thus it makes the governor directly responsible for all legislation, while it does not make him an autocrat.

The double liability provision of the constitution has done more than any other one force to drive capital out of Ohio. It was made a part of the state's organic law when corporate business was little understood and before there was any just conception of the material advantage to the state of the investment of Ohio money in Ohio enterprises. We believe there is practically no opposition to the adoption of this amendment. There should be absolutely none.

It stands to reason that a lawmaker who represents but one county in the lower house of the legislature will give that county, where he himself makes his home, more intelligent thought and attention than he could possibly give it if it were but one county of a joint district represented by him. The adoption of the county representative amendment will stimulate local pride and assure the smaller counties of better treatment at the hands of the legislature.

The veto power amendment was approved by the Republican state convention and a brief statement of its purpose will be printed in the Republican ticket on the official ballot. The leader of the Democratic party has bolted his own platform in so far as to indorse this amendment. We agree with Mayor Johnson that both parties should unite to give the governor the veto power.

The double liability and county representative amendments were indorsed by both party conventions and either a straight Republican vote or a straight Republican vote will be counted for them. Their adoption is thus made certain.

These three amendments are needed to make of the half-century-old constitution a modern instrument.

Longshore's Suit for $5,000 Was Fixed Up, But Terms Are Not Known.

Lisbon, October 9.—(Special.)—The $5,000 damage case of J. C. Yongshore versus the W. J. Clark company of Salem,, which was assigned for hearing in the court yesterday, was settled. The terms of settlement were not given out.

Action in this case was begun June 19, 1900, when a petition was filed in court in behalf of the plaintiff by Attorney W. S. Anderson, of Youngstown, and A. W. Taylor and L. P. Metzger, of Salem. Longshore was an employe in the defendant company's machine shop and was so bady injured, being caught in the machinery, that his right arm had to be amputated on July 18, 1898, as a result of the accident.

Consul General Skinner Sails.

New York, Oct. 9.—Robert P. Skinner, United States consul general at Marseilles, who is about to visit King Menelek, in Abysinnia, to induce his country to be represented at the St. Louis exposition, and who will afterward make a tour of Abyssinia to study its conditions and resources with a view to promoting trade with America, sailed on the steamer La Touraine for Havre.

MARRIED MAN ELOPED

WAS DELEGATE TO CONFERENCE

Kissed Wife and Daughter Goodbye—Arested in Iowa—Alleged He Was Short in Lodge Accounts—Requisition Papers Not Needed.

Wooster, O., Oct. 9.—Three weeks ago A. B. Gettleman, a merchant at Smithville, Wayne county, kissed his wife and daughter goodbye, and took a train for Norwalk, where he was to attend the Methodist conference as a delegate from the local church.

He failed to return and it was then observed that Mrs. Amanda Mishler, who was a clerk in his store, was also missing, and it was at once charged that they had eloped. Nothing was heard from either for nearly a week, when it was learned that Gettleman had visited his old home, at Mansfield, O., and borrowed money from old friends.

The next word that came from Gettleman was a letter from Marion, Ia., which, it is alleged, stated that he and Mrs. Mishler had been married. Mr. Mishler at once began proceedings for divorce.

It was alleged that Gettleman was short in his accounts as treasurer of the Masonic lodge, and steps were taken to cause his arrest. Word comes that Gettleman is in custody, and that he is penitent, and willing to come back without requisition papers. Sheriff Brown took a train for Iowa.

Arrange for Bowling Congress.

Cleveland, Oct. 9.—W. V. Thompson, of Chicago; Samuel Karpf, of Dayton; W. J. Kenna of Chicago, and Frank Baumeister, of Erie, Pa., met with local bowling authorities to arrange for the holding of the American bowling congress in this city the coming winter. The committee of three which has charge of the affairs of the national congress was increased to seven by the addition of four Cleveland men. The congress will be incorporated under the title of the Cleveland Bowling Tournament Association company. The committee in charge of the national tournament will meet to fix the place for holding the congress. Central armory, with a seating capacity of probably 5,000, has the call, and will likely be chosen.

Discuss New Constitution.

Canton, O., Oct. 9.—Practically the entire day was spent by the state convention of the W. C. T. U. in adopting a new constitution. The chief contention was over the powers to be vested in the board of trustees, which has heretofore controlled all the finances of the association. A compromise was reached providing that the board shall consist of three state vice presidents and three department superintendents and that the board shall incur no expense. The convention ordered that a fraternal delegate to be selected by the general officers be sent to the national meeting of the anti-saloon league.

Hotel Beat Goes to Workhouse.

Cleveland, Oct. 9.—Orville B. Smith was sentenced to pay a fine of $200 and to serve three months in the workhouse on the charge of defrauding an innkeeper. Smith contracted a bill at the Hollenden hotel and presented a fraudulent check in payment. The police produced conclusive proof that Smith by an almost unparalleled series of impositions had secured large sums of money by fraud in many of the larger cities. It was also shown that he has been engaged in questionable work in Columbus, Chicago, Detroit and New York city.

Struthers Plant Closed.

Youngstown, O., Oct. 9. — Acting under instructions from superior officers the plant of the American Sheet Steel company, at Struthers, was closed, and the employes paid in full. The only statement made is that the volume of business is not sufficient to have the mill continue in operation. The Struthers mill is one of the finest of the American Sheet Steel company's plants and employs a large number of men. No statement was made as to when the mill might resume.

In Search of Antarctic Expedition.

Buenos Ayres, Argentine Republic, Oct. 9.—The Argentine gunboat Uruguay, of 550 tons displacement, started for the Antarctic regions to search for the Swedish expedition headed by Dr. Otto Nordenskjold. The Nordenskjold expedition left Gothenburg, Sweden, Oct. 16, 1901, on the steamer Antarctic, and was last heard from Aug. 18, when the vessel was imprisoned in the ice.

Canadian Company Organized.

Hamilton, Ont., Oct. 9.—At a meeting presided over by George Westinghouse, the Canadian Westinghouse company, limited, was organized with a capital of $2,500,000. The officers elected were: George Westinghouse, president; H. H. Westinghouse and F. H. Taylor, vice presidents; Paul J. B. Myler, general manager and treasurer, John H. Kerr, secretary.

CAPTURED IN CALIFORNIA.

The Netherlands Government Pursues Embezzler Around the World.

San Francisco, Oct. 9.—J. F. Arondez was arrested and taken from the Japanese ship Nippon Maru as she came alongside her dock from the Angel Island quarantine station. The arrest was made at the request of George J. G. Marsily, counsul of the Netherlands at this port.

It is understood that Arondez is charged with embezzlement of $150,000 from the Netherlands government, the officials of which have been pursuing him around the world, aided by the police of the various countries and the agents of the railway and steamship lines upon which he has traveled.

Arondez boarded the Nippon Maru at Yokohama and the authorities here were at once notified.

Mrs. Johnston Denies Her Guilt.

New York, Oct. 9.—Mrs. Mary Layton Johnston, who is charged with the embezzlement of several thousands of dollars from the United States Playing Card company, of Cincinnati, entered a plea of not guilty in the court of general sessions to five indictments charging forgery and grand larceny. Her counsel gave a notice of a motion to inspect the minutes of the grand jury, alleging that the defense had had no opportunity of presenting its side of the case. The defense insisted that an officer of the company is the guilty person and had witnesses in court Wednesday to support this contention. Bail was fixed at $7,500.

Gunboat Sunk by Explosion.

Montevido, Oct. 9.—The Uruguayan gunboat General Rivera, of 300 tons, has been sunk at Santa Barbara as the result of an explosion. Her commander was burned to death and many of her crew killed. The explosion occurred in the powder magazine. The General Rivera was an iron vessel 118 feet long and had 21-foot beam. She was built in 1891. Her armament consisted of two 4.7-inch Krupp breech-loading guns and two machine guns.

REAL JOHNSON ISSUE.

State Socialism "Moving Spirit" of All He Does.

THERE'S NO DEMOCRACY ABOUT IT

The Single Land Tax Exacts Common Ownership of All Real Estate, the Weight of Taxation "Taking It by Society For Social Needs"—Increasing Indignation Over It Among Democrats.

"The whole tendency of the movement which Mr. Johnson is engineering is in the direction of state socialism, which is the absolute antipode of genuine Democracy."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

This declaration from the greatest Democratic newspaper in the state will concentrate attention upon the real issue in Johnsonism. An increasing number, as the Enquirer says, "look with hesitation and doubt upon the socialistic and new-fangled doctrine which Mr. Johnson is advocating." As the Enquirer points out in its conclusion, "Whatever else they may be, these socialistic doctrines are the widest possible departure from the sound and seasoned Democracy of the Fathers."

This must be getting serious with Mr. Johnson. Two days after the Enquirer spoke he took pains in his speech at London to say: "I am not a socialist, I am an individualist, which is the exact opposite of socialism. The socialist believes that everything should be under government control, while I believe in the fullest opportunity of the individual."

Did Mr. Johnson mean what he said? Did he say what he meant? If he is against "government control," why did he permit his party platform, made according to his personal direction by one of his hired retainers, a Chicago socialist editor, to have a plank about "municipal ownership and operation," calling for laws to provide for that? If he does not know that this is socialism, he is a very blind leader of the blind. If he does know it, and he seeks to deceive the people, he deserves to be cast into outer darkness.

Still more plainly socialistic is the underlying spirit of the entire Johnson program. When he says that "with all my heart I answer, the doctrines of Henry George are the moving spirit of whatever I do;" and that all he was doing tended in the direction of the single land tax, that theory must be considered in connection with everything that Mr. Johnson does. He must be taken at his own word, or avow himself a falsifier. If "the philosophy of Henry George is the sovereign remedy for existing evils in both state and national affairs," as Johnson declared it to be a year ago, why is it not equally "sovereign" today? Why not then talk about it? Why dodge it? That it is part of the Johnson program is believed by practically all men, even of his own party.

The Columbus Citizen, which supports the Johnson ticket, refuses to support the constitutional amendment for classifying property for taxation, for fear that it will open to door for single land tax, should Johnson elect a legislature of his own kind. The Citizen declares that this theory is socialistic and even communistic and not binding upon Democrats. This amendment was to Johnson one of the most vital things in his party convention and its endorsement he demanded from first to last.

The Cincinnati Enquirer, referring to an article in its columns, says: "The writer says nothing specifically of the single tax, probably because that doctrine has been swallowed and merged in the more general and inclusive one of the socialistic party, and HENCEFORTH THEY MUST ALL BE RESISTED TOGETHER. It would, however, doubtless be of interest to our farmers to know where Mr. Johnson stands on the question of the ownership of farm lands."

If Johnson agrees with Henry George, he will tell the farmers of Ohio that "NOTHING SHORT OF MAKING LAND COMMON PROPERTY can permanently relieve poverty." George says, and Johnson is a George man, "WE MUST SUBSTITUTE FOR THE INDIVIDUAL OWNERSHIP OF LAND, A COMMON OWNERSHIP." George tells the farmers that "there is in nature no such thing as a fee simple in land, and that land owners are robbers." He says that the people will nationalize the land, "in a more direct and easy way than by purchase. They will not trouble themselves about compensating owners of lands." Johnsonism, therefore, proposes to take the farms and homes from the owners without paying them for their property. The single land tax is to be used to do this.

In Mr. George's words: "All that is necessary to do is to abolish all other forms of taxation, until THE WEIGHT OF TAXATION RESTS UPON THE VALUE OF LAND, irrespective of improvement and take the ground rent for the public benefit." This is Johnson's "just taxation," according to Henry George. These things are to be done in the sacred name of justice, the very one that Johnson conjures with, for George says: "What can be more in accordance with Justice than that THE VALUE OF LAND SHOULD BE TAKEN BY SOCIETY FOR SOCIAL NEEDS?"

"Home Rule" For Cincinnati Is None of Johnson's Business.

Was not 24,000 majority against his men last year in Cincinnati enough for Tom Johnson to teach him that the people there know their own business? Must they make it 30,000 or 40,000 again this year, or make it unanimous? Does he not get it through his head that he is mayor only of Cleveland, and not of the state of Ohio, nor even of Cincinnati.

"Home rule" is one of Mr. Johnson's pet fads. He has gone up and down through the state last year and this, with all the noise that could be got out of his burly frame and the red devil, declaring that every city in the state should be free to do as it please, irrespective of any act of the Ohio legislature. And yet, every time in the same speech he has made an equal clamor about the curative act, so-called, always speaking of it as if it were exclusively a Cincinnati measure. If it belongs to Cincinnati and Cincinnati is to have "home rule" according to Johnson, where does he come in?

His candidate at the head of his state ticket last year lived in Cincinnati. Johnson campaigned through that city in his behalf. This very matter was enlarged upon for all it was worth, more in fact than the people approved. The Cincinnati vote is the best evidence. Bigelow was the worst beaten candidate Hamilton county has ever had. That is the "home rule" verdict on the curative act.

IT HELPED IN RUSSIA.

"Noble and Heroic Attitude of Roosevelt and Hay."

Mr. J. B. Greenhut of Peoria, Ill., who has been abroad investigating the cause of the massacre at Kishenev and the present condition of the Jews under Russian despotism, in his official report, gives this splendid praise from all who know the facts:

"However, what impressed and gratified me most was the statement and concensus of opinion of all these men—namely, that while the relief funds which were so generously forwarded from all parts of the world were indeed welcome, as it enabled them to give material assistance to those poor creatures whose all had been destroyed and who, if the early assistance had not been received, would have starved to death, but above all they said what they prized and welcomed most was the noble and heroic attitude taken by President Roosevelt and Secretary Hay in their behalf. They said over and over again that the moral influence exerted through the action taken by our Administration could not be enforced officially, it nevertheless had immediate effect on the Russian government, and resulted in a change of the governor and the officials generally in Kishenev, who are said to be less harsh to the Jewish population than their predecessors had been."

Bank Messenger Gets Away With Several Thousand Dollars.

Bonding Company Settles With Bank—Actions of Young Man Arouse Suspicions of Police—Had Less Than a Hundred When Arrested.

Milwaukee, Oct. 9.—Arthur C. Nagel, said to have absconded from Buffalo with $2,500 on June 20, and who was arrested on suspicion, has confessed. The young man worked for a Buffalo bank, and it was his duty to carry large sums of money from one bank to another.

Nagel arrived in Milwaukee shortly after leaving Buffalo, and two weeks later was married to Miss Frances McGintley, of Fond du Lac, Wis., the wedding being performed in Chicago. The young couple and a friend of the bride then left for a wedding tour on the Pacific coast, and returned to Milwaukee 11 days ago.

The actions of the young man created suspicion in police circles and he was watched. His money was evidently giving out, as he began pawning some of the valuable gems which he had purchased for his bride. Detectives then arrested him on suspicion. Only $74 of the $2,500 could be found; Nogel claimed that he had spent the balance.

Buffalo, Oct. 9.—Nagel was employed as a messenger by the Third National bank, of this city. On June 20 he was given a package containing $2,500 for delivery at the clearing house. Another bank messenger accompanied Nagel to the door of the stairway leading up to the clearing house. The money was not deposited, and an hour later, when the Third National bank was notified, the police were asked to find Nagel. A bonding company settled with the bank.

WANT EXTENSION OF TIME.

Directors Authorize Speyer & Co. to Take Possession of Soo Plants.

Philadelphia, Oct. 9.—The directors of the subsidiary companies of the Consolidated Lake Superior company held a long conference, at which the present situation was thoroughly discussed.

A resolution was adopted authorizing Speyer & Co., of New York, to take possession of the various plants of the company at the Soo, mortgaged to the Central Trust company, of New York, trustee, under the mortgage dated Jan. 1, 1903, which secured the Speyer loan of $5,050,000, provided that Speyer & Co. grant an extension of time for the sale of the collateral of these companies, which they hold, 60 days beyond Oct. 15. The company will give possession as soon as Speyer & Co.'s consent to the extention is obtained.

Color Line Drawn in Football.

Crawfordsville, Ind., Oct. 9.—Manager Eller, of the Wabash football league, received a letter from H. L. Watson, manager of the Rose Polytechnic team, stating that they consider football a social game, and as a matter of principle would not play if Gordon, a colored player, was allowed to participate. Dr. Kane, of Wabash college, said that the game had best be canceled and must be unless a distinct understanding that Gordon was to be allowed to play is reached. The game has been canceled.

Oil Again Advanced.

Lima, Oct. 9.—There was an advance of 2 cents in the price of western crude oil, and an advance of 3 cents in the eastern product. The advance is the result of decreased production. Quotations now are, Tiona, $1.80; Pennsylvania, $1.67; Corning, $1.45; New Castle, $1.52; South Lima and Indiana, $1.19; North Lima, $1.24.

Arrested for Wife Murder.

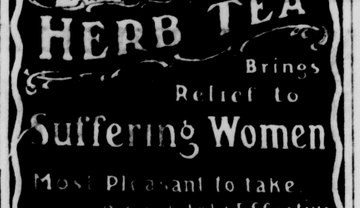
Cleveland, Oct. 9. — John Bennett, colored, was arrested when he arrived from Oberlin, on the charge of murdering his wife. The dead body of the woman was found in a cellar at Oberlin. A doctor found that carbolic acid had been poured down the woman's throat, which was burned out by the poison. A chunk of blood-stained coal was found near the body. Her head had been beaten in with this. Then her throat had been cut. Bennett denies the charge against him.

Opera House Burned.

Binghamton, N. Y., Oct. 9.—2 a. m.—Fire which started at 1 a. m. on the stage of Stone's opera house has completely gutted the structure, entailing a loss of $150,000. Paul Gilmore's company played "The Mummy and the Humming Bird" last night. Part of the company's scenery is said to have been destroyed. It is thought the insurance will nearly cover the loss.

Russia Holding Her Position.

Tien Tsin, Oct. 9.—A telegram from Yin Kow stated that the Russians are taking no steps to evacuate New Chwang. Reports from the north show that they are holding their positions everywhere.



NOT BY ACCIDENT

Howe of Cuyahoga Not Even a Democrat—His Single-Tax Sentiments Made Public by Clarke—Howe of Franklin for House of Representatives.

It was not by accident that Tom L. Johnson put a single taxer upon the Democratic ticket in Cuyahoga county, especially so since his nominee was not known as a Democrat until a few months ago. The first name on his list for state senator is Frederic C. Howe, and that he is a single taxer has been kept completely quiet. The fact was discovered in a curious way. The statement appears as incidentally made in a legal brief filed in September, 1901, by Mr. Johnson's present running partner, John H. Clarke, as general solicitor of the Nickel Plate railroad. Something in the same secret way was the nomination by the Franklin county Democrats of a candidate for the legislature who proves to be a single taxer—Frank H. Howe, running for representative.

How many more single taxers have been secretly selected by Johnson and put upon the Democratic ticket for the legislature without the party knowing of their peculiarity is difficult to determine. It is safe to say, however, that the emissaries of the Single Tax league that Johnson has had running around the state for months past, have not been kept busy without definite purpose and some result for their toil. The single taxers are likely to undermine and capture the other Democrats in the Ohio legislature if there is any chance to accomplish anything, in the same way that the Zimmerman forces were undermined and overthrown in the Johnson state convention. This is a feature of the campaign that may acquire prominence.

It is perhaps more than a curious coincidence that Mr. Clarke's brief, showing that Mr. Howe had been a single taxer for a number of years, was one filed by him in regard to the valuation of the Nickel Plate railroad for taxation, being his argument to the state board of equalization for railroads. "Replying to the argument filed with this honorable board by Hon. Tom L. Johnson on Sept. 5th," 1901, to use Mr. Clarke's language, he proceeded to demolish every point in Johnson's position on railroad taxation, both then and now.

WORKEDTOO WELL.

TOM JOHNSON JUMPED THEM

His County Commissioners Commence Their Career By an Attack on the Board of Tax Review—Diligent Devotion to Duty Did Not Protect Them or the Laws of Ohio Shield Them.

No one can help connecting Tom L. Johnson's personal tax returns in Cleveland with one of the first acts of Johnson board of commissioners of Cuyahoga county. Their raid upon the county board of review which is so effectively and vigorously revising the tax returns, particularly for personal property in Cleveland, may have been made for various reasons. One of the most apparent of these is that in the natural course of its work the board of review was getting around pretty close to Mr. Johnson himself. They might want him to tell how, as a man of millions of wealth, he reconciled that fact with his report under oath of only $13,755 of personal property subject to tax in the city where he is mayor. They might insist upon pointing out that so far as known he has no investment in any Ohio enterprises that would pay taxes direct, as is the case with Senator Hanna and Colonel Herrick, so that practically his entire personal wealth is subject to assessment and taxation under the laws of Ohio, which he has sworn to support and enforce.

This might prove awkward to the leader of a crusade of righteousness in "just taxation." Consequently a short cut would be to get rid of the board of review. They have been doing their work too well. They have called corporation after corporation before them and raised their tax returns very materially, and have been so well fortified with facts that the corporations have seen no escape from the conclusions that the board of review forced upon them. The public service corporations have had their assessments raised very considerably, and particularly so Mr. Johnson's own special pet, even the natural gas company, owned by the Standard Oil company, to which he gave a perpetual city franchise with peculiar privileges. As a result of this work, in less than two years' service, at a cost to the county of only $18,000 for the two years, the board of review has added $20,000,000 to the tax duplicate of Cuyahoga county. Its members have worked diligently zealously and with such discretion that the courts have changed none of their figures.

All of this, however, did not avail. The Johnson county commissioners went after them at the first chance. The commissioners could not legislate them out of office, because the state of Ohio put them in their present position, and fixed the term of their service. But Cuyahoga county employed them, and named the salary it would give them. If this salary were cut low enough it might drive them out of office, and make a place for three Johnson men, who would obey his orders. The present members, J. B. Molyneaux, Robert Simpson and F. A. Sarstedt, were all appointed and accepted office with the salary of $2,500 a year for each. This was little enough for men qualified to do the duties that devolved upon them. They are doing their work well according to general agreement. They are earning every cent they have been paid, but the Johnson board of commissioners have voted that they can have only $900 each per year. Cleveland men at that price won't be fit for the job. The act itself suggests sinister motives.

More than that, though, is the fact that in trying to drive this board of review out of office, one of them a Democrat of recognized party service, the Johnson commissioners deprive Cuyahoga county of the only power to revise the tax returns in that county. The state law does not give the county auditor any right to add anything to the duplicate, except when taxes have been omitted. Consequently this act is a blow at the tax duplicate of Cuyahoga county. It is in absolute defiance of all the Johnson talk about "just taxation," showing it to be a sham and a fraud.

STRAY SHOTS.

One Ohio Democratic paper observes that the farmers of Ohio "are studying the tax figures which have been constantly growing during the last decade." As the state tax has been reduced more than one-half in the past two years, following further reductions under Republican rule, this Democratic must be a Rip Van Winkle who hasn't wakened up yet.

No pressure from Bryan will sweeten the dose for the Ohio silver men, when they remember how Clarke railed at them when he was a gold bug. Nor have Cal Brice's friends forgotten the bitterness of Clarke's abuse of the leader they have lost.

A thousand employes of the natural gas company which operates in Cleveland under a perpetual franchise Tom L. Johnson got for it while mayor, with peculiar privileges, are expected to re-enforce the voting power of the Johnson machine at the November election. A man to get a job there needs to of be o. k.d by a Johnson boss. Such is Johnson "home rule" reform.

SSS THE BEST TONIC

In S. S. S. Nature has provided a tonic suited to every requirement of the system when in a debilitated, run down condition. It contains no strong minerals or drugs, but is a pleasant vegetable preparation. You can find no better remedy for toning up the nerves and bringing refreshing, restful sleep when in a low state of health, or sick and worn out with work or worry.

S. S. S. improves the appetite, aids the digestion and reinforces the system, and its good effects are seen almost from the first dose. It acts promptly in cases of chronic dyspepsia, indigestion and all stomach troubles, and does away with the uncomfortable fullness, nausea, shortness of breath, drowsiness and dizziness that so often come after eating.

I have no hesitancy in recommending your S. S. S. as the best Spring tonic on the market. I have used many other medicines, but find S. S. S. to be undoubtedly the only tonic that will build up the system. I shall take pleasure in telling all whom I think in need of a good blood tonic of your medicine.
Yours truly, LEWIS S. FIEBER.
Care Stoll, Hamilton & Co. Lexington, Ky.

S. S. S. is not only the best tonic but possesses alterative or purifying properties, and if there is any taint, humor or poison in the blood it searches it out, and removes it. Many times a low state of health is due to a bad condition of the blood and can only be remedied by a blood purifier and tonic combined, or such a remedy as S. S. S.

If you suffer from debility, insomnia, nervousness, loss of appetite, bad digestion, or any of the symptoms of a disordered blood, nothing will so soon put your blood in good condition, invigorate and tone up the system as S. S. S.

Sex Characteristics.

Have you ever noticed in a fashionable crowd how much like men the women are and how much like women the men? It is not that the men are really effeminate or the women really masculine, as a keen observer once put it, but there is, nevertheless, a curious approximation in type. It may be to some extent a matter of dress. Women affect the mannish in their costume, men in summer seek more color. But it is not dress alone. The woman's face seems stronger and the man's less sensual than it would have been even a century ago. The figure, too, has changed. The man is less gross, the woman more athletic, and both are taller.—London Tatler.

Lion Cubs as Pets.

The most attractive household pets in the entire animal kingdom are said to be very young lion cubs. They are docile, affectionate and quick to learn tricks, it is said, besides being very decorative, considered merely as an article of furniture. Persons who have adopted young lions as pets and enjoyed their society for any length of time are ever after intolerant of any animal so tame and uninteresting as a dog or a cat.

A Quaint Sort of Wedding.

When a marriage takes place among the Negritos, a people of the Philippine Islands, the whole tribe assembles, and the affianced pair climb two trees growing close together. Then the elders bend the branches that the young folks are on till their heads meet. When the heads have thus touched each other the marriage is legally accomplished, and there are great rejoicings. A fantastic dance completes the ceremony.

The Handy Boy.

"Willie, you may finish this piece of pie if you want it," said mother. "It isn't enough to save."

"Mother," said Willie when he had finished it, "a boy in the family comes in very handy when there is a little bit of pie left over, doesn't he?"—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Would Not Insure Him.

Insurance Companies would not insure the Rev. J. W. Yeisley because he had Kidney Trouble.

Mr. Yeisley was much discouraged till a friend recommended Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy and it cured him.

Mr. Yeisley writes:

"My kidneys and liver were in bad condition and I was anxious for relief. I had tried many remedies without success. I bought a bottle of 'Favorite Remedy,' which effectively proved its merit. The best proof that it has completely cured me is my recent acceptance by four different life insurance companies."

The Rev. Mr. Yeisley is the pastor of the First Reformed Church of St. Paris, Ohio, and is as well the editor of the St. Paris Dispatch.

There is no question that Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is the best and surest medicine in the world for diseases of the kidneys, liver, bladder and blood, rheumatism, dyspepsia and chronic constipation, as well as the weaknesses peculiar to women. It quickly relieves and cures inability to hold urine and the necessity of getting up a number of times during the night and puts an end to that scalding pain when passing urine.

It is for sale by all druggists in the New 50 Cent Size and the regular $1.00 size bottles—less than a cent a dose.

Lawyer Thorndike

What You Ought To Know About Ohio Tax Laws

Farmer Perkins

TAXATION OF MONEY AND CREDITS.

FARMER PERKINS—The Ohio tax list requires the value of all moneys in possession, or on deposit, on the days preceding the second Monday of April, to be returned. Is that done as required by law?

Lawyer Thorndike—It is not. Those persons who have any conscience in tax matters (and that number is growing smaller each year) pay out all their moneys before that day, but the most of them pay no attention to the matter. Some of them ease their consciences by saying to themselves they owe as much as they have money on hand, and hence make no return, but in fact very little money is returned. In the country townships and in some city districts money is returned because its presence is known and because of the return of some amount prevents an inquiry by the boards of equalization.

Farmer Perkins—Is there no way to compel or force citizens to return their money on hands on grand levy day?

Lawyer Thorndike — Practically, there is not. The laws as to penalties for non-return, or insufficient return, are a dead letter. The tax penalties are never enforced. The return of moneys for taxation is with some a matter of conscience, and with all others it is a matter of how to escape inquiry from the boards of review.

The practical working of the law since 1846, for fifty-seven years, has been that money can not be reached. The state ought not to attempt to tax that which it can not reach, as the attempt is demoralizing to the state and to the taxbearer.

Lawyer Thorndike — The average taxbearer will only return such credits as he believes the public has knowledge of. If he thinks his credits are not known to the public, he will return none.

The policy of the law is to induce the taxbearer to secrete all his business from the public, and he does it right well. The state has no method to compel the taxbearer to state his credits and return the same. Any method it might adopt would be more expensive than the amount of taxes realized, and hence the law is incapable of enforcement, except in a case here and there. These exceptional cases, where there is an attempt to enforce it, simply call attention to its injustice. It is wrong and unjust to enforce it in one instance and leave it unenforced in a thousand other cases. The citizen against whom it is enforced feels that it is spite work on the part of the taxing officers, because his neighbors escape, and he is soured for life. He determines that he will never be caught a second time and he never is. He becomes a student of the subject, "How to Escape Taxation," and as the lesson is readily and easily learned, he becomes a master in it. I give an instance: One spinster returned $5,000 credits for years. The county auditor thought she ought to have returned $10,000, and tried to make her do it. He failed and she left the state. The tax on the $5,000 which she had returned for years was purely a voluntary contribution on her part for the sake of peace. She could have escaped it from the start, but when the taxing officers sought to compel her to double her burden, she learned how to avoid taxation and practiced it. By doing it she saved $100 per year, which she learned she might have saved for years before. She despises the Ohio system, and rightfully, too. A spasmodic enforcement of the law is worse than none at all.

Farmer Perkins—What has been the effect of the attempt to tax credits in Ohio?

Lawyer Thorndike—It has kept up the rate of interest on loans nearly 2 per cent above what it would have been had there been no attempt to make credits a subject of taxation.

The state expected to obtain this excess of interest in taxes, but it never obtained it and never will. The creditor class exacts it from the debtor class for the risk of being taxed, which is really avoided. The theory of taxation of credits (for it is a theory only) increases the burdens of debtors. Were it not for the attempted taxation of credits in Ohio, money could be borrowed at from 3 to 5 per cent. The policy of the state in this respect simply keeps up the rate of interest and fails to bring in the revenue it was intended to bring.

The allowing of debts to be exempted from credits practically excuses the taxbearer from returning any credits. It is easy to create debts for taxation purposes, and they are so created. I knew a citizen once who had $5,000 in credits. He had a son whom he felt obliged to support. He gave that son a non-negotiable note for $5,000, and paid him the interest on it. Thus he escaped taxation on his $5,000 credits, and in a perfectly legal way. It is perhaps unnecessary to say that the son never listed the $5,000 note for taxation. The tax authorities never knew of it and never suspected the son of having any money and so he escaped.

No citizen who has any self-respect will disclose his real financial condition on a tax list, and yet if the Ohio tax list were made out as the law intended, every citizen's real financial condition would be made public to the tax assessor, to the county auditor, and to the public.

If the taxpayer is rich he desires to conceal the fact from the taxing officers to avoid the payment of taxes. He does this to the best of his ability, and wonderful ability is displayed in that direction.

If he is involved, but doing business and in fair credit, he will not disclose his condition, because it would be ruin to do so. If the state of Ohio could compel its taxbearers to disclose their actual condition, it would precipitate failures enough to bankrupt one-half the people. The law seeking to compel men to disclose their financial condition on a tax list is, therefore, a failure, and will be less respected and less observed the better it is known.

Farmer Perkins—What as to item 15, moneys invested in bonds, stocks, joint companies, etc.?

Lawyer Thorndike—If the taxbearer thinks his business is known to the public, he will return these articles, if he has them. If not, he will not return them. Shrewd business men do not allow their ownings, or holdings, known to the public and hence do not return this class of items, except sufficient to preclude inquiry.

If compelled to return them one year, they disappear the next and are reported as invested in exempt securities.

Farmer Perkins—What about the sixteenth item of the tax list, money converted into United States bonds?

Lawyer Thorndike—This is an unwarranted attempt on the part of the state to pry into the affairs of individuals. It is to keep tab on his money and the manner of its investment. In practice, the taxbearer gives or refrains from giving the information called for as he deems proper. If he thinks his transactions are public, he gives the information. If he has kept his affairs secret, he does not give it.

The same is true as to bonds exempt from taxation on the top of page 3 of the tax list. If the taxbearer once reports them, the assessor will expect to see the same amount each year, or have it accounted for.

If once the taxbearer in Ohio makes a full return of credits, bonds, etc., and then lessens the amount, he is hounded by the taxing officers year after year, to know what he has done with them, and no explanation but insolvency, or removal from the state, will be sufficient to stop the persecution.

If a citizen makes a large return and then wishes to reduce it, it would be advisable to take up his domicile in another state.

Farmer Perkins—Can you give me an instance where by official reports money and credits are shown in any particular county and then the true amount of money and credits is known?

Lawyer Thorndike—On page 272 of the state auditor's report, 1901, is a table of moneys returned from the several counties. On page 274 is the table of credits. Add the two together, then obtain the national bank deposits from the report of the comptroller of the currency, the report of the deposits of the private banks from the state auditor's report, then add the deposits of the building associations in the county, and the difference between this total and the amounts given in the reports will disclose what money in the county escapes taxation. If some enterprising newspaper in the state would work this out as to each of the 88 counties, it would be the most startling fact ever published. I worked the problem in a single county for 1902, and found that 33 per cent of the aggregate of deposits by the banks and building associations for the selected year were returned as moneys and credits. Of the aggregate of moneys and credits, moneys made 11 per cent and credits 22 per cent. If the people of the state wish to know these facts, they lie right before them.

The amount of moneys and credits in Ohio, shown by the official reports of banks and building associations in 1902 as not being returned for taxation, is over $257,000,000, and this is nearly all in moneys. A careful examination would likely develop $100,000,000 more.

PREPARING A NEW TAX LAW.

The Ohio State Board of Commerce is preparing a new tax law which it will propose to the General Assembly when the pending taxation constitutional amendment has been adopted by the people. The purpose of this board is to establish in this state the best tax system in the United States. It expects to make Ohio the best state in the Union in which to earn a living, own an investment or operate a business. When this is done there will be no tax inquisitor laws.

How to Reach the Public

In the course of a recent lecture in Hartford, Conn., on "The Making of a Newspaper," Charles Hopkins Clark of the Courant said:

"How are you going to get at the public? Mail them circulars, and the wastebaskets in 10,000 homes give each a weary yawn, and the circular disappears unread. Call upon the people and explain the merits of your wares? The sign 'Our Busy Day' hangs in business offices; in private houses you must ring the bell. Offener you are turned away.

"But put a cleverly worded advertisement of these wares in a newspaper that has an established circulation in the city's home and business houses and see what happens. You couldn't get in there yourself, but your advertisement is there on the breakfast table, in the library, in the parlor, in the sewing room, and when everybody is inquiring for the paper which can't be found it is very likely doing duty on the quiet in the kitchen.

"It is all over the house and wanted there. You are not. And, similarly, at the office it is read and reread, and part of the use of 'This Is Our Busy Day' sign is to get a chance to read the papers. And it is interesting to note the advertisement has another than a commercial use. It is printed for business purposes pure and simple, but it is often re... as news."

This paper goes into the offices and homes of the people not as an intruder, but as a welcome visitor. It will take your announcements much cheaper than you can send them to any considerable number on circulars which will be thrown away after a glance.

Good Points In Dogs.

Among the many canine qualities worthy of imitation a lover of the "four footed brothers" emphasizes their contented resignation to the circumstances of life. Dogs, he says, do not go about trying to do good to other dogs by urging them to bark in the same key and bite with the same tooth as themselves, nor, which is a merciful provision of nature, do they become bored by the people with whom their lot is cast and want to try a new master every few months. Whatever the disadvantages of their homes may be, they stand by them and make a cheerful best of it. Over and again a dog puts his heart before his outraged stomach and lets his affections dominate his indigestion rather than desert his master for a better board. Many a master, concludes the dog champion, would do well to emulate in points like these the meanest of his "little yellow curs."

How to Take Coffee.

The London Lancet commends the practice of drinking coffee after dinner, as coffee is an antidote to alcohol. Those whose digestions are disturbed by the use of hot coffee are advised to secure the advantages of its stimulating properties by taking it in the form of jelly. We are assured that a clear coffee jelly after dinner is every bit as good as the hot infusion, while it is free from some of its drawbacks. Coffee, unlike alcohol, diminishes organic waste, rouses the muscular energy without the collapse which follows alcoholic inhibition, and gelatin in the form of jelly is cooling, assuages thirst, is soothing and has a tendency to absorb any excessive acidity of the stomach.

JOHNSON'S CHIEF OFFICE HOLDERS AS TAX-EATERS.

How the 106 Principal Members of Mayor Johnson's Political Machine Pay Into the Cuyahoga County Treasury This Year an Aggregate of Only $1,238.33 In Taxes. These Same Officials Draw Out of the City and County Treasuries the Sum of $296,756 Each Year In Salaries.

In view of the fact that Mayor Johnson, who would like to be governor of Ohio, has made "just taxation," as he understands it, one of the three issues of the present campaign, it would be interesting to know just what Mr. Johnson and his followers mean by "just taxation," says the Cleveland Leader. The great "single-taxer" has never seen fit to state what the phrase means, and how he would bring about a reform in taxation methods which would equalize the burden and be fair to every taxpayer in the state. A large number of the people of Ohio believe that Mayor Johnson's idea of taxation is a radical reform along the lines laid down by Henry George, and better known as the single tax; this not only embraces a tax upon land alone, for all purposes of revenue, but also a confiscation of property values, which would place the burden of taxation upon the small land owner and take it away from the rich man with his millions invested in invisible securities.

Whether or not Mayor Johnson contemplates as radical a reform as this, this much is sure, that the tax record of the mayor and his officeholders in Cuyahoga county proves that their cry of "just taxation" is inconsistent with their public record in the matter of tax returns. In the following table it will be seen that 106 of the Democratic officeholders of the mayor's city and county machine and candidates draw annual salaries amounting to $296,756, and return for taxation their personal property at $41,195. This record includes the salary and personal tax return of the mayor himself, and a perusal of the record will show that the mayor's reputed millions are not listed, and that one of his officeholders, City Treasurer Coffinberry, returns $4,780 more for taxation than Mayor Johnson.

The whole amount paid in personal taxes by the 106 officeholders is only $1,238.33, and when it is remembered that these same officeholders draw from the city and county treasuries salaries amounting to $296,756, it would seem that the Johnson administration was a tax-eating and not a tax-paying organization. Only a few of the Johnson officeholders are named in the table, as it must be remembered that the city payrolls contain about 3,200 Johnson followers.

The tax rate in the city before Mayor Johnson started his crusade for "just taxation" was $2.67 per $100 valuation, and for the year 1902 the tax rate was $3.05 on each $100 valuation, and this year it will be $3.01 on each $100, on an estimated duplicate of $200,000,000. This is despite the fact that over half the state tax in Cleveland has been taken off. Besides that the city's bonds were at a high premium when Johnson came in. Now, after all his agitation, the bonds of Cleveland go begging for buyers and can scarcely be sold at par.

The bonded indebtedness of the city has been increased by Mayor Johnson from about $13,000,000 to $17,000,000, and other schemes which have originated in the fertile brain of the city's chief executive will increase this bonded indebtedness $10,000,000 more if he is allowed to carry them out.

It would seem that Mayor Johnson, at least would be consistent enough to return a reasonable part of his reputed invisible millions for taxation as long as he makes his principal political play on the inequalities of the present system, and claims that the corporations and the rich are escaping their just share of the tax burden. The matter of a high tax rate is of little concern to the mayor and his followers as long as they can escape listing their own property for taxation. Following is the table compiled from the official records in the court house and the city hall Sept. 1, showing the amounts the leading Johnson officeholders consume in salaries, and the amounts they pay back to the county in personal taxes, meanwhile trying to make political capital out of their inconsistent cry of "just taxation":

Indianapolis, Oct. 9.—Leading representatives of the national and international organizations of building and repairing trades met in conference for the purpose of bringing their respective organizations into an international federation, having for its object the arbitration, adjudication and conduct of building trades affairs.

Among those attending are: M. P. Carrick, secretary and treasurer of the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paper Hangers; James Hannahan, grand trustee of the International Union of Steam Engineers; P. Guggins, president of the National Union of Bricklayers and Masons; J. R. Cavanaugh and W. A. O'Keefe, president and secretary treasurer of the Operative Plasterers International association; Frank Buchanan, president of the Bridge and Structural Iron Workers' International union; Herman Lilien, president of the International Hod Carriers and Building Laborers' union; Frank Duffy, secretary, and Thomas Neale, treasurer of the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, and John Maloney and S. B. French, of the electrical workers. They represent 700,000 workmen.

A committee was appointed to frame a skeleton constitution to be submitted to the conference. It consists of M. P. Carrick, P. Larson, Joseph Carey, W. J. Spencer, J. G. Hannahan, George Gubbins and Thomas Maloney.

There is a very general disposition among all of the delegates to have the new international federation work in perfect harmony with the American Federation of Labor and other national federations in which different ones of the building trades are represented. All of the organizations propose to remain in their present federation alliances and to pay their per capita assessments.

HELD AT BAY BY LUNATIC

Passenger Becomes Deranged on Train and Leaps Through Window.

Crawfordsville, Ind., Oct. 9.—Wesley Hedges, traveling on a Big Four train, accompanied by his wife and three children, en route frohm Jacksonville, Va., to La Harpe, Ill., suddenly became deranged while on the train, and after arriving here held the police at bay for a long time.

While the train was running 50 miles an hour Hedges suddenly gave a wild scream, and seizing one of his children, plunged through the car window into the darkness. His wife grabbed the boy just as the man disappeared.

The trainmen stopped the train and with the assistance of the passengers a torchlight search along the track was made. The searchers soon came on Hedges lying near a telegraph pole. He was picked up for dead and placed in the baggage car and brought to this city. Shortly after arriving here he began to show signs of life. Left in the station unguarded, Hedges again became violent and sprang out of the station and ran down the streets pursued by the whole police force. Large stones which he picked up he used in keeping his pursuers at bay. He was finally overpowered and taken to jail.
